SWIMMERS DIVE AS TEMPERATURES CLIMB

Young swimmers invade the lagoon at the Marin Civic Center seeking relief from blistering heat. The high recorded yesterday was 100 degrees in Mill Valley and 97 in San Rafael. The swimmers were apparently unaware yesterday as they romped in the cool water that the pond is off limits to bathers because of potential health hazards. The county plans to erect "No Swimming" signs next week as youths have taken down earlier posted signs. Elsewhere in Marin and Southern Sonoma counties, a high of 97 was reported yesterday at Novato; 93 at Tamadpais Valley, and 96 at Petaluma. The Bay Area forecast, with temperatures climbing at noon today, calls for more of the same tomorrow with highs in the 90s. (I-J photo)

Nixon Asks Peace Push In Indochina

New Envoy To Paris; Mideast Fear Recited

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — President Richard M. Nixon named a new and prestigious Vietnam negotiator last night and offered to withdraw all U.S. forces from Vietnam within a year if Hanoi agrees to do likewise.

Both the decision to upgrade the talks and the declaration that all Americans would be withdrawn—earlier he had limited this to "major portions"—appeared to be concessions aimed at nudging Hanoi into meaningful talks at Paris.

Otherwise, the President took a relatively tough stance in his hour-long, nationally televised foreign policy discussion.

He warned Hanoi it faced only prolonged bloodshed if it did not negotiate and said he would bomb its air defenses if it did not stop shooting at American reconnaissance planes.

Nixon warned the Middle East poses a greater danger to the world than does the war in Vietnam because the United States and the Soviet Union could be drawn into a confrontation there neither nation wants.

Terming the Mideast situation "terribly dangerous," Nixon said the conflict between Arab and Jew involves Moscow and Washington—"A collision of the superpowers."

For the job Henry Cabot Lodge quit last December in disgust over lack of progress, Nixon chose David K. E. Bruce, 72, a veteran diplomat and former undersecretary of state.

"If the enemy is willing to negotiate with our new ambassador, we will get them all out within a year," Nixon said of the troop withdrawals.

"We hope this move on our part will be reciprocated by a similar move on the part of the North Vietnamese in attempting to find a peaceful solution to the war in Vietnam."

Nixon's televised interview with Howard K. Smith of ABC, John Chancellor of NBC and Eric Sevareid of CBS was greeted in Washington with mixed reactions.

Bruce, whom the President termed "one of America's most distinguished diplomats" will "be free to negotiate in a very flexible manner," Nixon said.

Bruce, a former ambassador to West Germany, France and Great Britain, will meet with the President at the Wester White House July 4 and is expected to take up his new position in Paris about Aug. 1.

Nixon announced the appointment at the beginning of a unique hour-long review of his foreign policy that provided the most complete look yet of his assessment of what the future

'Volunteers' Run State In Budget Snarl

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—A bitterly split California Legislature groped today for a way out of a budgetless deadlock that left state government unable to pay any of its bills.

Partisan wrangling over an election-year $6.59 billion version of Republican Gov. Ronald Reagan's proposed budget dragged the vast state bureaucracy into the second day of the new fiscal year without a spending program.

It was the second time in as many years that Democrats stalled passage of Reagan's spending blueprint beyond the constitutional deadline. Until 1969, such a situation was without precedent.

A second Assembly-Senate Conference Committee was appointed to draft a compromise budget bill but it failed to do so by Wednesday night so both Houses adjourned until today without taking action.

Even without a budget and with a "volunteer" work force whose members expressed confidence they will be paid eventually, state government appeared to function normally. Without a budget, the state is prohibited from contracting any new fiscal obligations.

Assembly Democrats and Republicans blamed each other for failure to agree on three main areas of contention whose resolution would appear to pave the way to compromise.

At issue was assurance that

MARIN, SONOMA IN HOLIDAY MOOD

A Fourth With All The Trappings

Parades, bell-ringing, fireworks displays and all-day entertainment programs will greet Independence Day Saturday in Marin and southern Sonoma.

Major celebrations are planned, as in years past, in Larkspur-Corte Madera, Sausalito, Petaluma, Mill Valley and Bolinas.

The holiday will have little effect on official agencies' operations, falling as it does on a Saturday with only scattered compensatory closings tomorrow.

The Independent-Journal will publish as usual.

Fireworks displays will be held Saturday in Larkspur's Piper Park, on Richardson Bay in Sausalito, at the Sonoma-Marin fairgrounds in Petaluma, and at Pueblo Park in Santa Venetia.

Petaluma will welcome the holiday with its traditional bell-ringing at 11 a.m., led by Mayor Helen Putnam.

Larkspur and Corte Madera will hold a two-day celebration, starting with a family pizza party from 5 to 9 p.m. tomorrow in Corte Madera Town Park.

A pancake breakfast will be held from 9 a.m. to noon Saturday in town park, following flag raisings at 8:45 a.m. by Boy Scouts at Corte Madera Town Hall and Larkspur City Hall.

At 9:30 a.m., a four and a half hour program by the American Heritage of Performing Arts will start in town park, with Indian music, a jazz band, a karate demonstration, a bagpipe band, country music, and Japanese, Polynesian, Greek and soul dancing.

Also in town park starting at 10 a.m. Saturday will be the arts and crafts festival. Free pony rides for children will be provided from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., Presto the Magician will perform at 11 a.m., and puppeteer Norman Barry will perform at 1 p.m.

The annual baseball game between Corte Madera and Larkspur volunteer firemen will start at 10 a.m. at Joe Wagner Field in Larkspur. Little League All-Star players will play their managers in a 1 p.m. game.

The parade, with more than 60 entries, will start at 3 p.m. on Doherty Drive in Larkspur, along Magnolia Avenue and Tamalpais Drive to the Corte Madera Shopping Center. Guests will include Miss Marin, Lynn Baker, Maid of Marin Angela Spells, supervisors John F. McInnis and Louis H. Baar, municipal and chamber of commerce officials from both cities, and the Corte Madera and Larkspur citizens of the year, who will be named at Friday's pizza party.

A spaghetti dinner will start at 5 p.m. in the Corte Madera recreation center.

A demonstration of model sailplane flying will start at 7:30 p.m. in Piper Park, followed by the fireworks display starting at 9:10 p.m.

In Sausalito, the fireworks will start at 9 p.m. over the bay west of Carl Gabrielson Park.

In Petaluma, supervised games for children will start at 10 a.m. Saturday at McNear Park. Also scheduled at the park is a double-header baseball game between the Petaluma Leghorns and the Lear Electric Co. team starting at 11 a.m. A barbecue will be held from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the park, and the municipal swimming pool

U.S. Reports Sharp Rise In Casualties

SAIGON (UPI) — Guerrillas hurling bundles of explosives killed eight Americans and wounded four in an attack against a U.S. paratroopers base today. Nine other Americans were missing in the loss of four aircraft over Laos.

The attack against the 101st Airborne Division camp 25 miles west of Hue inflicted the heaviest American casualties since Allied forces went into Cambodia the last of April.

Military spokesmen said the Communist troops charged the paratrooper position firing small arms and throwing bundles of TNT. The paratroopers called in artillery fire and helicopter gunships. The Americans found the bodies of 15 of the attackers after the assault was turned back.

In a weekly report, American spokesmen said U.S. combat deaths in Indochina rose sharply last week. They said 104 Americans were killed and 802 wounded during the week ending Saturday, compared to 80 killed and 643 wounded during the previous week. Thirty-four of the Americans were killed in Cambodia.

South Vietnamese losses dropped to their lowest point in more than four months. Government spokesmen said South Vietnamese forces lost 307 killed and 1,607 wounded. Communist losses of 1,474 killed were the lowest in 20 months, spokesmen said.

In delayed reports, the American spokesman said four aircraft had been lost this week while taking part in the campaign against North Vietnamese supply lines in Laos.

Doves Want Equal Time To Nixon's

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate doves greeted President Nixon's televised comments today with a demand for equal time and a warning that administration war policies would doom the Paris talks despite the appointment of a new ambassador.

Supporters of the President's Indochina policies praised Nixon for a "comprehensive" explanation of his plan for peace. In effect, however, they agreed with Sen. George Aiken's reply when asked whether Nixon offered much that was new.

"No, except a new ambassador," said Aiken, the Senate's senior Republican.

Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., demanded equal television time from all three major networks to explain the "amendment for ending the war" he is cosponsoring with Sen. Mark O. Hatfield, R-Ore.

"The President is chasing the same illusions that have bedeviled us in Southeast Asia for 10 years, illusions that have killed 50,000 young Americans and which if continued will kill thousands more," McGovern said in a statement.

"For the President to compare the Cambodian fiasco to the great decisive battles of World War II such as Stalingrad indicate that he is living in Disneyland," McGovern said.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, on the other hand, said he thought the President "did a good job in explaining his point of view."

"The appointment of Bruce was a ten-strike," Mansfield said. "I also appreciated his (Nixon's) understanding of what the Cooper-Church amendment meant. The amendment supports him, it strengthens his hand to reduce casualties and to speed up troop withdrawal. It

Speaker McCormack Tells What He Doesn't Know Of Peddler

NEW YORK (UPI)—John W. McCormack, Speaker of the House of Representatives, testified in federal court today he did not know influence peddler Nathan Voloshen used his Washington congressional office and his telephone.

Taking the witness stand as the 46th prosecution witness at the trial of Dr. Martin Sweig, McCormack said he considered Voloshen a "friend" and also knew Voloshen's lobbying partner, John Donato, although "I did not know exactly what their relationship was." Prior testimony indicated that Sweig, McCormack's suspended administrative aide, let Voloshen and Donato work out of McCormack's ofifce.

"I'm not an inquiring fellow," said McCormack, who had testified that he rarely visited his congressional office. "I never ask people what they're down in Washington for. I knew there was some relationship between Mr. Donato and Mr. Voloshen. I didn't inquire into it. I know Mr. Donato. I consider him a friend of mine too."

The 78-year-old Massachusetts Democrat, who is retiring from public office at the end of the year, was pale as he arrived at the federal courthouse in a light rain. He brushed off reporters, saying he couldn't comment on any aspect of the trial of his suspended chief aide, Dr. Martin Sweig, because "the matter is before the jury."

The Speaker's appearance climaxed the three-week trial of Sweig, 48, on charges of perjury before a grand jury and conspiracy to defraud the federal government by bringing pressure on government departments and agencies on behalf of paying "clients."

McCormack, testifying in response to questions by U.S. Attorney Whitney North Seymour Jr., said he "very seldom" visited his district

Shots Fired Into Irish Chief's Home

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI)—Three shots were fired early today at the Dungannon home of a Roman Catholic member of the Northern Ireland parliament. He said one bullet missed him by a foot.

The legislator, Austin Currie, is a member of the Nationalist party and represents the predominantly Catholic town of Coalisland, where anti-Protestant rioting broke out Wednesday. His home was the target of a bomb several months ago.

The Nationalists favor uniting Northern Ireland with the Republic of Ireland in the

Rains Kill 19

TOKYO (UPI) — Torrential rains Wednesday left 19 persons dead and four persons missing throughout Japan, the national police ageney said today.

The rains drenched the densely populated Kanto District (Tokyo and its suburbs) and caused two rivers to flood.

Police said 29 persons were injured during the storm. Most of the deaths and injuries were caused by landslides and drowning.

Police reported 406 landslides, 146 houses destroyed and 2,552 houses flooded.

Saigon Trains Allies

SAIGON (UPI)—The South Vietnamese army has started a program to train 10,000 Cambodian troops at three bases in South Vietnam, official military sources said today.

The sources said the first 1,300 Cambodians entered combat training at Lam Son center near the central coast city of Nha Trang, 188 miles northeast of Saigon, one week ago.

More than 8,000 other Cambodian soldiers will enter training in the "very, very near future," one source said.

Moon Rock Missing

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The space agency has lost a moon rock.

The missing sample, a piece of fine-grained gray rock weighing less than an ounce, disappeared sometime after February, according to Dr. Nicholas M. Short of the Goddard Space Flight Center in Greenbelt, Md.

Short said the sample was among several circulated among a group of scientists studying the effect of shock waves on lunar material. He discovered the loss when he made a recent inventory, the first such count since February.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration said it was investigating the disappearance. It was the second time this year that a moon rock has been lost. In January a University of California scientists said one of his samples was missing, but it was subsequently returned to the space agency.

Eisenhowers In Tokyo

TOKYO (UPI)—David and Julie Eisenhower today called on Prime Minister Eisaku Sato and lunched with Foreign Minister and Mrs. Kiichi Aichi.

President Nixon's daughter and her husband, grandson of President Dwight D. Eisenhower, arrived Wednesday night during a seasonal downpour to represent the White House at American day at the Expo '70 worlds fair.

Reds Ignore Envoy Shift In Paris Talk

PARIS (UPI)—North Vietnam today spurned Prsident Nixon's call for renewed efforts to negotiate peace in Indochina and charged instead the war in Cambodia was organized, commanded and financed by the United States despite its troop withdrawal.

The Communist delegations also ignored Nixon's appointment of David K. E. Bruce as chief negotiator. Philip C. Habib, the acting chief negotiator, said he expected the Bruce appointment to move the talks into a new phase.

CAMBODIA STRESSES

Although the Communists may react later to the Bruce appointment they concentrated today on Cambodia and restated their demand for total withdrawal of all U.S. and Allied troops from Indochina. There was no progress in the actual negotiations.

Although none of the four negotiators would budge from previously stated positions, South Vietnam did agree to North Vietnam's conditions for the release by Saigon of 62 sick and wounded North Vietnamese war prisoners and 24 fishermen.

The South Vietnamese delegation announced the North Vietnamese will be released alone, without escort, in three Red Cross motorboats near the 17th parallel July 11. It said it would observe a 15-hour ceasefire in that border area as requested by Hanoi and said it expected North Vietnam to do the same.

Both North Vietnamese delegate Nguyen Minh Vy and Viet Cong delegate Vinh Ba Thi discussed Cambodia today more than South Vietnam. Vy released to newsmen a statement claiming major Communist victories in Cambodia. Thi accused U.S. soldiers of raping women and stealing rice, chickens, wrist watches and rings from the Cambodians.

ROGERS SPEAKS

In Manila today Secretary of State William P. Rogers told a SEATO conference the United States hopes the Bruce appointment will rekindle interest in a negotiated Indochina settlement. But he said there were no new signs Hanoi was ready to talk peace now.

The North Vietnamese and Viet Cong have long complained the United States "downgraded" and purposely stalled the talks by not replacing Henry Cabot Lodge with an equally prominent negotiator when he resigned.

Brazil Foils Hijacking, Two Wounded In Fray

RIO DE JANEIRO (UPI)—The Brazilian air force and police acting on orders from President Emilio Garrastazu Medici used fire-fighting foam, smoke and machineguns Wednesday to thwart an attempted airliner hijacking and capture four armed terrorists.

The plane's pilot, one of the hijackers and a policeman suffered bullet wounds in the operation that averted Brazil's ninth commercial aircraft hijacking since October.

Cruzeiro do Sul airlines said the hijackers commandeered the jet Caravelle bound from Rio de Janeiro to Buenos Aires before it reached Sao Paulo and forced it to return to Rio. There were 41 persons aboard.

The hijackers, including three men and one woman about 20 years of age, hoped to exchange the other passengers for jailed terrorists.

When the plane landed at Galeao international airport in Rio, police isolated it with a cordon of trucks and jeeps and shot out its tires with machineguns. A Cruzeiro do Sul source said they acted on orders from Medici, who had been informed of the attempt.

Fire engines sprayed the craft with carbon dioxide foam and a policeman who clambered atop the plane from the rear pumped thick smoke into the interior through the ventilating system.

Coughing passengers and hijackers both came tumbling out and several were injured in the confusion.

Pilot Harro Cyranka was struck in the leg by a bullet of unknown origin and a policeman was shot.

Police said one of the hijackers, identified as Eiraldo Palha Freire, shot himself in a suicide attempt and was rushed to the hospital. The other hijackers were identified as Fernando Palha Freire, Colombo Vieira Souza Jr. and Jessie Jane, daughter of Washington Jane, who is in jail awaiting trial on charges of terrorism.

Nixon Renames Head Of Home Loan Board

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Preston Martin has been sworn in to a full four-year term on the Federal Home Loan Bank Board.

He continues as chairman of the board under a designation made March 13 by President Nixon, who appointed him to fill out an unexpired term which ended earlier this week. Martin is a former professor of finance at the University of Southern California.

Israel Hails Nixon's Stand On Mideast; Arabs Critical

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Israeli newspapers today hailed President Nixon's assurance of continued support as a turning point for Israel in the worsening conflict in the Middle East. The Arabs deounced it as biased.

On the war front, Israeli warplanes attacked Egyptian positions on the Suez Canal for the 42nd day and also raided targets on the western shore of the Gulf of Suez. A spokesman said targets included SAM2 missile bases — two Israeli planes were shot down by the Soviet-made surface-to-air rockets on Tuesday.

Fighting also was reported across the Jordan River ceasefire line. Rockets from Jordan hit two Israeli settlements in the Beisan Valley, about 10 miles south of the Sea of Galilee, and Jordan reported a mortar and machinegun duel in the south Jordan Valley, near the Dead Sea.

There still was no official reaction to a new Russian Mideast peace proposal disclosed Wednesday at the United Nations and described by Western diplomats as a substantial move forward. Its key proposal called for a formal peace settlement between Israel and the Arabs and not just another pledge to cease firing.

Israeli newspapers said Nixon's statement that the United States intended to maintain the balance of power in the Middle East appeared to be a turning point in his administration policy.

"The U.S. President has expressed clearly, sincerely and without fear of Arab reactions, a courageous and favorable policy which identifies the regional balance of power with U.S. interests, a fact which Israelis have been trying to convince Washington for years," said the newspaper Yedioth Aharonoth.

Yedioth Aharonoth said it was difficult to determine the reason for the switch "but it should be seen as a turning point, provided it is not merely another of Washington's policy zig-zags."

Arab radio broadcasts emphasized that Nixon rated the Middle East conflict more dangerous than Vietnam.

Broadcasts from Jordan, Lebanon, Saudi Arabia, Syria and Egypt gave heavy coverage to Nixon's remarks from Los Angeles Wednesday night in which he compared the Middle East situation to the Balkans before World War I. He said Russia and the United States could be drawn into a confrontation neither of them wants.

Cairo Radio emphasized Nixon's statement that the United States was concerned that Israeli military strength must be equal to that of the Arabs.

The first comment on the speech came from the official Damascus radio in Syria which said "Nixon emphasized his government's enmity towards the Arab nation and America's complete bias in favor of Israel."

United Nations sources in New York said Soviet Ambassador Jacob A. Malik presented the new peace proposal at a meeting of the Big Four ambassadors a week ago.

The United States announced a peace program of its own last week.

There was no official information on the contents of the Soviet proposal, but reports from the Middle East said one of the principal points called for Arab recognition of the independence and territorial integrity of Israel. The Arabs have refused such recognition since Israel was established in 1948.

The Israeli newspapers Ma' Ariv and Yedioth Aharonoth said the proposal would require Israel to withdraw from all captured Arab territories, including the former Jordanian city of Jerusalem.

Ma'Ariv said it appeared the Kremlin suggested the formula in order to get the United States, Britain and France to agree to renew the mission of Gunnar V. Jarring, Swedish ambassador to Moscow.

U.S. diplomatic sources called the Soviet move "a positive step."

Thailand Hints Its Troops May See Cambodia Action

By PATRICK J. KILLEN

MANILA (UPI)—Thailand's Foreign Minister Thanat Khoman told the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization (SEATO) today that Thailand may be forced to take military action in Cambodia to safeguard its own security.

He spoke shortly after South Vietnamese Foreign Minister Tran Van Lam, attending the meeting as an observer, called on the United States and its Pacific and Asian allies to carry the fight against Communist troops to all of the Indochina Peninsula.

A SEATO spokesman said Thanat told the council that while Thailand will pursue a peaceful settlement of the Cambodian crisis, it is also "committed to assure safety and stability of its own nation and therefore may be forced to take some military action, however most reluctantly Thailand is to get involved."

It was generally understood that Thailand's reference to military action meant the sending of troops and possibly planes to Cambodia.

Apart from Thailand's indication it is prepared to send its own forces into Cambodia, there appeared little prospect that other SEATO members would move collectively into Indochina.

The SEATO spokesman said Secretary of State William P. Rogers made clear to other SEATO members the U.S. intention to remain a Pacific power and that there is no question of a U.S. pullout from Southeast Asia.

As expected, Britain used the two-day conference held in the heavily guarded Inter-Continental hotel to state that the new Conservative government will keep British troops in Asia, reversing the stand of the former Labor government.

California graduated 266,500 students from its public high schools in 1969, more than any other state.

Junior College Budget Inches Up; Trustees Grant Newsletter Funds

Marin Junior College District's 1970-71 budget, which Supt. John A. Grasham is to present to the district board in its more-or-less final form on July 16, appeared to be inching up in advance last night.

Over objection of trustee Charles W. Gray, the board approved including $10,000 for a bi-monthly newsletter to be mailed to all homes in the district. Gray insisted that duplicate mailings by college departments should be eliminated first, in an attempt to reduce cost.

Grasham informed the board that Blue Cross and Kaiser Health Plan, for which the district pays its employees' costs, have both announced fee increases. He estimated they will increase the district's cost for those covered by the Kaiser plan by $3,423, and Blue Cross by $11,916. The boosts were estimated as representing a quarter-cent on the tax rate.

Grasham also announced that dental insurance for employees, which the board approved two weeks ago, will go into effect Oct. 1. This will cost the district's taxpayers $45,000.

The board gave a "third of a loaf" in response to a plea by Bella Aaron that it eliminate or reduce fees for courses in police-community relations which were approved for the adult school. One hundred police officers are to attend the classes, which will be held at the Marin County Civic Center so will not use the college facilities.

On motion of trustee Harry J. Moore, the board agreed to reduce the usual $6 fee for these classes to $4, specifying this "does not set a precedent." Trustee Robert E. Rogers dissented, claiming the cities would pay the fees for their officers anyhow.

Trustee Robert E. Oliver wondered whether addition to the budget would be needed to finance an in-service training program contemplated in a policy revision on teacher evaluation, which the board approved with some misgivings. Berkeley Johnson, dean of instruction, said nothing was being asked.

The policy change may have some impact on future budgets, however, as it provides for credits toward salary increments for attending the in-service sessions — a practice which was questioned by trustee Donald K. Felt. Moore objected that the policy makes no provision for evaluating tenured teachers.

A slight budget impact was involved in approval of a recommendation by Grasham that will permit higher salaries for those hired as program coordinators. It applies immediately to the coordinator for the registered nursing program, who will be hired at $16,546. But the same policy — permitting hiring at a higher step on the salary schedule than formerly and paying for 20 days extra service — will apply to all newly hired coordinators. Grasham said a coordinator ordinarily teaches six to eight hours a week.

The district hopes to pick up some money from sale of a .14-acre piece of college property to Ross Valley Sanitary District for a pumping station. There was considerable discussion over the sale, and over the restrictions that should surround it because the piece lies in an area designated an "ecology center" in the "oxbow" bend of Corte Madera Creek. The sanitary district's plans, however, call for careful treatment, landscaping and redwood fencing.

The board merely voted its intention to sell, after whittling the size down from .168 to .14 of an acre. Gen. Mgr. Ralph C. Noah of the sanitary district was rather disappointed at not receiving a definite commitment that would leave only price to be negotiated.

The Marin Junior College District Board Also:

SABBATICAL — Approved a sabbatical leave for Irwin H. Diamond, dean of students, with promise by Grasham that his duties will be divided among other administrators to eliminate hiring another person. Gray dissented because the request failed to specify the purpose for which Diamond will use the leave.

HIRING — Approved hiring Kent Addison as a one-year replacement in the life science department, in which Noel Nelson and Ruth Nash will be on leave next school year. Grasham said the second temporary vacancy would be filled with parttime teachers. Also approved hiring William T. Cross as inspector on the science center project at $983 per month.

RESIGNATIONS — Accepted the resignation of Pauline Silva as accounts clerk to become bookkeeper for the Associated Students, with salary from student funds, and the resignation of Coralie Paris as part time secretary in the drama department.

ADULT EDUCATION — Approved a long list of adult education courses to be offered in the fall. Chairman Elizabeth M. Deedy commented at the number to be given during regular daytime school hours.

LIBRARY — Received the good news that a $500,000 federal grant toward library construction may be kept alive for another year through application by the Coordinating Council on Higher Education. It had been feared the grant would expire next month, with library construction delayed to await completion of the science building.

ABSENT — Trustee Theodore C. Wellman was absent, being out of the country.

Mrs. Deedy Again Heads Marin Junior College Panel

Elizabeth M. Deedy, "dean" of the Marin Junior College District board, last night took over as board president for fiscal 1970-71.

Mrs. Deedy, of Ross, was elected unanimously to succeed Robert E. Rogers of Tiburon in the annual board reorganization. She has occupied the president's chair several times since her initial election to the board in 1958, the latest being during the 1967-68 fiscal year.

Theodore C. Wellman of Kentfield was elected clerk, replacing Charles W. Gray of San Rafael, who was named trustee representative to the Marin County Committee on School District Organization. Donald K. Felt of Mill Valley, who had been trustee representative, was named vice president. Harry J. Moore of Novato was named legislative representative.

All elections were unanimous.

The board retained Supt. John A. Grasham as secretary.

Board Eyes Bond, Tax Boost Votes

Marin Junior College District trustees last night voted to hold a bond and possibly a tax increase election on Nov. 3.

No amount for either was specified, although two weeks ago Supt. John A. Grasham told the board the figure of $20 million was discussed for building on the district's North Marin campus and completing development of the Kentfield campus. At that time he also mentioned a possible request for 15 or 20 cents increase in the district's general operating tax ceiling.

(Junior college districts were exempted from the provisions of Assemblyman William T. Bagley's AB 1000, the school finance bill which ties school tax rates to spending per pupil and sharply restricts the special-purpose overrides that can be levied without first asking the voters.)

Trustee Charles W. Gray objected to the Nov. 3 election date, saying it does not allow sufficient time to prepare a campaign. He blamed insufficient preparation in part for defeat of the district's last bond proposal.

Chairman Elizabeth M. Deedy said the election could be postponed if necessary, but action last night was necessary to make it possible for the Nov. 3 general election ballot, which would eliminate cost of a special balloting.

Grasham announced a series of "workshops" will be held for the board regarding the north campus development. No schedule of the "workshops" was made available for the public, although all must be public meetings under the California Government Code.

Arraignment Set In Theft Charge

John D. Wadsworth, 41, former San Rafael resident who disappeared almost three years ago, as did $4,241 belonging to his employer, was bound over to Marin Superior Court on a charge of grand theft.

He is to appear in court Monday for arraignment.

Wadsworth was booked into Marin County Jail June 21 after police in San Diego, where he now lives, discovered there was a warrant out for him.

On Sept. 11, 1967, Wadsworth disappeared along with the cash and checks given him to deposit in a bank by his employer, Duffy Brothers Garage in San Rafael.

Suspect Admits Pot Possession

Penelope Ann Cash, 27, of Waldo Point, has pleaded guilty in Marin Municipal Court to a reduced misdemeanor charge of possessing marijuana. She had originally been accused of a felony count of the same offense.

Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. set sentencing for July 31.

Miss Cash was arrested after a shouting match in Sausalito on May 16 in which an acquaintance called police. Three plastic bags of pot were found in her purse.

Fund-Raising Set For Boys Club

A committee to raise funds for the Marin City Boys Club was appointed last night by directors of the Marin City Home Owners and Improvement Association, Mrs. Mack H. Page, association president, reported.

Jesse Berry was named chairman of the committee which includes Henry Haynes and Alex Holloway. Mrs. Page said the association is planning several events to raise money for the club, which is currently in dire financial straits.

The directors also voted to work closely with the Marin City Community Services District in its plans for community development, Mrs. Page said.

Fire Meeting Reset

The Kentfield Fire District board, which normally meets on the second Wednesday of the month, next week will meet on Monday due to the expected absence of one of its members, according to Kenneth T. Kamp, fire chief.

NASA REFUSES BILLS FROM MOON 'HOTEL'

NEW YORK (UPI)—The National Aeronauts and Space Administration has refused to pay a computerized hotel bill for five men who stayed for nine days at the Sea of Tranquillity Hotel on the Moon last April.

NASA returned the bill to Reservations World, a computer center for travel reservations, with the notation: "The above are not employees of the Center—and even if they were, we have no authority to pay their personal lodging bills."

Reservations World today traced the billing to a training program last spring during which an imaginative instructor programmed data on a mythical moon hotel where charges of $43.80 were run up by five travelers named W. Shiver, D. Austeri, E. Fudd, G. Il Miguel, and U.S. Mule. Their address was recorded as NASA headquarters in Houston.

Alto Bowl Plan Meets Opposition

Elected were Edward Lewis, Eileen McLain, Ben Pullian, George Hoffman, Jon Nichols, Virginia Gerhart, Bruce Jenkins and Ann Newness.

Publicity chairman Sara S. Ruffner reported that the group will circulate petitions against the Cal-Fong development.

"We're not just a crisis group, formed for one purpose," she said. "We hope to have a say in the development of the entire North Ridge."

Another meeting was set for July 15 at 7:30 p.m. at the Alto Fire Station.

Boys' Club Airs Plea For Novato Building Funds

Representatives of various civic organizations recognise the benefits of a boys' club to Novato and are calling on their respective organizations to help, David E. Milano, president of the Novato Boys' Club, has reported.

Officers of the club met with the representatives Tuesday night at club fund headquarters at 910 Grant Avenue.

The club needs $72,000 for a building on a site on Lamont Avenue near Railroad Avenue, Milano said.

Former Mayor Babe Silva is heading the fund drive with Reg H. Carolan of 381 San Luis Way, a member of the world championship Kansas City Chiefs as honorary chairman.

Rider Suffers Cuts As Cycle, Car Collide

Joseph Henry Schlobohm, 24, of San Francisco, was treated at Community Hospital of Sonoma County for cuts of the right leg suffered in an accident yesterday at 5:15 p.m. in Rohnert Park.

Police said the motorcycle driven by Schlobohm collided at the intersection of Adrian Drive and Bonnie Avenue with a car driven by Allie Feefie, 35, of 208 Oak Street, Penngrove.

holds in Southeast Asia and the Middle East.

He said regardless of the outcome of negotiations in Paris, the United States was embarked on a policy that would get virtually all American ground combat forces out of Vietnam by next spring.

"It will succeed. That I know," Nixon said of his policies.

Seated around a table in the KABC studio in Los Angeles with the three television newsmen, Nixon defended the American sweep through Communist sanctuaries inside Cambodia's borders as "the most decisive action in damaging the enemy's ability to wage effective warfare that has occurred in this war to date."

He said he was not sure it had been effective enough to force the enemy to negotiate but added: "I think it might help. Only time will tell."

He conceded the Cambodian government, now under attack by North Vietnamese forces, was in a "fragile situation" but said that because of the U.S. sweeps, "Cambodia's chances of surviving as a neutral country are infinitely better now than they were on April 30."

Although he would not absolutely rule out American forces returning to Cambodia, he said he had "no intention" of sending them because "I do not believe there will be any necessity to do so."

The only reason for the Americans to return would be to protect the security of U.S. forces in Vietnam, he said, "and I believe the success of the operations which we have undertaken, as well as what the South Vietnamese will be able to do, will make it unnecessary."

He said the United States had no commitment to Cambodia other than "the commitment that the United States for 190 years has had to the principle of international law that a country...should have its neutrality respected."

The United States would furnish small arms and moral support but not troops even in the unlikely event Cambodia should fall to the Communists.

If such were to happen, "We (will) continue in our course in South Vietnam to defeat the enemy there and the South Vietnamese, who are now a very formidable fighting force, will certainly see to it that the sanctuary areas are not again occupied," the President said.

He was asked about a recent article by George Ball criticizing his Vietnam policies. Ball was the No. 2 man in the State Department under Democratic administrations.

"Well, as a matter of fact . . . Mr. Ball should know something about that because he was there when we got bogged down in Indochina as undersecretary of state," Nixon snapped.

Strawberry Recreation Budget Voted

Directors of the Strawberry recreation district last night approved unanimously a $57,708 budget for 1970-71, an increase of $828 over the 1969-70 fiscal year.

Clerk Jeanne Heick said directors do not anticipate raising the district's tax rate of 50 cents per $100 assessed valuation, and in fact may be able to lower it a half-cent if assessments are up.

The budget allocates $34,233 for capital outlay, including $25,543 for repayment of a loan to build the community building; $14,250 for salaries, $9,225 for operations and $2,500 to add to the reserve fund.

The board also approved a fifth summer swim program to run Aug. 10-21. Mrs. Heick said signups will be held in the district office at Strawberry Park on Aug. 6 for residents of the district and Aug. 7 for nonresidents.

Drug Case Still Being Probed

No charge has been filed in Marin Municipal Court against a Waldo Point man and woman arrested Saturday on suspicion of possessing marijuana and narcotics paraphernalia in a Tiburon parking lot.

Released were Diane Du Ell, 24, of Gate 6, who was also booked on suspicion of child neglect after deputies found her 8-month-old daughter alone in a truck, and Larry Wayne Burkholder, 28, of Gate 5.

The case is still under investigation by the district attorney's office.

Hub Ponders City-Schools Recreation

Members of San Anselmo's city council, parks and recreation commission and school district board last night discussed the city-schools recreation agreement but suggested only minor changes, schools Supt. Stephen L. Parodi reported.

The group also discussed a proposal by Mayor James F. Reed to install water-filled rubber bumpers on a safety rail at Sir Francis Drake Boulevard and Sonoma Avenue to protect children at Isabel Cook School. No decision was reached but Charles R. Leitzell, city engineer, was asked to prepare plans to show how the installation would affect the school grounds and the corner.

The plan would require moving an existing fence back and giving up some 20 feet of school property at the corner, Parodi said.

Only discussion was possible last night because each of the three groups had less than a quorum present and no action could be taken.

also seeks to prevent involvement in future wars."

House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford praised Nixon's appointment of a permanent chief negotiator and criticized the Democratic demands for equal television time.

"The President has every right to make periodic reports to the American people without being subjected to political sniping immediately afterward," he declared.

Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, said he welcomed Nixon's appointment of David K. E. Bruce to head the U.S. delegation at the Paris talks. But Muskie said Nixon indicated "that he intends to maintain military pressure . . . to compel the other side to seek peace."

"That kind of policy is basically and fundamentally fallacious," Muskie said.

Aiken said Bruce had "an uphill job" so long as U.S. troops remain in South Vietnam. "I'm still skeptical that there'll be a signed and sealed agreement but there could be a tacit agreement," the Vermont Republican said.

"I didn't see any very large bouquet of olive branches" to Senate opponents of Nixon's policies, Aiken said. ". . . He intimated that if the pressure became great we would resume bombing of North Vietnam . . . I got the impression that he was a bit discouraged himself and didn't know what we would do."

Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, said Nixon "handled the questions mighty well . . . It was very comprehensive."

reconnaissance plane was shot down Tuesday over the Laotian lower panhandle and a big Jolly Green Giant rescue helicopter was shot down trying to pick up the OV10 crewmen. One crewman was rescued but the other five men on the helicopter were missing.

An Air Force F4 Phantom jet crashed in the Laotian Plain of Jars Tuesday and both its crewmen were missing. Also missing was the pilot of a Navy A7 Corsair fighter-bomber. It crashed from unknown causes in the Laotian panhandle.

The crashes brought to 50 the number of American aircraft lost over Laos since the U.S. Command started reporting such losses March 10.

Near the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ), South Vietnamese infantrymen supported by tanks killed 51 Communist troops Wednesday. In Cambodia, government forces killed 52 Viet Cong in a battle near the ruins of Angkor Wat.

In another Cambodian development, informed sources said today the Soviet Union and other East European states have been trying to persuade the Lon Nol government to call off the treason trial in absentia of Prince Norodim Sihanouk and permit him to return to Cambodia. The trial, intended to discredit Sihanouk, is scheduled to begin Friday, the sources said.

Family Asks Reports On Missing Girl

The family of Jill Schepps, 19, of San Anselmo has requested anyone seeing her or knowing of her whereabouts to contact the San Anselmo Police Department.

Miss Schepps, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hal Schepps of 55 Hillcrest Court, yesterday walked away from the Marin General Hospital Psychiatric Day Care Center where she was a patient, and was last seen in Sausalito.

She is five feet, two inches tall, weighs 120 pounds, and has brown eyes and long brown hair. Officials at the center said she was wearing cut-off jeans, a red silk blouse and was barefoot.

Marinwood's Budget To Hike Taxes

The Marinwood Community Services District board last night tentatively approved an operating budget of $202,167 for fiscal 1970-71.

Secretary Genevieve T. Bolding said the tentative budget is about $30,000 above the 1969-70 figure of $173,460, and may require a 3-cent increase in the tax rate.

She estimated the tax rate for the new fiscal year at $1.26 compared to $1.23 for the past year. Salary increases of 7.5 per cent for the district's nine employees — and an additional employee for building maintenance who will begin in September — were also passed by the board, she said.

Salaries paid during the next year will amount to $119,827, she said. In fiscal 1969-70 they totalled $101,715.

Department budgets for fiscal 1970-71 with 1969-70 figures in parentheses are: fire department, $85,031 ($75,623); parks and recreation, $105,206 ($85,548); and street lighting and auditing of elections, $11,930 ($12,289).

Mrs. Bolding said the parks and recreation increase is due to an expanded summer program while the fire department jump is caused by salary increases.

Revenues of $83,850 are expected leaving $118,317 to be raised from taxes, Mrs. Bolding said.

Final approval of the budget is slated for the next regular meeting July 28, she said.

Doctor Gets Fine, Probation For Illegal Drug Sale

SAN FRANCISCO — Dr. Donald A. Churchill of Sausalito was fined $1,500 yesterday in municipal court. He was also given a suspended jail term and placed on probation for one year.

Churchill was convicted May 8 of misbranding a drug, unlawful advertising and unlawful sale of a new drug. He was arrested last April for the sale of a drug called Vitarth, which he claimed during his trial is an aphrodisiac and a cure-all.

He was on probation at the time of his arrest for illegally prescribing narcotics and falsifying medical records. His license was revoked effective March 26 by the State Board of Medical Examiners after a hearing on those charges.

Ecumenical Unit Told Of Housing Need

The Ecumenical Association for Housing was told last night of a housing need, especially for the elderly, in west Marin and the San Geronimo Valley.

The report was made by John Head of the Marin County Real Estate Board from a survey conducted by a group of students at San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo.

The students concluded a significant number of families were living in substandard housing, said Martin Mackey, association executive director, although figures were not disclosed.

Funds for construction of so-called rural housing is available through the Farm Home Administration, Mackey said, and a meeting of persons interested in pursuing such money will be held in late summer or early fall.

Also last night, the association welcomed two new members — St. Hilary's Church in Tiburon, represented by Rex Fink, and Christ Episcopal Church in Sausalito, represented by acting pastor Jim Robertson.

south.

Currie said he was talking on the telephone in the hallway when he saw a car drive up and heard the shots.

He said one bullet smashed through his living room window and another "came through the porch window and missed me by about 12 inches." It was not known where the third bullet hit.

Currie had returned home Wednesday night after visiting the riot area in Coalisland, where a crowd had stoned a Protestant parade and set fire to the Coalisland Brick and Pipe Co., main industry in the town of 4,500 persons. It's 40 miles west of Belfast.

A senior police official said today the shooting around St. Matthew's Roman Catholic Church in Belfast which caused two of the weekend deaths was the work of the outlawed Irish Republican Army (IRA).

The official said incendiary bombs which set fire to central Belfast stores were a type used by the Catholic IRA in the past.

Trial Ends With Dissolution Of Dunbar Marriage

The marriage of San Rafael neurological surgeon Robert D. Dunbar, 51, and his wife, Miriam Moore Dunbar, 50, of Kentfield, was dissolved yesterday in Marin Superior Court by Judge Harold J. Haley.

After a day and a half of trial, a settlement was reached in which Mrs. Dunbar will receive a total of $7,500 support to be paid at monthly intervals.

Mrs. Dunbar was also granted permission by the judge to resume her former last name of Delaplane. (She was formerly married to newspaper columnist Stanton Delaplane.)

The Dunbars were married in Pasadena on Feb. 14, 1964, and separated in 1967. Mrs. Dunbar filed for divorce in March 1969, charging cruelty under the old divorce law.

There were no children of the marriage.

Drunken Driving Count Admitted

James Hudson Lenhart, 38, of Novato, has pleaded guilty in Marin Municipal Court to misdemeanor charges of possessing marijuana and drunken driving. He had originally been charged with a felony pot count.

Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. set sentencing for July 31.

Lenhart was arrested June 1 after he was seen driving erratically on Highway 101 by a California Highway Patrol officer.

In Bolinas, the Fourth of July parade will start at 10 a.m. on Wharf Road and proceed down Brighton Avenue to the beach where games and contests will be held.

The Gallinas Valley Improvement Association will hold an all-day picnic and barbecue starting at 10 a.m. in Pueblo Park, with a fireworks display at nightfall.

A pancake breakfast will be sponsored by the Marinwood Firemen's Association from 8:30 to 11:30 a.m. Saturday at the Marinwood Community Center, and a watermelon feed for children will be held at 4 p.m.

Mill Valley plans a celebration from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday in Lytton Square, with guitarists, a bluegrass band, a military band and "Mill Valley" sung by teacher Rita Abrams and the third grade class of Strawberry Point School.

The annual July 4 public picnic and bean feed by the Novato Lions Club will be held at Lions Park at Stafford Lake starting at 1 p.m., Saturday.

Most businesses and retail stores will be closed for the holiday Saturday, but some will remain open.

Friday will be a normal business day, but most offices at the Marin County Civic Center will be closed, with only the sheriff's office, and the county clerk's office open, the latter for limited business. Marin Municipal Court will be closed, but Superior Court will conduct business.

Sonoma County offices and courts will be open as usual. Petaluma and Cotati city offices will be open but Rohnert Park city hall will be closed.

In Marin, the only municipal offices closing Friday will be those in Sausalito, Belvedere and Novato.

Parking meters will be enforced Saturday in Sausalito, but not in Mill Valley or San Rafael.

On Friday, the Marin County Schools office and business offices of all Marin school districts will be closed. State offices will be open.

On Saturday, post offices will have no deliveries and no window service, but lock box service and special delivery mail will be handled. Hamilton Air Force Base will be closed to all but essential functions Friday.

local property taxes would not be increased as the result of state welfare cuts; a proposal to spend any funds bluepenciled from the budget by the governor for schools; and a plan to start budget proceedings earlier in the year.

Sen. Randolph Collier, D-Yreka, a conferee, had instructions from Senate Democratic leaders to seek another $160 million more in school aid contingent upon passage of a tax reform bill to finance it and a new formula for distribution of school aid.

He said other conferees refused to listen.

Assembly Democratic leader John J. Miller of Berkeley told reporters that the conference committee headed by Republican Assembly Speaker Robert T. Monagan refused to hear Democratic appeals.

But Monagan countered that a "majority of the Democrats decided that they just wanted to sit around and leave the State of California in the perilous condition we find ourselves."

Republicans hold a slight 40-39 edge in the Assembly and a 21-19 margin in the Senate Budget acceptance requires a two-thirds favorable vote in both Houses.

Monagan indicated to reporters that the Assembly's original out-of-balance budget may be revived for another vote.

congressional office, doing most of his work out of the Speaker's office. Sweig managed the district office.

"Practically all of my time is confined to the Speaker's officeship, although I don't ignore my duties to my district," McCormack said.

McCormack waved at Sweig, who sat with defense counsel, as he entered the courtroom and Sweig stood briefly before McCormack was sworn in as the government's 46th witness. Three generations of Seymour's family were in the jampacked courtroom as the prosecutor began by asking McCormack to outline his duties as Speaker.

McCormack gave a long, rambling dissertation on his history as a legislator and even discussed the fine points of Congressional strategy before Seymour, who listened patiently for five minutes, interrupted to get down to specifics.

OBITUARIES

Frederic J. Rademaker Dies At 88

Frederic J. Rademaker, former deputy auditor for Marin County, died yesterday in a Hemet, Riverside County, hospital following a brief illness. He was 88.

A native of San Francisco, Rademaker lived in Mill Valley at 132 Sycamore Avenue for many years. He moved to Southern California to live with friends last year.

Before working as deputy auditor he was chief clerk for the Northwestern Pacific Railroad.

Memorial service is pending at Russell and Gooch Mortuary, Mill Valley. Donations to a favorite charity or the Marin County Heart Association preferred.

ROBERT D. WEBER

Robert D. Weber, 3, son of Maj. and Mrs. Russell W. Weber of 1641 Merritt Drive, Novato, was pronounced dead on arrival at Hamilton Air Force Base Hospital after collapsing at his home, according to the Marin County coroner's office.

An autopsy was performed yesterday, but cause of death has not been determined, the coroner's office reported today.

The boy was born in Washington state, but had lived in Novato with his parents for the past year and a half.

He also leaves a sister, Dawn; paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Weber of Deltona, Fla.; and his maternal grandparents, Mrs. Marge Marino of San Francisco and Don Ihle of Miami, Fla.

A Rosary will be said at 6 p.m. today at Keaton's Chapel of Marin in Novato. Tomorrow at 10:15 a.m. a mass of the angels will be said for the repose of his soul at Chapel 1, Hamilton Air Force Base. Burial will be at Mount Olivet Cemetery, San Rafael.

ENRICO ARTIGIANI

Enrico Artigiani of San Anselmo died yesterday in a local hospital following a short illness.

Artigiani, who lived at 117 Meadowcroft Drive, had been a resident of Marin for 15 years. A native of Perugia, Italy, he moved to California 33 years ago. He was 78.

He retired 13 years ago from Superior Auto Painting in San Francisco where he had been employed for 15 years as an auto worker.

Artigiana was a member of the Italian Catholic Federation.

He is survived by his wife, Agostina, with whom he celebrated his golden wedding anniversary in 1961. Also surviving are two sons, Frank of San Francisco and Duilio of Fairfax; a daughter, Mary Fugiaini of San Francisco, and eight grandchildren and 16 great-grandchildren.

Requiem Mass will be offered at 9:30 a.m. at St. Anselm's Church, San Anselmo. Entombment will be at Mount Olivet Cemetery. The Rosary will be recited today at 8 p.m. at the Chapel of the Hills. Spiritual bouquets are preferred by the family.

LAWRENCE MANSIR

Requiem Mass for Lawrence R. Mansir, a deputy state attorney general, will be today at 8 p.m. at Our Lady of the Redwoods Church, Garberville.

Mansir, who lived at 107 Loring Avenue, Tamalpais Valley, was killed Saturday in an auto accident near Garberville. He was 33.

A native of La Jolla, San Diego County, he moved to Marin County five years ago following his graduation from Bolt Hall, law school of the University of California at Berkeley.

He joined the attorney general's San Francisco staff following his admission to the California bar in 1965 and was in the criminal law division.

He is survived by his wife, Marcelline Mansir; two sons, David and Adam Mansir of Tamalpais Valley; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy P. Mansir Sr.; and three brothers, Roy P. Mansir Jr. of Lakewood, Monte R. Mansir of San Francisco and Richard R. Mansir of Lakewood.

Rosary will be recited today at 5 p.m. at the Riverwood Chapel of Garberville. Burial will be tomorrow at 3 p.m. at Mount Olivet Cemetery.

100 Abortions On First Day

NEW YORK (UPI)—Approximately 100 abortions were performed in city hospitals Wednesday, the first day of the state's new liberal abortion law.

Another 2,000 women in the city were registered for the operation, which can now legally be performed on married and unmarried woman within the first 24 weeks of pregnancy.

According to reports from hospital authorities there were no complications. Dr. Joseph T. English, director of the New York City Health and Hospitals Corp., said "things seem to be going smoothly so far."

Nevertheless city authorities were concerned about an expected deluge of patients, especially during the first year the law will be in effect.

The city's municipal hospital system was considering rushing 350 physicians through a specialized training course to prepare them for 50,000 to 100,000 city women who authorities anticipate will take advantage of the law annually.

The numbers, admittedly an educated guess, could be swelled considerably by upstate, out-of-state and even out-of-country patients —a development which would place a tremendous strain on city facilities.

Patients from out-of-state can obtain abortion in New York at private hospitals but the city's 24 municipal hospitals will restrict themselves primarily to resident patients.

New Government's Legislative Plans

By JOHN J. MEEHAN

LONDON (UPI) — Britain's new Conservative government promised today to strengthen the economy, curb inflation and strikes and slash taxes.

It also promised to work for peace in the Middle East and Southeast Asia.

The government, elected in an upset general election June 18, handed its first comprehensive legislative package to the new parliament in a speech read to it by Queen Elizabeth II.

The Queen rode to parliament in her gilded state coach, escorted by plumed cavalrymen with flashing breast-plates and to a background of military brass bands.

From her throne in the House of Lords, surrounded by peers in ermine-tipped robes and members of the new House of Commons in dark business suits, she read the traditional "Queen's Speech."

The speech was written for her by the new government and constituted a survey of its legislative program up to October, 1971.

The speech concentrated mainly on home front legislation, putting into effect many of the promises made by the Conservatives during the election campaign.

Among them were reform of Britain's strike-ridden industrial relations, pensions for Britons over the age of 80 who do not qualify for existing retirement pensions, a bill to treat Commonwealth immigrants like any other foreigners, stepped up measures to safeguard law and order and deal with riotous demonstrators and speeding up of the process of law.

Marin Student Pleads Innocent

James J. Kuhns, 39, of 54 Wreden Avenue, Fairfax, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to a charge of burglarizing a Fairfax home on June 9.

A preliminary hearing was set for next Thursday.

Judge Peter Allen Smith released Kuhns from jail without bail yesterday upon learning that he is a fulltime College of Marin student and has no previous criminal record.

Kuhns is accused of stealing $15 in coins from the home of Michael Cooke of 58 Wreden Avenue, Fairfax.

Hub Planners Eye Stand On Zucker

The San Anselmo Planning Commission will discuss whether to express an opinion on the firing of Marin County Planning Director Paul C. Zucker when it meets at 8 p.m. Monday at city hall.

The commission also is to resume discussion of federally backed flood and mudslide insurance, and of fees charged for use permit applications.

Applicants will include Andrew P. Stafford, seeking apartment zoning for a parcel at 180 Tunstead Avenue now in duplex zoning, and Coinette Co., seeking a use permit for a coin-operated laundry at 11 Madrone Avenue.

Lagunitas Youth Booked In Hall

A 17-year-old Lagunitas youth has been booked into Marin Juvenile Hall after he was discovered peering into the windows of an unoccupied house at 105 Mountain View Avenue in Lagunitas which had just been burglarized, sheriff's deputies reported yesterday.

David Norman Guthrie of 350 Cintura Avenue was stopped Monday by a sheriff's deupty who yelled at him, but a companion escaped. A drill and liquor taken from the house were found nearby, the deputy said.

Bank Holds Display

An exhibition of paintings in varied techniques by 21-year-old San Francisco artist Lon Shapiro is on display at the Ross Valley Savings and Loan Association, San Anselmo, through July.

Public Safety Contract Talks Pass Deadline

Negotiators for the County of Marin and about 210 public safety employees failed to reach agreement on a new contract by the midnight deadline last night and a 60-day extension clause went into effect.

Asst. County Administrator John F. Barrows reported no substantial progress toward a settlement. The public safety personnel are represented by the Marin County Employees Association.

The bargaining unit is made up of sheriff's deputies, firemen and radio personnel in the communications department. The deputies are reportedly seeking a 17.5 per cent pay increase and the firemen, a 10 per cent hike plus a 25 per cent reduction in hours.

Negotiations are scheduled to continue Monday.

Defendant To Court In Board Fray

A jury trial has been set for July 27 in Marin Municipal Court for a Mill Valley man charged with willfully disturbing a public meeting and resisting arrest stemming from a disturbance at a board of supervisors hearing on June 18.

Peter Edler appeared in court yesterday bearing a tape recorder which Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. finally allowed him to use after checking to determine if there were a rule against recorders and finding none.

Edler also announced that he wished to act as his own attorney and after saying that charges against him should be dropped since they were "political," he refused to enter pleas. He also refused to waive his right to a jury trial within 45 days so Judge Goldstein entered an innocent plea for him and set a trial date.

He also told Edler to appear next Wednesday for a pretrial conference and Edler agreed, although he said he planned to be married that day. The judge asked him what time, and Edler replied, "all day." He added that he would still come to the conference.

Edler was arrested when he refused to be silenced during a welfare hearing, grabbed an American flag which was wrested from him by Supervisor Louis H. Baar and struggled with a deputy sheriff.

Manpower Commission Slates First Meeting

The organizational meeting of the Marin County Manpower Commission — intended as the start of a comprehensive job development program — will be held at noon Wednesday at the office of the Economic Opportunity Council, 1327 Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael.

The county board of supervisors has approved a plan under which the manpower efforts of 28 agencies would be coordinated.

Public Fear Of DDT Hampering Tests Of Possible Replacements

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI)—The outcry over lingering pesticides is hampering the search for an acceptable alternative to DDT, U.S. Forest Service researchers complain.

Researchers have lab-tested a dozen new "ecologically sane" compounds for controlling forest insects. But public "fear and overreaction" is so intense they can't get them into the field.

FEDERAL FREEZE

Even if they could be field-tested, a chemical industry spokesman said, the Agriculture Department has imposed a moratorium on new compounds.

Ironically, until these new, highly selective, compounds can be tested in the field, the Forest Service will have to continue to use the old methods —including limited amounts of DDT—for the nation's forests.

One chemical which researchers say has been thoroughly lab-tested for every imaginable effect and under every condition, is called Zectran. An expensive compound, it probably will never be produced commercially without government subsidy.

Researchers developed Zectran for use against one particularly destructive pest, the spruce budworm, but they believe it might be useful against others.

'PUBLIC FEAR'

"There's so much public fear and overreaction to the use of new compounds that they don't even want you to do the testing," said Carl Crisp, a plant physiologist for the Forest Service.

"If there are going to be alternatives to DDT, somewhere along the line the experimental work has to be done and it has to be done in the environment".

Crisp said small-scale field experiments were necessary with researchers publicizing what they were doing and immediately dropping any project the public didn't approve of.

"It's ridiculous to give us money for research and not let us take the next step," Crisp said. "It's like building a rocket for the moon and not firing it."

Raymond Miskus, a chemist on the team of Forest Service researchers, said an extensive project was launched in 1964 for the specific purpose of eliminating DDT in forests.

"We've investigated a whole variety of methods of control that aren't just chemically oriented—that aren't just a simple evaluation of an insecticide on an insect " Miskus said. "We're concerned with better means of application, better timing and the total effect on wildlife, fish, other insects and the region's ecology."

Miskus said more data has gone into the study of Zectran, for example, than any other compound in forestry research history.

Dow Chemical Co. was supposed to produce Zectran. A company spokesman said it still could be done if Forest Service requirements were large enough to make it economically feasible, but even then the Agriculture Department would have to clear it first.

The spokesman added that the department's moratorium against anything used for control is so all-inclusive "you couldn't clear ordinary table salt."

Far in the future are "third generation pesticides"—biological controls, hormones and sterilization. The investigations carried out with these will be similar to those with chemicals, but more expensive and time-consuming, researchers said.

And even these so-called "natural" compounds are part of the life system, regardless of how they're categorized.

"They're all foreign molecules when introduced into a new living system," Crisp said. "Sugar is a potential toxic if you eat enough of it."

The U.S. research is being applied in some measure, however, Crisp added, even if not in this country. Canadian forestry officials have put some of the new compounds to work in their own forests.

Red Cross Sets Canoe Class

The second summer session of basic canoeing classes for those 12 years old and up will be offered by the Marin Canoe Club and the Marin County chapter of the American Red Cross Monday through July 17 at the Civic Center Lagoon, according to the local Red Cross chapter.

Advanced registration for the two-hour 11 a.m. children's and the 7 p.m. adult classes must be completed with Liana E. Broadstone, 84 Golden Hinde Boulevard, Terra Linda.

Deadline is 10 a.m. Sunday at the Marinwood Community Center at which time the required swim test for all enrollees will be given.

Two Face Hearing On Pot Charge

A preliminary hearing was to be held today in Marin Municipal Court for David William Decker, 24, of Mill Valley, and Philip James Tolmach, 19, of New York, N.Y., who are charged with growing marijuana.

The two were arrested June 20 when sheriff's deputies spotted them carrying a suspected pot plant down a street in Homestead Valley.

upervisors' Pay cale Is Shelved

ACRAMENTO (UPI)—A bill sing the salaries of county ervisors by up to $7,500 has n rejected by the Assembly er several lawmakers insist- the local officials are eady paid enough.

The measure by Assembly- an John T. Knox, D- chmond, failed on a 20-36 te Wednesday. It would set e salaries on the basis of pulation and thus eliminate e need for the Legislature to approve or reject each county's request for pay raises.

Each of Marin County's five supervisors would have gotten a pay jump of $2,000 a year, from the current $12,000 to $14,000. In Sonoma, the supervisors' salaries would have been unchanged at $15,996.

The bill was returned to the Assembly Local Government Committee which Knox chairs. The Assembly expunged the vote from the record.

Opponents of the measure said the supervisors would be getting too much money.

Assemblyman Carlos Bee, D-Alameda, said the salaries of the Alameda County supervisors, would jump from $14,500 to $19,000 a year.

"I think in Alameda County, that's plenty of money for them," Bee said. "If they don't like the job they can quit."

Assemblyman John Briggs, R-Fullerton, added, "the only time the Orange County supervisors talk to me is pay raise time."

Under the proposal, Sacramento County supervisors would receive the largest increase—$7,500—from the present $10,500 a year to $18,000.

Currently, if county supervisors want a pay raise they seek grand jury permission and submit the request to the Legislature which usually routinely approves it. Knox said the Legislature was a "rubber stamp" for the juries and supervisors.

His bill, in setting the schedule of salaries bases on population of counties, authorizes an automatic raise for supervisors when the population increases to the next salary level.

The measure does not apply to charter counties, such as Los Angeles, where supervisors' salaries are automatically placed at the same level as Superior Court judges.

The salary would be $19,000 in counties with 1 million to 1.5 million; $18,000 for 500,001 to 1 million; $17,000 for 400,001 to $500,000; $15,500 for 300,001 to 400,000; $14,000 for 200,001 to 300,000; $12,500 for 100,001 to 200,000.

Counties with 75,001 to 100,000 population would pay $11,000; $9,500 for 50,001 to 75,000; $8,800 for 40,001 to 50,000; $7,800 for 30,001 to 40,000; $6,800 for 20,001 to 30,000; $6,300 for 10,001 to 20,000; $5,800 for 5,001 to 10,000; $5,300 for 2,501 to 5,000; $4,800 for 1,001 to 2,500; $3,800 for 501 to 1,000; and $1,500 for zero to 500.

Education Conclave Told Of Reorganization Plans

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A National Education Association expansion that will make it the most powerful organization in the nation, "on any issue" is predicted by its president.

President George D. Fischer of Des Moines, Iowa, told reporters Wednesday he seeks a reorganization of the NEA which is now a complex and complicated affiliation of state, local and national groups.

Within five years, he also predicted a merger with the American Federation of Teachers into a group that would represent almost all of the country's 2 million teachers.

"Nothing will stop us from becoming the most vibrant and forceful group in America on any issue," he declared.

Fischer, here for the NEA's 108th annual convention, also criticized President Nixon for reductions in federal funds for education. The President said the cutbacks were a move against inflation.

The NEA, Fischer said, does not want additional taxation, only a redistribution of available funds.

"You could take $20 billion out of the defense budget and not even miss it," he asserted, pointing out that sum would pay for a third of the cost of elementary and secondary education.

Another speaker was Sally Williams, president of the NEA's school nurses department who reported that psychoactive drugs are used widely to calm down children who can't sit still long enough to learn.

Some children have "springs inside them," she said while noting the tranquilizing drugs are not given without a prescription from a physician.

Her visits to school nurses in various parts of the country shows that the drug-aid program is most highly developed in parts of New York, California and Michigan, she said.

Phone Tips To Mother Save Son

SANTA ANA, Calif. (UPI)—When Carolyn Rios, 25, found her 2-year-old son face down in a small plastic wading pool in their backyard Wednesday she pulled him from the water and immediately telephoned police.

She told officer Tom Wells her son Matthew was blue in the face. Wells contacted the fire department on a direct line and rescue units were sent to the woman's home.

Wells then gave Mrs. Rios instructions how to perform mouth-to-mouth resuscitation. Alternating between the telephone and her son, Mrs. Rios began forcing air into Matthew's lungs.

But she stopped.

Wells asked her.

"There's water pouring out of his mouth," she said.

"I told her that was good," Wells said, and Mrs. Rios continued. By the time rescue units arrived she had revived the boy.

Matthew was taken to Children's Hospital in Orange for observation.

Charge Against Couple Dropped

A criminal charge of failing to arrange for the burial of their dead baby against a New York man and woman was dismissed yesterday in Marin Municipal Court when it was learned that funeral arrangements had been made.

Released were Edwin L. Kittredge and Barbara O'Dell, who said their 20-day-old son, Shawn Lee O'Dell, who died in a Strawberry motel last Tuesday, will be buried in Fresno.

The coroner's office had asked that the charge be filed when the couple left Marin County without arranging for a burial.

Today is Thursday, July 2, the 183rd day of 1970 with 182 to follow.

The moon is between its last quarter and new phase. The morning stars are Mercury and Saturn. The evening stars are Venus, Mars and Jupiter.

Draft-age men in the United States born on this date are number 350 in the lottery.

On this day in history:

In 1776 the Continental Congress formally approved a resolution which became the Declaration of Independence. It was signed two days later.

In 1881 President Garfield was shot by Charles Guiteau in Washington. Garfield died Sept. 19, 1881.

In 1937 American aviatrix Amelia Earhart and co-pilot Frederick Noonan were reported lost over the Pacific. They were never found.

In 1964 President Johnson signed the new Civil Rights Bill.

A thought for the day: American educator Horace Mann said, "Be ashamed to die until you have won some victor for humanity."

Wasps Used To Curb Alfalfa Weevil Peril

ITHACA, N.Y. (UPI) Pesticides will not be necessary within a few years in order to control the economic menace of the alfalfa weevil, according to entomologist George G. Gyrisco of Cornell University.

Gyrisco reports that introducing several species of wasps conquered the weevil in the Orange County area of New York's Hudson Valley. The wasps deposit eggs into the larvae of the alfalfa weevil and when the egg hatches, the paraiste feeds off the weevil host.

Foe's Attack Can Be Blunted By Discarding A Major Loser

An ugly opponent will sometimes try to run you out of trumps by forcing you to ruff his long suit. If dummy has strength in that suit you can often blunt the attack by discarding instead of ruffing.

Opening lead — ♠ K

SWITCHES TO CLUB

West led the king of spades and switched to a club when the queen of spades appeared on the first trick. South won with the jack of clubs and led the queen of hearts to force out the ace.

East returned the nine of spades, and South ruffed, hoping to draw trumps and score an overtrick by way of a successful diamond finesse. As it happened, the bad trump break forced South to use all of his remaining trumps to draw those held by East.

Declarer then led a club to dummy's king and returned the nine of diamonds for a finesse. West won with the king of diamonds and cashed the ace of spades to defeat the contract.

CINCH PLAY

South missed his chance to cinch the game and rubber when East returned the nine of spades. South should discard a diamond instead of ruffing.

West would win with the ace of spades (the third defensive trick), and would return a spade to dummy's ten. East would follow suit (as expected, from the fact that he failed to start a high-low at the first trick), and South would discard a second diamond.

DRAWS TRUMPS

Now South would draw trumps and return to dummy with the king of clubs to discard a third diamond on the jack of spades. This would eliminate the need for a diamond finesse, and South could claim the rest of the tricks.

DAILY QUESTION

As dealer, you hold:
♠ — A K 7 5 3
◆ — K 4 2
♣ — 10 9 8 2.
What do you say?

ANSWER: Pass.

Years ago this was considered a minumum opening bid, but most of today's experts would pass it. The hand would be worth a bid if the king of diamonds were changed to the ace, and some experts would bid without any change in the high cards if only the low spades were 10-9-x instead of three very low cards.

Guard Rails On Roads For Tokyo Pedestrian

TOKYO (UPI) —The Tokyo metropolitan government plans to spend 2.9 billion yen ($8 million) this year building steel guard rails along streets to protect pedestrians.

Sidewalks are rare in Tokyo and pedestrians walk along the sides of streets. City officials report that Tokyo has 11,400 miles of streets but only 1,200 miles are protected by guard rails. About 360 pedestrians were killed in traffic accidents in Tokyo last year.

Smog Curbs Wrestle Bay's Growth

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Air pollution controls on industry and motor vehicles are almost keeping up with the growth of the Bay Area, it was reported yesterday.

The weight of air pollutants last year was estimated at 9,179 tons a day, an increase of 919 tons a day since the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District was formed in 1955.

The figures were reported in the district's annual inventory of the sources of pollution — with the usual heavy stress that the state, not the district, has jurisdiction over motor vehicles.

The report acknowledged, however, that automotive controls had cut 149 more tons of pollutants last year compared to 1968, while district controls on stationary sources had cut 85 tons during the same period. The report also conceded that most of the 85 tons were cut because power plants used more hydroelectric power instead of burning oil.

The district's chief administrative officer, D. J. Callaghan, predicted that 1970 figures will show a cut of about 980 tons a day because of the ban on backyard burning that went into effect in January.

In yesterday's report on violations during May, four industries were responsible for 282 tons of pollutants a day. Standard Oil Co. in Richmond led with 89 tons, followed by American Smelting and Refining Co. of Crockett with 79 tons, and Phillips Petroleum Co. with 72.4 tons and Shell Oil Co. with 41.6 tons, both in Martinez.

Violations in June were issued against Whalen's Barber Shop in San Anselmo and the Valhalla Inn in Sausalito, the report noted.

Callaghan's report on the sources of pollution estimated that there would have been 16,279 tons of pollutants a day without controls, thus potential pollution has been reduced by 43.6 per cent.

Callaghan said that further cuts would come after tough new regulations, now being considered by the district, are imposed on industry.

Callaghan has recommended that the new standards be imposed first on new and expanded industry, but that existing industry be given three years to comply.

But the new chairman of the board of directors quickly rejected Callaghan's statement that the new standards would not be imposed on existing industry for three years. The chairman, Santa Clara County Supervisor Victor Calvo, said it was only Callaghan's "conjecture whether the board will allow that much time."

Calvo, frequently critical of the district during his five years on the board, was elected chairman to replace former Piedmont Councilman Laurence Kelly, who did not run for reelection and thus had to leave the regional board.

Calvo frequently has called for more stringent pollution controls and for full public disclosure of district records, but generally was outvoted by a majority of the 12 directors. The replacement last month of three of the directors apparently gave Calvo the majority he needed; he was elected unanimously upon the recommendation of a three-member committee.

Calvo also requested Callaghan to come up with another system of figuring the severity of pollution "to account for other factors" than simply weight. District critics have urged the pollutants be weighted according to the effects on health.

Sausalito Councilman Wyman Hicks was named board secretary in the election.

U.S. Rejects Spending To Spy On Smoke

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A plea for money to develop a smoke-measuring instrument needed to toughen air pollution controls has been rejected by the federal government.

Bay Area Air Pollution Control District officials said that their application for a $315,005 grant had been turned down without explanation in "a rather terse letter" from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare."

The opacity of smokestack plumes long has been measured by an eyeball chart. Industry has complained that this method was too subjective, but it has been upheld in court tests.

But district officials noted in their report yesterday to the board of directors that increasingly tough controls will require a reliable instrument to make the measurements.

The grant was to have been for development of a laser radar. It also would overcome difficulties in measuring plumes saturated with water vapor, and would work at night.

The district's chief administrative officer, D. J. Callaghan, reported that he was working with "an automobile company" that may finance the development program.

Theft Suspects In Court Today

Berkeley residents Dwight Imogar Windham, 19, and Paul Allen Prince, 20, were to have a preliminary hearing today in Marin Municipal Court on a charge of grand theft stemming from the stealing of a ring and watch from a San Rafael pawn shop Friday.

Prince is also accused of possessing marijuana.

Secret Service agents have also placed a hold on the two for investigation of counterfeiting after police said they found several torn edges of $10 bills in Prince's possessions along with a form for redeeming mutilated currency.

Many Filing Protests On Assessments

Requests for 1970-71 property assessment protest forms are being filled at a rapid rate, a clerk for the Marin County assessment appeals board said today.

Clerk Mona Elder said she has distributed 252 forms to disgruntled property owners. At this time last year, she had given out only eight.

The crush is apparently due to reassessment of more than half of Marin by the staff of County Assessor Bert W. Broemmel.

The filing of appeals began today and will close Aug. 26. Due to the increase, property owners were asked to file early.

Books of the county's assessment roll are available for inspection on the third floor of the Civic Center administration building, outside the board of supervisors chambers.

Maddox To Speak At Boston Rally For God, Country

BOSTON (UPI)—The eighth annual New England Rally for God, Family and Country, featuring appearances by Gov. Lester Maddox of Georgia and former Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson, kicks off its four-day program today.

Col. Laurence E. Bunker, a long-time aide to Gen. Douglas McArthur and chairman of the event, said the rally was a vehicle for bringing conservatives together to exchange ideas and renew their resolves.

Benson, a resident of Salt Lake City, was scheduled to address the convention Saturday afternoon. He was agriculture secretary in the Eisenhower administration.

Maddox was scheduled to speak Sunday after Dan Smoot of Dallas talks.

Arraignment Monday For Car Theft Suspect

Walter Lee Duffey, 20, of San Rafael, has been bound over to Marin Superior Court on a charge of car theft. He is to be arraigned Monday.

Duffey was arrested June 20 in San Rafael when a policeman stopped him because the car he was driving was emitting a great deal of smoke. A routine check showed the car to be stolen.

Pay Issue Delays Mill Valley Budget

The Mill Valley City Council encountered another delay last night to settlement of pay differences with city employees.

The council referred the problem back to negotiators after City Mgr. William H. Cunningham said that he and Henry E. Anderson, president of the Mill Valley Employees Association, had agreed on only half the matters blocking a settlement.

Meetings with the association were held Tuesday afternoon and night and all day yesterday in an effort to agree on median salaries, Cunningham said, but just half were established.

The council Monday instructed Cunningham to offer employees an increase to bring salaries up to the median paid to workers with similar jobs in 17 California cities.

Frustrated at unproductive salary discussions that have delayed the budget since hearings opened June 17, councilmen quickly set a tentative figure for salary increases and moved on.

On a motion by Councilman Jerome C. Hauke, seconded by Robert H. Andersen, they voted 4-1 to put $60,000 in the budget for this purpose.

Mayor George E. Wickham voted against the motion, saying that he thought 35-hour-week employees should get a smaller raise than 40-hour employees.

Anderson later said he did not know if the association would agree to the city's proposal to raise salaries only to the median.

"I'll present the city's offer to the members but I won't recommend acceptance or rejection," he said, and added that he did not know when the association would meet to consider the offer.

The council voted unanimously to make the eventual pay settlement retroactive to July 1.

The council next heard a plea from Planning Director Harvey M. Bragdon that the position of assistant zoning administrator not be eliminated, as Cunningham proposed.

Bragdon listed duties performed by Howard R. McGill, who holds the post: Preparing agendas for the city's planning commission and architectural advisory committee and taking minutes at both meetings; reviewing applications to the planning department for completeness; making a preliminary staff report on such applications; and preparing graphics for the bodies.

"If we don't have Howard, I'll be doing a lot more clerical and busy work. He frees me to spend more time on major developments," Bragdon said.

He said that 30 per cent of the land in the city is undeveloped, and the outcome of that will make or break Mill Valley."

Planning Commissioner Ivan S. Poutiatine defended McGill's position: "The city is doing a poor job on planning because it's not doing enough advance planning. As Howard gets more experienced in his job, the commission and Harvey can spend more time on future needs. It would be shortsighted to eliminate the position."

Wickham said that "it's not easy to reduce personnel," but maintained that cutting back in staff is necessary to trim the proposed $2,002,703 budget, which carries a projected tax rate of $3.115 per $100 assessed valuation.

The council voted 4-1, again with Wickham dissenting, to include $10,200 in the budget for McGill's position.

The council also left $50,770 in the budget for three storm damage repair projects, added $1,200 to the park and recreation budget for printing, added $500 for mileage for the senior recreation director and added $550 for signs for bicycle paths.

Another budget session was set for Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. at city hall to discuss capital outlay.

Union Spurns $5 Hour Raise

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Sheet Metal workers last night rejected a proposal to increase their wages and fringe benefits by about $200 a week within three years and voted to go on strike.

The management offer of a $5 hourly increase was one of the highest ever made in the country. The rejection came at a mass meeting where the majority of the 3,000-member AFL-CIO local 108 voted to support its negotiating committee's demand for a $5.70 hourly increase in wage and fringe benefits within three years.

Russians Salute U.S. Jazzman

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Soviets paid tribute today to American jazzman Louis Armstrong as a man deeply loved by the good people of the world.

The newspaper Soviet Culture published the praise in honor of Armstrong's 70th birthday. The article called him the King of Jazz and said: "He gained fame thanks to his expressive playing, virtuoso technique and the originality of images created by him."

It added: "Armstrong, who came from common Negro people and was educated in the tradition of musical folklore and spirituals, has been loyal to these principles during all his life and creative activities."

Reagan's Tax Reform Over Another Hurdle

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Gov. Ronald Reagan's $1 billion tax revision program today headed for its last committee test leaving in its wake a rival Democratic-sponsored plan.

The Senate Revenue and Taxation Committee Wednesday approved Reagan's massive tax shift on a roll call 6-5 vote and sent it to the Finance Committee.

The 11-member panel then killed a rival package by Sen. George Moscone of San Francisco on a 5-6 vote.

Prior to endorsement, committee members wrote into the program a provision guaranteeing the state would pick up any cost-of-living increases schools incur due to inflation.

Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, who is carrying the program for the administration, said the provision would cost the state general fund $65 million the first year the Tav Revision Program is in effect.

Bagley noted the state the past few years has paid for the inflationary rise in school costs. But, he added, the provision would mandate the state to do what it has done by custom. Schools otherwise would have to assess local property taxpayers for the extra sum.

During two hearings last month, educators generally criticized the tax reshuffle package for a spending ceiling it slaps on schools.

They said the state eliminated special tax overrides while ordering schools to hold the line in spending. They also said it did not offer districts more money to maintain quality education.

The Governor's program would generate $600 million the first year for various forms of property tax relief. By 1974, the revenue would total $1 billion.

The funds would come from payroll withholding, a 1-cent sales tax hike, a boost in the bank and corporations tax, higher income taxes for persons with larger salaries and a reduction in the oil depletion allowance.

This money would provide 20 per cent to 40 per cent in property tax relief for most homeowners, a $50 state income tax credit for renters and a 20 per cent business inventory levy slash.

Sen. Clark L. Bradley broke ranks with fellow Republicans to oppose the Governor's program.

Bradley also complained that wealthier Californians would be getting property tax relief at the expense of lower-income persons, who would pay a 20 per cent sales tax increase.

Voting for Reagan's program were Republican Sens. William Coombs, Rialto; George Deukmejian, Long Beach; Robert J. Lagomarsino, Ojai; Robert S. Stevens, Los Angeles; Howard Way, Exeter, and Democratic Sen. Tom Carrell of San Fernando.

Voting against it were Moscone, Bradley and Democratic Sens. Randolph Collier, Yreka; Nicholas C. Petris, Oakland; and Walter W. Stiern, Bakersfield.

Bay Congressmen Stress State Water Plan Dangers

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Two Bay Area congressmen, citing a new federal report, asserted yesterday that diverting Sacramento River water to Southern California may leave the bay "a dead lake as putrescent and foul smelling as Lake Erie."

Reps. Jerome Waldie, D-14th District, and Paul N. McCloskey Jr., R-11th District, issued their warning following release of a report by the U.S. Geological Survey that said California's multi-billion-dollar water project "could have significant effects on the overall quality of the bay." The river "is a major quality control" of the bay, the report found.

Waldie, whose home is in Antioch, said the report was "completely opposite to what Director William Gianelli of the State Department of Water Resources stated before a congressional committee last August."

He quoted Gianelli as telling committeemen that "tidal action is the principal mechanism by which pollutants are alternately removed from the bay." Gianelli, according to Waldie, also told the committee that "the effects of tidal dispersion of wastes far overwhelm the effects of river outflows from the delta."

Gianelli was not available to comment on the federal findings, reported in yesterday's Independent-Journal.

Year Of Dog Perilous To Pigs Of Malaysia

IPOH, West Malaysia (UPI) —The Chinese Year of the Dog may be dangerous for pigs in West Malaysia, veterinary experts warn. The danger of an outbreak of swine fever is real, they say, although it may not be on a scale larger than the epidemic of 1966-67 when about 10,000 pigs perished in West Malaysia.

Weeks On The Mango Tree Run

By JOAN DEPPA

LONDON (UPI) — The 20-year-old granddaughter of the late Sir Winston Churchill puffed on a slim cigar and talked about treating leprosy in the African bush.

Arabella Churchill recently spent two weeks on the "mango tree run" in Tanzania and Zambia, helping doctors and health workers with a British charity called Lepra.

"We drove from village to village and some patients waited underneath big mango trees at the end of the village to be examined and receive their pills," said Miss Churchill, who has been publicizing the charity's work for the past year.

THE BLUE-EYED blonde said she plans to make a lecture tour of the United States next November to talk about her African trip and the leprosy problem.

"The Lepra people reckon they could control leprosy in one generation and completely wipe it out by a second generation - if they had enough money," she said.

Miss Churchill said her trip into the bush convinced her that out-patient treatment was the way to stamp out the disease. She told about one modern hospital she saw for treating severe cases.

"It cost 200,000 pounds $480,000 - no doubt hospitals are necessary for some cases - but for the same money you could buy 150 landrovers and completely cover the country," she said.

SIPPING MACHINE - DISPENSED coffee from a plastic cup in her London office, Miss Churchill said out-patient treatment was helping rid leprosy of the social stigma attached to it for thousands of years.

"Before, they had to leave the community for treatment and by the time they returned it was difficult for them to be reassimilated," she said.

"When we go into a new village, we start with a little speech and say we won't take you away. Once they understand that, they do come."

"There's nothing strange about leprosy. The cure has existed since 1946, but it hasn't been eliminated because it's not a disease that kills, it just slowly cripples. African governments with so many other problems to solve obviously have not been able to make it one of their top priorities."

Miss Churchill pushed up the sleeves of her white jersey shirt and casually arranged the long gray suede vest she wore over wide gray trousers.

"Many of the really bad disfigurations you see, particularly on the legs and feet, are not caused by leprosy itself but because the nerves become numb, the patient steps on something and the wound becomes infected without him realizing it," she said.

ASKED WHAT was the most difficult aspect of her trip in the bush, she laughed and said, "Getting up every morning at 6 a.m. You've no idea how difficult that is for me. But I'd love to go again. In fact, I would like to go down there and work on the scene for a much longer period of time."

Miss Churchill took another gentle puff on her cigar and fingered one of the African carvings she brought back as mementos.

"The people down there are so marvelous, the bush is so different from what I expected. You just can't help wanting to help them."

Sociologist Says Marriage Structure Favors The Man

CLEVELAND, Ohio. — Marriage as it is now structured is just great for men but not really good at all for women, sociologist Dr. Jessie Bernard told the annual convention of the American Home Economics Association here yesterday.

"Many discontinuities in the lives of women are due to the change in occupation which marriage imposes — every wife becomes a housewife," said Dr. Bernard.

She said that a comparable situation would be for every man to have become a janitor when he was married.

A member of the advisory committee on uniform marriage and divorce laws, National Commission on Uniform legislation of Washington, D.C., the sociologist said that "if a woman marries at 21 and has her second — and last — child at 25, think what a small proportion not only of her total life, but even of her married life, she is devoting to child rearing, as more pre-school facilities become available to help share the load."

She added that more married women, compared to single women, are depressed, passive and phobic, and more are showing psychosomatic symptoms. Dr. Bernard suggested that women devote fulltime to rearing children to about age three and then start or continue careers.

Dr. Bernard spoke along with Dr. Catherine Chilman, psychologist and dean of faculty at Hood College in Maryland, in a discussion on "Changing Lifestyles for Women."

Dr. Chilman questioned whether mothers should try to transfer any substantial amount of child care to fathers or to the community, saying that babies and toddlers were dependent on vast quantities of consistent, dependable love from a specific adult, usually their mothers.

Both Dr. Chilman and Dr. Bernard are mothers of three young adult children.

Dr. Chilman also said, "Motherhood is no longer rewarded as a noble, socially useful calling. With the population threat, mothers are made to feel apologetic for having added to the population boom.

"Beyond the service needs to families, it is important that we give far more attention to social as well as physical ecology," she said. "By that I mean to the humanizing of the environment in respect to housing, recreation, transportation, community safety and sanitation."

Dr. Chilman said she had observed an increasing number of people who appeared afraid of deep human involvements. She said that today's mobility may be encouraging superficiality in relationships.

Marin Women

Kenneth Allen To Wed Susan Hansen Sept. 8

Dr. and Mrs. Robert S. Hansen of La Canada are announcing the engagement of their daughter Susan to Kenneth R. Allen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Reed R. Allen of San Rafael.

Susan and Kenneth, both seniors at Brigham Young University, plan to be married Sept. 8 in Los Angeles.

Carol and Louise Hansen are Susan's sisters. She is a graduate of La Canada High School. The future bride is a member of Phi Kappa Phi national scholastic fraternity and White Key, the senior women's service society at BYU. She is employed as a laboratory instructor at the university.

Kenneth is the brother of Mrs. John W. Bright of Provo, Utah, and Venette and Scott E. Allen of San Rafael. He was graduated from Terra Linda High School. The future bridegroom is also a member of Phi Kappa Phi and spent two years in Germany as a missionary for the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints. A recording technician at BYU, he is employed at Hewlett-Packard in Santa Clara during the summer.

Cheryl Murray Is Bride Of Stephen Anthony De Marta

Cheryl Lee Murray and Stephen Anthony De Marta, both of San Rafael, were married Saturday in Stewart Memorial Chapel at the San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo. A reception in Alexander Hall at the seminary followed.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Murray, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Roy De Marta Jr. All are residents of San Rafael.

Mrs. Pati Boyd of Burlingame was matron of honor for her sister, and Chris Doll of San Rafael was maid of honor. Stephen's sisters, Sandy and Audrey De Marta, Melanie MacCubbin and Linda Noel, all of San Rafael, were bridesmaids.

Steve Robinson was best man, and guests were ushered to their seats by the bridegroom's brother Brad De Marta, the bride's brother Richard Murray, Goerge Noel, Daniel Brooks and Jim Fletcher, all San Rafael residents.

Cheryl was graduated from Terra Linda High School and is employed by United California Bank in San Francisco. Bruce Murray is also her brother.

Also a graduate of Terra Linda High School, Stephen is employed by the Union Garage, Inc, in Fairfield. He is also the brother of Craig and Christian De Marta. He is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Roy De Marta of San Francisco and Mrs. William Steinbeck of Sebastopol and the great-grandson of Mrs. Christian De Marta of San Francisco and Mrs. Dave Kirkland of Santa Rosa.

Following a wedding trip to Carmel and Monterey the couple will live in San Rafael.

THE SUBURBAN SCENE

Wedding Held During Bridegroom's Mother's Visit From South Africa

By MOLLY MARIN

Mrs. Harry C. Transue is returning to Johannesburg, South Africa, tomorrow after visiting in Marin and attending the wedding of her son, Thomas Walker Transue, who wed Phyllis Marie Canavan Friday evening at St. John's Episcopal Church in Ross.

Tom and Phyllis had planned to be married in August, but, Mrs. Transue says, "I couldn't stay away that long so I coerced them into getting married while I was here."

For the wedding the bride wore a gown made by Portuguese women in Hawaii more than 100 years ago for the bridegroom's great-aunt. Tom's grandmother Mrs. E.K. Rose of Kentfield made fresh carnation leis for all of the members of the wedding party.

The senior Transues have lived in South Africa for two years, where he is employed by a world-wide construction and engineering firm. They find the country very much like California but the pace of living slower and more gracious. Before moving to Johannesburg, the Transues lived in Melbourne, Australia, for four years.

AN ORIENTAL garden surrounding a magnolia blossom filled swimming pool was the setting Saturday evening for an Hawaiian party hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Urban Morf and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Nelson at the Morfs' San Rafael home.

Guests at the luau included Messrs. and Mmes. Jack Clancy, John Agababian, Michael Varetakis, Richard Schau, Carl Boegershausen, Bud Fisher, Norbert Krier, Marvin Lechner, Bill Kuperus, Graham Woods, Rich Bottarini, Dick Alves, Bob Laufer, Bill Sigler, Norman Scheidt, Hank Rosso, Charles Salt, Haddon Salt, Neil Jordan, Larry Santa and Joe Sturiale and Mrs. Sue Gochner and Hanlon Tharp.

OLD MISSION Santa Clara was the setting June 21 for the wedding with an Edwardian theme uniting in marriage Julia Fahey Hauserman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dan M. Hauserman of Tahoe City, and Frank Tony Perachiotti Jr., son of the senior Perachiottis of Novato.

Gibson Girl style gowns were worn by the maid of honor and bridesmaids, and the bride and bridegroom's mothers were attired in early 1900 style dresses.

Julia and Frank are both students at the University of Santa Clara.

A FAMILY barbecue for 300 to 500 members will be held at the San Francisco Yacht Club on Saturday. Mrs. Robert Christensen assisted social chairman Joseph Madrigali in planning festivities.

A children's barbecue at noon will be followed by a fire truck ride and dune-buggy rides, balloons and games; while adults watch the club's top skippers, including some international champions, compete in match races.

Beginning with the barbecue at 5 p.m. a Dixie Land Band will entertain through out the evening of dining and dancing.

Dunderdale-Jonas Vows Are Exchanged In Novato Church

Beverly C. Jonas and Thomas C. Dunderdale exchanged wedding vows at Our Lady of Loretto Church in Novato on Saturday.

Beverly is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William M. Jonas of Novato and Thomas is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Dunderdale of Woodland Hills.

The bride chose as her matron of honor her sister, Mrs. Clayton Clement of Lafayette, and her maid of honor was Nancy Hartmann of Philadelphia, Pa. Bridesmaids were Nancy Cotugna of San Bernardino, Paula Dunderdale, sister of the bridegroom of Manhattan Beach, and Kathie Epidendio of Santa Venetia.

The bridegroom chose as his best man Michael Murphy of Agoura and ushering guests to their seats were Erik Watts and Clinton Ostrander of Woodland Hills and Daniel Austin of Santa Monica and James Hartmann of Berkeley.

A reception was held at the Oakview Club in Terra Linda. The couple will live in Coral Gables, Fla., where the bridegroom will do graduate work at the University of Miami. They are on a wedding trip to Carmel.

Beverly was graduated from Novato High School and they both were graduated last month from the University of California at Santa Barbara. Thomas also was graduated from W. H. Taft High School in Woodland Hills.

The bride has been employed each summer in her parents business, the Roger Wilco Market in Novato. Mrs. Alice Jonas of Santa Venetia is her grandmother.

Kappa Alumnae Elect Mrs. John W. Nixon

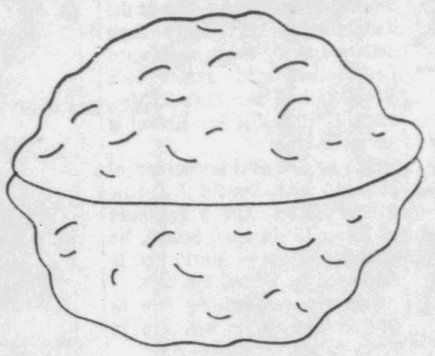
Mrs. John W. Nixon of San Rafael, new president of the Kappa Kappa Gamma Alumnae Association of Marin, has just returned from the sorority's centennial convention held in French Lick, Ind.

More than 500 delegates attended the national convention marking the sorority's 100th year, where 94 fellowships and scholarships were awarded.

A four-year-member of the Marin chapter, Lea Nixon has served as vice president, Panhellenic representative and chairman of the recommendations and project committees. Plans during her term of office include a cruise to Angel Island for a picnic, support of a rehabilitation project and monthly luncheon featuring "Key Kappas in Marin" and "Volunteers Needed" programs.

Born in Kansas City, Mo., Mrs. Nixon was graduated from Cornell University in Ithaca, N.Y. Her husband is a management consultant and the couple have two children, Diane, 10, and Jeffrey, 7 years old, who attend Oak View Dchool. Mrs. Nixon belongs to the Oak View School Association and is a teachers' aide at the school. She is also a member of Planned Parenthood Auxiliary.

MRS. JOHN NIXON



This is a nut.

It's exactly what we're not. We're also not a kook. Or a way-out. Or any thing remotely resembling any of those things. And you know what, neither is fashion. All of a sudden, the message is softness. Girlness. Body. It's knits that move. Satins that cling. It's pants as soft as skirts. And coats that float. And lovely long dresses that are as young in their own way as minis. Oh, it's exciting. And groovy. But grooviness and nuttiness are two different things. As we will be happy to demonstrate. Any day. At our place. Just for you.

See our fashions modeled informally at Holiday Inn every Tuesday luncheon.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

His Mother Finds Something Wrong With Every Girlfriend

I'm an 18-year-old guy. Every time I find a girl I like, my mother figures she is a no-good hussy who is going to trap me. She breaks us up, one way or another.

My last girl friend is respectable and fun-loving like her family. They really have good times together. Mom says they have loose morals and I shouldn't associate with them. That's because she once saw them drinking beer at a picnic.

She bothered my girl so much, calling to ask if I was there, and making snide remarks, that her mother got on the phone and really told my mother off. After that we pretended to break up — at the request of both parents—but we still see each other at friends' houses. (We don't date.)

Mom got wind of it and now she's telling my girl a lot of lies about me: That I've got mental quirks and am dangerous to be around, that bad blood runs in the family and she's taking big chances when she goes with me.

Helen, we aren't having an affair and we don't intend to. We like each other but wouldn't consider marriage. So why is my mother in such a swivet she'd want to scare girls away? She says she's determined to see me through college, but I wonder if it will end, even then? — GERARD

DEAR GERARD:

Probably not. Overly protective parents seldom outgrow it. Let's hope your college is at least 200 miles from home — and that you haven't inherited any metal quirks from your mother. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

A few months ago I met this groovy fella. We dated a few times, and then I got to thinking he might take me for granted, so I wasn't always available when he called. After I turned down three dates, he stopped calling.

How can I show him I still care? — HOPING AND PRAYING

DEAR H AND P:

Perhaps an invitation to a party might undo what you overdid.

And next time play it honest: If you like a guy, don't pull the old "You'll have to wait your turn" business on him. Groovy ones no longer wait. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

If you go to a party and they start passing pot around, what should you do? — NON-SMOKER, BUT NO PRUDE

DEAR NON:

Leave! In a bust, you'll have a hard time proving you're a non-smoker. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

What's the difference between a recession and a depression? — STUDENT

DEAR STUDENT:

It's mostly a matter of degree. As that prolific Mr. Anonymous once said, "A recession is when your neighbor has lost his job. A depression is when you lose yours." — H

Is Skirt Length Debate Ending?

The great debate about skirt lengths no longer seems to be haunting Paris designer or customers. The mini is out. The most important skirt length is at mid-calf, a length that comprised at least 80 per cent of all collections at all prices.

The Chanel Length, just below the knee, was shown more often in the women's than junior market.

Lawn Watering

When watering the lawn in warm, dry weather, apply water as a gentle spray. Keep soil moist, but not flooded. Try to set up a watering pattern so there is a minimum of walking over the wet surface.

Redwood High Policy Spurs Lively Debate

The controversy over a partial open campus at Redwood High School spilled over into a Larkspur City Council meeting last night.

Mayor Benton A. Sifford Jr. said the city had received a letter from a resident of the Greenbrae Marina, adjacent to the school, complaining about student littering in the subdivision.

Two weeks ago, the Tamalpais High School District board received a flood of protests from Greenbrae Marina residents covering a wide range of alleged student misconduct. At that time, Principal Donald Kreps said the blame seemed to lie more with lower classmen and after-school activities than with seniors who are now allowed off campus with parental permission.

Sifford said he didn't wish the council to discuss the merits of continuing the partial open campus program, only what to do about the littering complaint, but his hopes were unfulfilled.

Several students, including student body president Steven Lederman, spoke in support of the policy, even suggesting extension to the full student body.

"I'll fight to the bitter end to keep a closed campus," said Councilman Neil R. Brixon. "This area doesn't lend itself to 2,500-2,600 students going off campus."

Student Gus Rowland said litter should be expected because students eat lunch outside.

"It should be kept on the school grounds in litter cans where it belongs," Sifford said firmly.

If lower classemn are violating school rules to leave the campus, Councilman Alfred J. Malvino said, "then I want to know what the principal's job is."

"There are always going to be people cutting classes," said Lederman. "The dean of boys and the dean of girls do their best to catch them."

The council voted to send the littering complaint to the school district board, urging that student activities be policed.

The Larkspur City Council Also:

DOGS — Heard Malvino protest that, despite numerous cases of unattended dogs, Marin County Humane Society officials had issued no citations to owners in May. Of the county's new animal control program, he said, "We've been sold another bill of goods." But the council wanted to give the program another month before assessing it fully.

SUITS — Met in closed session to discuss litigation, and City Mgr. Kent B. Bathurst reported later the city planned to file suit against the Ross Valley Flood Control Zone, the state and the Army Corps of Engineers for allegedly causing about $100,000 in damage to the Bon Air Bridge in connection with the Corte Madera Creek flood control project, and to file a condemnation suit against Northwestern Pacific Railroad and C. T. H. Wright in connection with reconstruction at Doherty Drive and Magnolia Avenue.

SALARIES — Formally approved new salary ranges for fiscal 1971 that will cost the city an additional $55,000.

MAPLE — Voted abandonment of Maple Avenue, a paper street in the southwestern section of the city.

MADRONE — Continued discussion of improvements to Madrone Avenue between Jones Way and Redwood Avenue, pending an updated traffic study.

DRAINAGE — Heard Bathurst report that the planning commission will discuss the proposed new drainage ordinance on July 14 and that a joint meeting with the city council will follow later this month.

DISTRICT — Voted to continue an area east of Highway 101 as a "study" district pending issuance of a ferry consultant's report to the Golden Gate Bridge District. The area has been proposed for a ferry terminal.

PARKING — Introduced an ordinance imposing two-hour parking on portions of Riviera Circle and Via La Brisa, off Doherty Drive.

AGREEMENT — Approved a work-study agreement under which College of Marin students become part-time employees of the city.

TRANSIT — Voted to oppose Marin Transit System's application before the state Public Utilities Commission for an extension of ferry commuter and shopper service because of lack of an overall transit plan for the county. Larkspur would be included in the system's new routes.

REZONING — Adopted an ordinance rezoning a portion of the McLeran property on Magnolia Avenue between Estelle Avenue and Murray Lane to enable construction of a new Bank of America branch.

Rohnert Park Stalls Action On Salaries

The Rohnert Park City Council last night approved two new employee positions and three departmental budgets, but delayed action on proposed salary increases.

In the first study of the $681,-152 budget for 1970-71, the council tentatively approved budgets of $140,690 for general government, $137,297 for public safety and $165,639 for public works.

In the public safety department, the council tentatively authorized an additional officer to bring the force to seven men. Also approved was a full-time secretary-clerk for the department, in place of the parttime position.

For the public works department, the council authorized an additional maintenance man to bring the crew to four.

Another budget session was set for Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. to consider salary increases proposed by City Mgr. Peter M. Callinan.

He has recommended 7.5 per cent increases for regular employees and 3.5 per cent for the superintendent of public works, public safety director and city manager.

Budget requests by other departments will also be considered Tuesday night.

Heart Ills Top S.F. Death List

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Heart disease is the leading cause of death in San Francisco, Department of Public Health figures show.

In a report released Wednesday, the department said 34.9 per cent of the 9,033 deaths in the city last year resulted from heart disease.

Cancer caused 18.9 per cent of the deaths and strokes 10.8 per cent.

Cuba Trip Rough On U.S. Captain

MIAMI (UPI)—Four U.S. servicemen aboard a hijacked San Francisco-to-Miami jetliner were held incommunicado in Havana and one Army officer was "strongarmed and handcuffed" and photographed by Cubans.

Davis Boots of Fort Myers, Fla., a Navy enlisted man, said he, an unnamed Army captain and two other servicemen were isolated in a small room at Havana's Jose Marti airport Wednesday for nine hours. The remaining passengers were taken into Havana.

The 39 passengers and crew members returned to Miami Wednesday night.

Dinner Dated To Aid Supervisor

A fund raising dinner-dance for supervisor-elect Arnold Baptiste will be held at 7 p.m., July 11 at the Wild Horse Valley Clubhouse in Novato.

The affair is sponsored by his campaign chairmen, George Evans, Gail Wilhelm, Ralph Giovanniello, Irving Perlman, Edward Ryken and Alfred Rivasplata.

The proceeds will go to pay his campaign deficit, according to the committee.

Cultural Scene Hit By July Doldrums

By JAMES E. WILLIAMS

New events on the Bay Area cultural scene are few and far between as the normally quiet July takes over.

Of special interest this holiday weekend is the continuing Sunday Stern Grove Festival series. Performing Sunday will be the Lola Montes Spanish Dance Group. On July 12, Kurt H. Adler, San Francisco Opera, director will present winners of the San Francisco Opera auditions.

DRAMA

Next on the summer series schedule at the University of California at Berkeley will be Lucius Seneca's "Phædra," a tragedy that has delighted audiences since Nero's Rome. It will be staged beginning Wednesday for five nights in a new translation by director George House.

MUSIC

The Quicksilver Messenger Service, whose earlier scheduled appearance was postponed due to changes in the group's recording schedule, will appear next Thursday at Fillmore West in San Francisco. Appearances will continue through July 12.

Other attractions:

Geary Theater — "The Tempest," today, Friday, 8:30 p.m., and Wednesday, 2:30 p.m.; "Hadrian VII," Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, 8:30 p.m., Saturday, 2:30 p.m. "Rosencranz and Guildenstern Are Dead," 8:30 p.m. (closing).

Marines Memorial Theater — "The Tavern," today, Friday, Saturday, 8:30 p.m., Wednesday, 2:30 p.m.; "Little Malcolm and His Struggle Against the Eunuchs," Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, 8:30 p.m.

Encore Theater — "And Puppy Dog Tails," nightly, 8:30 p.m.

Little Fox Theater — "One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest," nightly except Monday at 8:30 p.m. and Sunday at 7:30 p.m.

On Broadway Theater — "Oh Calcutta!" nightly except Monday at 8:30 p.m., Saturday, 7:30 and 10:45 p.m. and Sunday at 7:30 p.m.

Orpheum Theater — "Hair," Tuesday through Friday, 8:30 p.m.; Saturday, 6 and 10 p.m.; Wednesday and Sunday, 2:30 p.m.

Curran Theater — "Zorba," evenings except Sunday, 8:30 p.m.; Wednesday and Saturday, 2:30 p.m.

M. H. de Young Museum — "Museum Teaching Staff Exhibit," works by artists who are instructors in the museum's art school, through Aug. 3; "Animal Style Art From East to West," the zoomorphic image in the arts of Asian and Western civilizations, through July 19; "600 Faces by Cecil Beaton," portraiture in photography from the 1920s to 1969," through July 26.

California Palace of the Legion of Honor — English master drawings through Sept. 13; "Prints of the 18th Century," through July 12.

San Francisco Museum of Art — "Gift of Mrs. Charlotte Mach," a group show through Aug. 2; "Recent Acquisitions in Photography," through July 12; "San Francisco Women Artists; 43rd Annual Exhibition," through July.

West Texas City Trial Against 'Midnight Cowboy'

BROWNWOOD, Tex. (UPI)— Artistic, Shameful. Profitable.

A jury heard those words and many others Wednesday used to describe the Academy Award winning motion picture "Midnight Cowboy."

The prosecution has rested its case against drive-in theater manager Floyd Allred, charged with showing an obscene movie —"Midnight Cowboy."- Now it's the defense's turn to try and prove the movie, which won the Oscar as the best picture of 1969, is really not all that bad.

The defense opened its attack by cross-examining many of the prosecution's early witnesses. One of them was Leon Addudle, pastor of the Cogin Avenue Baptist Church. He said the movie showed "a shameful display of sex and nudity and it turned me off."

Sam Tendergrast, fine arts editor and movie critic for the Abilene, Tex., Reporter News, said the movie had "artistic merit."

Gene Jacobs, United Artists Division sales manager from Greenwich, Conn., said the film has become one of the top 25 films of all time on the basis of rental value. He said the movie has grossed $17.4 million and 21.5 million persons had seen the movie, including 1.05 million Texans.

Rock Fest Will Study Ecology

WALPACK, N.J. (UPI)— Hard rock and smog will get equal time at a week-long pop music festival next month, promoters are expecting up to 100,000 people.

The festival will mix rock concerts with ecology workshops Aug. 2 at an 800-acre farm in Walpack Township, Sussex County.

The promoters said Wednesday the festival will be limited to 100,000 persons.

Foreigners In Sweden

STOCKHOLM (UPI) — The number of foreigners working in Sweden totaled 203,987 at the end of 1969, most of them Scandinavian, according to Swedish labor officials. Among the foreign workers were 98,370 Finns, 18,326 Danes, 17,710 Yugoslavians, 13,418 Norwegians and 14,888 Germans.

Family Planning Class

MANILA (UPI)—Deans and administrators of the 34 universities and colleges in the Philippines have proposed the inclusion of family planning in liberal arts, education and social science courses.

SUNBEAMS BRIGHTEN DISPLAYS

Art-Garden Opening Draws 3,624

The temperature was lethargically pushing 90 degrees. Coolly clad women in groups of two or three, or convoying coveys of half-dressed children, all perspiring gently, converged yesterday along the dappled paths of Ross on the 25th Marin Art and Garden Fair. (See results, page 26.)

A yellow-striped awning stands over the entrance gap in the serpentine brick wall, women in straw boaters selling tickets, deputies directing traffic and blue-uniformed guards guarding the gates, and big yellow shuttle buses puffing up to discharge their dozens.

Inside, a splashy display of bright orange zinnias, pelargoniums, chrysanthemums hits one in the eye, along with other plants even harder to spell.

An austere, almost Buddhistic exhibit in the dominantly white display by Mario Canale of San Rafael, off-white river rocks and gray cacti in glossy white display boxes under stretched canvas bands. White petunias around the border, white stone sculpture and didoes, a swirling shape of aluminum sheets.

The daytime visitors helped swell first-day attendance to 3,624 this year compared to 2,144 last year, when the fair was open only from 6 to 10 p.m. on opening day. Hours this year are 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. except for Sunday, the final day, when the gates will close at 8 p.m.

"Oh, look at those little gardens!" exclaims a junior high school girl as she sees a bonsai booth and its tiny wares at the entrance to a wild assortment of booths — everything from the Zero Population Growth group ("How Dense Can People Be!") to a booth full of Democrats, the cancer society, snow cones, jewelry makers, model school, computer character analysis, hot dogs, and pastrami sandwiches.

Fascinating displays of stones, thunder eggs, geodes, jewelry and charms in the Marin Mineral Society exhibit.

A Yamaha organ pumps away in a clearing near the Octagon House, sounding much better than the firm's motorcycles.

A gray-haired gentleman in dark gray suit and homburg, unaffectedly dignified, gestures with his gold-headed cane at a sprawl of glowing orchids beneath two workmen installing a big Empire style streetlamp.

The barn is full of striking photographs, the art gallery full of paintings ranging from superb to puzzling to dumb.

On the hill, the carnival rides circle tirelessly for children who go from ride to ice cream stand to snack bar and back in tireless circles of their own.

On the flat land below, a generous dozen young and old people sprawl beneath a giant oleander tree to dodge the heat, and others sit more decorously on the red benches of the silent outdoor theater where later in the evening they will hear and see opera, folk singers, ballet, light opera or folk dancing.

Hundreds of cars circle Ross seeking parking spaces, even though shuttle buses are running constantly from parking lots at College of Marin and San Anselmo.

The fair may have more room in future years at the civic center, but it will never be the same as it is under the stately trees of Ross, with time standing still among the acres of beautiful make-believe gardens that will disappear when the gates close Sunday night.

The calendar of events for the remainder of the fair:

Minority Hiring Contract: A Must

By ERIK M. INGRAM

The federal government will impose and regulate minority group hiring policies in Marin's construction industry if the county's labor management and minority leadership fails to draft its own employment agreement along government guidelines, a government spokesman warned last night.

However, should the county advisory committee to the Bay Area Construction Opportunity Program show it is close to such a contract, an extension of time past the July 31 deadline might be granted.

"You have a deadline to have either solved this problem (minority hiring) or be in a position to ask the government for more time to solve it," Robert B. Brauer, regional director of the Office of Federal Contract Compliance, told the committee.

With Brauer's assurance that more time, if justified, would be granted, the committee agreed to establish an 18-member, four-county ad hoc committee to draft the needed contract. July 28 was set for negotiations which will bring together two members each from management, labor and the minority community from Sonoma, Marin, Solano and Napa counties.

The advisory committee was formed about two years ago as part of BACOP and charged with developing a program of increasing minority employment in construction trades to a level proportionate to minority population in Marin County by establishing quotas for minorities on any job.

The Department of Labor has established the July 31 deadline for such an equal opportunity plan and will impose its own quota system similar to the "Philadelphia plan" should the three groups fail to reach agreement.

Ray White, chairman of the group and representative of the Redwood Empire Sheet Metal and Air Conditioning Contractors' Association, told other members of the 15-man advisory committee a 5-year hiring program to equal the percentage of minority population in Marin was possible.

"This timetable is the maximum that the labor department has asked of us and management and labor (on the advisory committee) have already agreed to meet this," White said. "We have agreed that each segment of trade in the construction industry be reasonably representative of the minority community."

White asked, "Is there anything else the community (minority groups) could ask?"

"They can ask what is reasonable representation," Bauer responded.

White answered Brauer by restating labor and management's willingness to employ minority group workers.

Brauer added that while labor and management have agreed, a "viable" part of the minority community must also agree.

The government demands that representatives of the minority community in Marin have an equal voice in any agreement, he added. "This is an obtainable goal in this community."

Question was thus raised as to whether the five minority members already part of the advisory committee were representative of their community.

Brauer, formerly executive director of the Marin County Human Rights Commission, said it was the prerogative of minority groups to select who should negotiate their final agreement with labor and management. He added that if the five now on the committee were spokesmen for the various minority groups in Marin, which include Negros, Mexican-Americans and Indians, then they would be selected to draft the agreement.

White responded that the five were appointed two years ago by the Marin City Council as representatives of the minorities and that if others were now chosen, it would have to be shown that they were representing a majority of black, brown and red Marin residents.

"Let's just make sure they are truly representative so we are not making a hollow agreement," White warned.

Other members agreed and set July 28 as the tentative date for the start of agreement negotiations. The meeting place was not determined.

Apartments On Wolfback Ridge Asked

The Sausalito planning commission last night set a special meeting for July 29 at 8 p.m. to consider requests from two developers which, if granted, would permit a major apartment development on Sausalito's Wolfback Ridge.

Frank Lynch and E. R. Fitzsimmons are asking for a reclassification of 90 acres of land on the ridge and a conditional use permit to allow construction of a 396-unit apartment on 60 acres of the property, according to H. Eric Borgwardt, city planning director.

Borgwardt said the two are asking that the 90 acres, west of Highway 101, be re-zoned to allow cluster-type apartment development on the land. Zoning now requires that any subdivision of the property be into one-half acre parcels which can be used for single family dwellings only.

The conditional use permit, asked by Lynch and Fitzsimmons, co-owner of 60 acres of the property, would allow the land to be used for town houses and studio and one, two and three-bedroom apartments.

The Sausalito planning commission also:

VARIANCE — Approved a request for a variance from Terry D. Curtis to allow remodeling of a dwelling at 219-A Third Street, even though the structure does not conform to city requirements of size and floor area.

ENCROACHMENT — Recommended approval of an encroachment application from Joseph Duffel, developer of the Whiskey Springs Apartments, to permit a minimum of 35 parking spaces to encroach into the Bridgeway right-of-way.

Assembly Panel Clears Bill, Lifts Hope For Tougher Logging Rules

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — The prospect of tough controls on logging in Marin County greatly improved yesterday with approval of a controversial forest practice bill by the Assembly Government Administration Committee.

The bill, SB 507 by Sen. Richard J. Dolwig, R-San Mateo, would empower Marin, San Mateo and Santa Clara counties to regulate logging more strictly than provided in the state Forest Practice Act.

The bill went to the Assembly floor on a 4-1 vote, the bare minimum needed to clear the committee. Voting "no" was Assemblyman Eugene R. Chappie, R-Cool, whose El Dorado County district includes large logging companies.

Assembly approval would send the bill to the governor for his signature since it already has been approved by the Senate. The governor's position on the bill is uncertain, however, since the bill is opposed by the state Department of Conservation.

The department is the parent body of the Division of Forestry, which is dominated by the logging industry. The department and lobbyists for the industry objected to the bill on the ground that it would open the door to requests from other counties for exemptions from the Forest Practice Act.

Proponents of the bill, including officials and conservationists from the three counties, argued that these three counties were unique in California because they were the only ones in an urban area that still had logging operations. The Bay Area's special need for open space and conservation of its dwindling natural resources required stricter controls of logging, they argued.

Marin County pushed for the bill after it was frustrated in attempts to control logging in West Marin.

Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, has an identical bill, but it was bottled up in the Assembly Natural Resources and Conservation Committee. Bagley said his bill was "caught in a whipsaw between those who want to do more, and those who want to do nothing."

Department of Conservation officials urged the committee to kill the bill in the light of the new controls adopted last week by the Division of Forestry. But Marin County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney dismissed the new controls as "totally unsatisfactory."

The new controls increased the number of trees that must be left standing, but still provided for no local review of logging operations, Maloney said.

Dolwig's bill would allow the three counties to control soil erosion, water quality, the number of trees cut, logging roads, excavation, fill, fire prevention, slash and debris disposal, haul routes and schedules, and performance bond requirements.

Cherry Bomb Injures Boy

A 14-year-old San Rafael youth was treated at Marin General Hospital for burns and puncture wounds on the right flank and forearm yesterday after a cherry bomb firecracker was thrown at him.

San Rafael police reported Andrew Michael Goldstein of 2 Neame Street was taken to the hospital at 11:30 a.m. after another 14-year-old threw the cherry bomb at him and some companions.

A large quantity of other fireworks was confiscated and destroyed, according to police.

Tiburon Firemen Plan For League

The Tiburon Volunteer Firemen's Association last night accepted a schedule of softball games with six other Marin County fire departments.

Secretary Robert Hamilton reported that play will begin Tuesday and run through Sept. 27. The league is sponsored by the Marin County Association of Fire Departments and includes Novato, San Rafael, Sausalito, Kentfield, Larkspur and the Marin Municipal Water District in addition to Tiburon.

Firemen also elected a new secretary, Craig L. Stannard, to replace Hamilton, who is going to work for the San Rafael Fire Department.

Summer Classes Set At Fairfax

The Fairfax Recreation Department will have signups today through Saturday at the Fairfax Pavilion for arts and crafts classes to begin Monday for children from 4 to 6, according to Tony Barbera, recreation director.

The class will be held on Mondays and Fridays during July from 1 to 2 p.m. and from 2:30 to 3:30 p.m.

Signups are also being held over the weekend for tennis classes for youths 11 to 15. These classes will also be conducted during July on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 9 to 10 a.m.

Connection Disavowed

Alfred Curry, president of the Marin County Deputy Sheriff's Association, said today two deputies who joined a protest against cuts in "people-centered" services before the board of supervisors Tuesday were not representing the association, even though a spokesman for the protesting group identified one as a member.

We May Be Thankful These Are Not Our Judges

California courts have been criticized for various shortcomings. One thing in which we may take comfort and some pride, however, is the generally high caliber of those who occupy the bench in the Golden State.

If we doubt that our judges are superior to some elsewhere, we have only to consider a recent New York case, as related in dry, factual fashion in the New York Times news columns of June 26.

IN FEBRUARY, 1969, a New York County grand jury indicted the Mount Vernon Construction Co. and its president and sole stockholder, Adam Petrillo, on charges of bid-rigging in connection with Consolidated Edison Corp. contracts in Westchester County. Petrillo was requested to appear before the grand jury.

He did not appear. Nearly eight months went by. Then, on Oct. 9, Judge John M. Murtagh of the New York Supreme Court (which, despite its name, is the trial court in that state — not the top appellate body) issued an order that Petrillo appear with records bearing on the transactions. Again, he did not appear. On Oct. 16, Judge Murtagh ordered him into court to face a contempt charge.

But on Oct. 31, Judge Samuel P. Rosenberg of another division of the same court vacated Judge Murtagh's subpoena, though leaving the contempt citation standing.

Efforts to serve Petrillo with the contempt citation were unavailing, because he had left the jurisdiction — moving to his home in Dade County, Fla.

ON JUNE 12 of this year, Frank A. Rogers of the Manhattan district attorney's office asked Judge Gerald P. Culkin of still another supreme court division to issue an arrest warrant. Judge Culkin did so.

On June 24, as district attorney's men prepared to go to Petrillo's home in Mount Vernon — where he had returned from Florida — to arrest him on Judge Culkin's warrant, Judge Rosenberg ordered that no paper be served on Petrillo in connection with the case.

The district attorney's men were already on their way, however. But when they arrived in Mount Vernon, police of the town of Eastchester (of which it is a part) told them Judge Rosenberg's order prohibited the arrest.

The district attorney's men called the state police for help. Finally, Eastchester police agreed to cooperate. But at that point Petrillo's lawyers told the officers they could enter the home only by force. The officers broke open the door and arrested Petrillo.

Just as they had put him in a car, Judge Robert J. Trainor of still another supreme court division arrived and ordered that he be released. Trainor wrote on the back of Judge Calkin's order that Petrillo had appeared before him and been granted 24 hours parole. Petrillo was set free.

THE NEXT DAY, Rogers appeared in court and said that "Justice Rosenberg believes he can on his own prevent the district attorney's office from ever returning a subpoena."

Judge Culkin, fire in his eye, ordered Petrillo held in $100,000 bail. Judge Murtagh ordered him to appear the next Monday to show cause why he should not be jailed for contempt.

Petrillo remained in jail one hour before raising the $100,000 bail.

WE MAY BE THANKFUL that no judge in California — certainly none in Marin, anyhow — has exhibited such low regard for the processes of the courts themselves as evidenced in this case in New York.

Respect for law flourishes or withers exactly as respect for those charged with its enforcement and administration lives or dies. And no other bears so great a responsibility for preserving that respect as does the judge, who by a word may set a prisoner free or hold him to answer for the crimes charged against him.

Patio Season

From before the Fourth of July into October, Bay Area people pour into their patios and linger around their barbecue pits until the chill evening breeze off the cold Pacific drives them indoors for the night.

Like ground squirrels coming out of their burrows after a long winter, Marinites chapter and frolic and delight in the warmth of long summer evenings.

Enjoy. The time is now and the place is Marin.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

Reagan Offers Way To Solve Union Dispute In Vineyards

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Gov. Ronald Reagan has suggested ways for the amicable settlement of difficulties between farm workers and employers through use of the state conciliation system.

The procedures were set up by the governor in lieu of federal legislation, introduced by Sen. George Murphy but so far not passed by Congress.

THE PROPOSALS, if accepted, would make unnecessary the prolonged "boycott" of California grapes, which is now threatening to go into melons, by Farm Workers Organizing Committee headed by Cesar Chavez.

Assemblyman Kent H. Stacey, R-Bakersfield, said the real victims of a boycott against California melons will be the workers themselves, and characterized the threat to carry the boycott to melons as "a clear attempt at economic blackmail."

Neither melon growers nor workers want the type of contracts Chavez offers, he contended.

THE GOVERNOR'S proposal, it was pointed out, will offer the workers free choice in the matter of selection, give the workers the right to vote by secret ballot which (if any) union they want, and guarantee free elections.

The governor pointed out this solution would provide the means for settling the grape controversy. He called on farmers, workers, union representatives, clergy, and the stores which sell the produce to "find a solution which does not destroy an entire industry and the jobs it normally provides."

As a matter of fact, workers in agriculture have demonstrated in the past that they are not interested in unionizing.

Union organizers, in fact, have stated that they want nothing to do with organizing farm workers. Some have tried it and say it is virtually useless to set up an organization of farm workers as members are transient and not overly eager to pay their dues to defray the considerable costs.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Forest Problem Clearly Stated

Your "Editor's Notebook" of June 20 is a splendid statement of one of the fundamental problems underlying the management of forests in California.

Public tax law is an expression of public policy. As long as an owner must pay a penalty to keep trees standing, we can only conclude that public policy is for down trees and against standing trees. It's meaningless to criticize an owner for cutting as long as this situation exists.

Your editorial can do much to clarify the problem.

Plea For Economy Vs. Performance

One of the most fatuous documents yet was the letter which appeared June 24 by Duane Ragan (former councilman and mayor of San Anselmo) asking the county supervisors to hold the line on taxes but expressing contentment with the rise in San Anselmo city taxes!

This must partly explain why San Anselmo taxes doubled in the last four years (from $750,000 in 1965-66 to $1,365,000 in 1969-70) although neither the population nor the cost of living was anywhere near this high, thus making San Anselmo the second most expensive town in Marin in which to live.

Although Mr. Ragan is no longer in office, the councilmen who served with him are, and the present majority, over the objections of Mr. (Woodrow) Capurro, have currently passed such items (in this year of extreme financial hardship with high interest rates, stock market depression, rising unemployment, etc.) as putting aside $57,000 toward a master plan which the federal government has already turned down, the rationale here according to Mr. (James F.) Reed being that "we better leave it in, it will be extremely hard to explain to the people again. . ."

(Reader Emis apparently has confused total budgeted expenditures with property taxes. The amount to be realized from property taxes to meet the City of San Anselmo's 1965-66 budget was $440,832; to meet the 1969-70 budget, $561,720.—Editor.)

Doctor Takes Issue With AMA Head

It seems that whichever of you wrote the article about the "Doctor Shortage" was either grossly misinformed or had simply too little knowledge to discuss the topic intelligently. You mentioned how wonderful it would be to phase out the internship and put doctor trainees to work in a preceptor type position. This is just taking the doctors away from serving patients in the capacity of interns and residents, and putting them in somebody's private office. It stops them from taking care of patients in one place and allows them to take care of patients in another place, both places being in subservient positions. You also emphasized that a lot of medical schools are spending money on research at the expense of teaching. I don't think I need remind you, that research has been what has been bringing modern medicine to the position it is in today. Now doctors know how to cure things, rather than just relying on aspirin and bedrest.

You also mentioned how terrible it is that such a large percentage of the doctors of Marin County are specialists. You try to equate this with the fact that there is a doctors shortage in the county. This is nonsense. There is no shortage of any specialist or of general practitioners. Most of the general practitioners I know take jobs elsewhere because there aren't enough patients to support them in Marin County. . .

It is necessary in this modern world to have specialists and research otherwise medical care would stagnate and never advance to a higher level.

U.N. 'Communist'; U.S. Should Quit

The recent observance of the 25th anniversary of the United Nations in San Francisco has led me to some serious reflections upon the impotence of this august body as a truly peace-keeping agency. The UN appears to be morally bankrupt, for in verity it has failed in an overwhelming majority of the problems before it, to bring about any of their solutions. To name but a few:

It has done nothing about the Arab-Israeli dispute.

It failed in assisting the Hungarians and Czechs to regain their freedoms.

It has sponsored the shameful treatment of peace-loving little Rhodesia.

It was the instrument to prevent victory in Korea, and today is half-free and half-slave.

It bombed and strafed Katanga Province in the Congo, killing civilians and destroying hospitals and places of worship, over the protests of even the Red Cross.

The UN was conceived by Communists (in the mind of Joe Stalin in his book "Marxism and the National Question, published in 1942).

The UN was created by Communists. (The State Department's volume entitled "Post-War Foreign Policy Preparation 1939-45" lists 17 key men who shaped the UN, 16 of whom including Alger Hiss, have been identified as Reds in sworn testimony.)

In addition, the lion's share of financial cost of the UN has been borne by the United States. The UN would be bankrupt today, were it not for us!

Many of us seriously question whether American interests are being genuinely served by continuing our membership in the UN.

Great Economist? Open To Question

In a half-page article on Page 27 of the June 27 issue, reference was made to "the great Harvard economist" — John Kenneth Galbraith. I would question the source of this reference.

It is my opinion that Mr. Galbraith writes very well about what he thinks, but doesn't think very well.

MARQUIS CHILDS

Specter Of Joe McCarthy Raised By Vice President's Rhetoric

WASHINGTON — By feeding the raw meat of unbridled assault to Republican diners, Vice President Spiro Agnew has set what must surely be some kind of world record. In six months he has raised close to $3 million. At one dinner alone, $100 a plate in Minnesota, the returns were over a million and that, his staff says with pride, is also a record.

But what may be good for the Republican Party is not necessarily good for the country. The time has passed when Agnew can be dismissed as a bad joke sent out to do his duty for king and country. Republicans are concerned. Sen. Mark Hatfield of Oregon said in public that Agnew is damaging the party as his attacks grow more and more extreme.

THERE WAS a Republican of recent memory, Sen. Joe McCarthy of Wisconsin, who did the party great harm. Broadening his onslaught with poison-tipped barbs, Agnew sounds increasingly like McCarthy. The other day he impugned the patriotism of Averell Harriman, Cyrus Vance, Clark Clifford and others. The intimation was that for political expediency or worse they had betrayed their country.

In the speech attacking Harriman, the vice president intimated that, as ambassador to Moscow, Harriman had sold out Poland for a kind word from Stalin and a pair of fine-blooded horses. This was Richard Nixon's tactic in the McCarthy era. He called Adlai Stevenson "a graduate of the Acheson College of Cowardly Communist Containment."

Sen. J. William Fulbright is a principal Agnew target, with the charge that as a defeatist he wants to rob the chief executive of his constitutional powers. The vice president would do well to look back at some recent history of his own party.

AS A SENATOR, Mr. Nixon was a co-sponsor of the Bricker Amendment. That amendment, pushed by Ohio's Sen. John J. Bricker, would have robbed the executive of a large part of the treaty-making power which under the Constitution is an element in executive responsibility for foreign policy.

The forces pushing the amendment charged that a series of United Nations conventions, with the United States a signatory to the U.N. treaty, would turn the country over to the one-worlders. Under the amendment no treaty would be binding if the Congress or the legislatures of the states chose to repudiate its terms.

For a newly elected Republican president, Dwight Eisenhower, and his secretary of state, John Foster Dulles, the controversy over the amendment was a source of anguish. For many McCarthyites it was a convenient stick to beat the one-worlders, the liberals and the pseudo-Communists.

The debate raged in the Senate, with opponents charging that the President would "no longer have control over foreign affairs since the Congress would regulate his conduct down to the smallest details." President Eisenhower wrote to the Republican leader of the Senate that the amendment would "shackle the federal government so that it is no longer sovereign in foreign affairs." A somewhat modified version of the Bricker Amendment, still opposed by the administration, failed of the necessary two-thirds majority by a single vote.

THE REPUBLICANS held narrow majorities in both houses of Congress with President Eisenhower's election in 1952. They lost that narrow hold in 1954. One reason for the setback, in the view of many observers at the time, was the deep division in the Republican party over McCarthyism and its dire consequences.

The so-called realists in the party had talked frankly of a high road and a low road — let McCarthy take the low road and show what he could do.

It was a Republican, finally, who as much as any single individual brought McCarthy to the bar of the Senate for censure and his ultimate downfall. But the damage had been done, damage to his party and, more serious, to the coherence and well-being of the country.

President Eisenhower ended the Korean war. He restored calm to the country. Today, with a ground war in Asia with 400,000 Americans involved and a casualty list of 42,000 dead, the situation is far more flammable. McCarthyism in whatever degree or kind is a grave risk.

Textile Import Quotas Peril U.S.—Japan Amity

By PHIL NEWSOM UPI Foreign News Analyst

A battle that no one wanted threatens the good relations between the United States and Japan.

It concerns failure of the two countries to agree on quotas for Japanese textiles coming into the United States, and the virtual certainty that the American Congress now will vote restrictions which could go far beyond textiles to other fields of industry.

The end result could be a trade war and incalculable damage to U.S.-Japanese cooperation in Asia.

It also could mean the growth of protectionism all over the world.

IT IS CLEARLY, as one American official put it, the wrong battle, over the wrong issue at the wrong time.

Americans place the dollar loss to competition from the Japanese textiles at about $300 million annually, only a fraction of the $8 billion total trade between the two countries.

The United States had demanded that Japan voluntarily reduce its textile shipments to the United States and had believed that Taiwan, Hong Kong and Korea would take similar action if Japan led the way.

The Japanese refused to accept an American claim that their exports of certain synthetics and woolens to the United States were inflicting serious damage on the U.S. textile industry and accused President Nixon of attempting to pay off a political debt.

THE TEXTILE industry is Japan's largest employer with approxinately 1.7 million employes.

The Americans estimate total annual sales of Japanese textiles in the United States at $569 million, or half of all Japanese garment exports.

Whether or not the American textile industry suffered the damage it claimed, a good portion of U.S. irritation with the Japanese has been due to the latter's refusal to lift restrictions on U.S. imports or to permit American capital to operate as freely in Japan as Japanese capital does in the United States.

Contributing also to American protectionism is a trade deficit with Japan that last year hit $1.5 billion.

THE QUARREL over a comparatively minor issue is especially ironical in that it comes just as the security pact between the two renewed itself for another year and seemed to be the harbinger of ever closer U.S. and Japanese relations in the decade of the 70s.

It was the sort of relationship both Nixon and Japanese Premier Eisaku Sato said they wanted but which now is endangered.

GOOD EARTH CRUSADE

The 'Pesky Varmints' Have Ecology Roles

By JOE WING

For thousands of years now, but especially in recent generations, man has been playing God to other creatures. The results have been devastating.

Whereas "God created every living creature that moveth, and blessed them, saying be fruitful and multiply," man has taken it upon himself to determine which shall live and which shall die.

There's a growing sentiment against such presumptuous omniscience, but the sort of people who think that the only good snake is a dead snake are apt to have just one standard for non-human life in general —

"What's it good for?"

THE BEST ANSWER is of course that it doesn't have to be good for a darned thing. The robin singing its spring song, the frog croaking in its pond, the hawk circling high overhead have no need to justify their existence. The eye of the maker is upon them too, and they have as much of a right as anybody to live their lives in peace.

But let's wrestle with the snake hater in his own ring and see what a few of the things he despises are in fact "good for."

SNAKES—The 2,000 species of snakes that inhabit nearly all of the world, except for a few places like Antarctica, Australia and Ireland, are meat eaters. Since their provender consists largely of insects and small mammals, they should be regarded benevolently, even though some of them prey also on birds and frogs. Water snakes help cull fish populations to the fishes' own good. Even poisonous species like rattlesnakes, water moccasins, cottonmouths and coral snakes use their venom mostly in hunting These kinds of ccurse should be given wide berth but it's been said the chances of being felled by a snake are about as great as of being struck by lightning. Of the 200-plus varieties in the United States, only a handful are poisonous.

"CHICKEN HAWKS" — The broad winged bird of prey that you see circling lazily is to blame only rarely for snatching chickens. If it isn't a carrion-eating vulture, and therefore not a real hawk at all, it may be any one of several species. Its diet probably consists largely of insects, mice and other rodents, for which it provides highly desirable controls. A few swift hawks do grab chickens more frequently but even their sins against man usually are balanced by the good they do.

ALLIGATORS — These survivors of the age of reptiles make all the difference between life and death for other denizens in southern swamps. They wallow out "gator holes" in which fish and other swamp life manage to survive in times of severe drouth. The tax that they levy of an occasional bird or fish is slight in comparison with the good they do.

SKUNKS — These woodland dwellers are quite peaceable if left alone and are welcomed by many farmers because they catch rodents and insets, although they may steal an egg or chicken on occasion.

BATS — The false myth that bats get entangled in women's hair obscures the fact that these creatures, the only mammals that fly, are effective insect eaters. And of course they aren't blind as a bat; not only can they see but they "see" in the dark by bouncing sound waves off objects. The blood sucking vampire bats are Latin American specials.

WASPS — Nobody likes to be stung, but if you respect wasps and hornets and their nests, you aren't likely to be. Like honey bees, they are classed as social insects, but they are carnivorous and repay your tolerance by preying on other insets.

COYOTES — Men often do their cruel best to wipe out these wild dogs, just as they have all but destroyed the timber wolf, grizzly bear and mountain lion. More and more people are sorry about this because the death of the meat eaters means the survival of swarms of rodents and of sick and crippled deer that might otherwise have been eliminated to the benefit of the herds. Much money is sometimes spent to poison coyotes whose sin has been to knock over a few chickens and lambs.

CROWS — There's no question but that crows have bad habits. They steal seedcorn, birds' eggs and fledglings. But farmers have learned to treat seed so they won't eat it, and the crows themselves expiate their sins by gobbling up a large variety of insects, along with almost anything else they can lay a beak on. One good thing about their situation is that, by and large, they are too smart for the crow haters. Although not cowed by mankind, they are wary, intelligent and excellent judges of the range of a gun. Even near population centers they often thrive.

DID YOU KNOW?

The last place Edgar Allan Poe would have seen a raven was at his door; ravens shun men. The great grizzly bear eats quantities of grass, berries, fruit and leaves. Crows sometimes sing sweetly, but rarely within earshot of snooping men.

Levy Hike Seen In San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— City assessor Joseph T. Tinney released figures Wednesday indicating a tax increase for San Francisco property owners.

Property in the city, he said, has an assessed valuation of $2.4 billion, $33.9 million more than last fiscal year.

However, the increase is not large enough to cover a $631 million city budget approved by supervisors without hiking the present tax rate of $12.29 per $100 of assessed valuation.

Helluva Way To Run A Railroad But It Makes Fine Conglomerate

WASHINGTON — It's hard for the ordinary citizen to understand why a $7 billion corporation such as the Penn Central Railroad could declare bankruptcy.

But this isn't the first time it's happened. The Larchmont, Saginaw and Tallahassee Railroad had a similar experience, and perhaps people will be able to understand the Penn Central situation if I explain what happened to the LS&T.

AS EVERYONE knows, the Larchmont, Saginaw and Tallahassee Railroad was one of the most profitable in the country. It specialized in bringing coals to New Castle, Pa.

In exchange for this monopoly, the LS&T had agreed to haul commuters from the suburbs into the cities of Larchmont, Saginaw and Tallahassee. While this was not a lucrative business, it was the price LS&T had to pay for using government rights of way.

Some time back, an executive of LS&T suggested that the railroad get into another business just in case the day might come when nobody wanted coals in New Castle.

"WHAT BUSINESS?" the chairman of the board asked.

"Why don't we buy a chocolate cake mix company? It certainly complements the railroad business."

So LS&T took the profits from their railroad and instead of investing in new equipment, bought a chocolate cake mix factory.

This was followed by the purchase of a latex bra company, which was followed by the takeover of a malpractice insurance company.

Every dollar the LS&T made from its railroading was poured into a new business venture. Before long LS&T was making greeting cards, building skyscrapers, drilling for oil and making a bid to buy the Panama Canal.

MEANWHILE, the LS&T's railroad was starting to suffer. Freight trains kept colliding with each other (the computers that used to keep them apart had been taken over by LS&T's book and magazine division), and cutbacks were made in passenger service.

When pressed by the passengers for better service, LS&T responded by raising commuter rates and locking all the washrooms on their passenger trains.

A citizen committee called on the LS&T's offices, which were now located in their 5,000-acre development known as Sky City.

The vice president of LS&T's Commuter Complaint Department (he was really working in the company's training department as an intern) said, "We are sympathetic with your problems and would be happy to improve the service and install new equipment, but we need the money for a sulphur mining project we've just taken a lease on in Canada."

"You owe it to the commuters," someone protested.

"WE OWE MORE to our stockholders. But I'll tell you what I'll do. I'll recommend we put lights back on the passenger trains during rush hour. It will be an expense, but it will show we have the public in mind."

Unfortunately, the vice president was overruled by the finance committee, and the passenger trains remained dark. Meanwhile, the major cash flow from bringing coals to New Castle started to dry up because so many customers were unhappy with LS&T's service. Without cash LS&T was in serious trouble.

So they hired President Nixon's old law firm to get them a subsidy from the Defense Department. When the story broke, the Defense Department had to turn them down, and LS&T had no choice but to file for bankruptcy.

The LS&T Railroad is now in the hands of the receivers, but thanks to wise investments in other fields the LS&T Holding Co. (which had spun off the railroad when it realized it couldn't be drained any more) is now worth $25 billion.

NO AD TODAY

What's the use?

It's Fourth of July Weekend

AND, as everybody knows, people don't read ads on the Fourth of July, or Easter, or Christmas. Or New Year's. Or in the summer.

UNFORTUNATELY, "everybody" is wrong.

ASK any readership research organization. You'll learn that people don't turn off their minds at Yuletide, Whitsuntide, high tide, or low tide.

NEWSPAPER readership doesn't go downhill during the skiing season, or the haying season.

ADVERTISING readership doesn't take a dip in the summer.

WE'VE celebrated many Fourths of July at the Independent-Journal. We've seen many summers. And we've learned that readership of both editorial and advertising pages stay at the same high level every day of every week and month of the year.

NO MATTER where you advertise, 'season' is no reason to draw a blank with your customers and prospects.

EVEN during holidays, people read.

THANKS for helping us prove it.

And – Oh, Yes,

Have a Good Holiday!

Legal Notice

NOTICE INVITING SEALED PROPOSALS

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that SANITARY DISTRICT NO. 2 OF MARIN COUNTY, a Subsidiary District of the Town of Corte Madera, will receive up to, but no later than, 2:00 o'clock P.M. of the 17th day of July, 1970, sealed bids for the award of a contract for the construction of improvements in the District in strict accordance with the plans and specifications therefor entitled "Sanitary Sewers — Madsen Road Assessment District," dated June, 1970, prepared by Brown and Caldwell, Consulting Engineers, and on file in the office of the Secretary of said district.

Said sealed proposals or bids shall be delivered to the Secretary of the Sanitary Board of said Sanitary District, 300 Tamalpais Drive, Corte Madera, California. Bids will be publicly opened, examined and declared on said day and hour by the Secretary who shall report to the Sanitary Board her findings, which findings shall be considered by said Sanitary Board at its special meeting to be held at said place on July 20, 1970, at 7:30 o'clock P.M.

Each bid shall be in accordance with said plans, specifications and other contract documents now on file in the office of the District Secretary located at 300 Tamalpais Drive, Corte Madera, California.

Said proposals or bids must be enclosed in a sealed envelope addressed "Sanitary District No. 2 of Marin County, 300 Tamalpais Drive, Corte Madera, California," and endorsed "Proposal for Sanitary Sewers — Madsen Road Assessment District."

All proposals or bids shall be accompanied by a certified or cashier's check payable to the order of the District amounting to ten percent (10%) of the bid, or by a bond in said amount and payable to said District, signed by the bidder and a corporate admitted surety or two individual sureties who shall justify before any officer competent to administer an oath, in double said amount, and over and above all statutory exemptions. Said check shall be forfeited or said bond shall become payable to said District in case the bidder depositing the same does not, within fifteen days after written notice that the contract has been awarded to him enter into a contract with the District, the faithful performance of which shall be secured by an undertaking in the amount of one hundred percent (100%) of the amount so bid, with sureties satisfactory to the said Sanitary Board, and which shall be accompanied by a labor and material bond in a sum equal to one hundred percent (100%) of the amount of said bid, under the provision of Chapter 3, comprising Sections 4200 to 4208, inclusive, of the Government Code of the State of California.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that on June 15, 1970, the Sanitary Board adopted a resolution determining the general prevailing rate of per diem wages in the locality in which the public work herein provided is to be done for each craft or type of workman needed to execute the contract, a copy of which wage scale is contained in and made a part of the specifications for said work, to which reference is hereby made for a full and detailed description thereof.

The Board reserves the privilege of rejecting any and all bids or to waive any irregularities or informalities in any bid or in the bidding.

No bidder may withdraw his bid for a period of forty-five (45) days after the date set for the bid opening.

Plans and specifications may be examined at the office of the District, 300 Tamalpais Drive, Corte Madera, California; at the Builder's Exchange, 859 South Van Ness Avenue, San Francisco; at the Builder's Exchange, 321 East 12th Street, Oakland; and at the Marin Builder's Exchange, 110 Belvedere Street, San Rafael. Plans and specifications may be obtained at the office of Brown and Caldwell, 66 Mint Street, San Francisco, California, upon deposit of $15.00 per set, $5.00 of which will be refunded if the set or sets delivered are returned in good condition within fifteen (15) days after the bid opening.

This notice is adopted pursuant to the Municipal Improvement Act of 1913 and the Improvement Bond Act of 1915 and in accordance with Resolution of Intention No. 9-70 adopted June 15, 1970, to which reference is hereby made for further detail.

SUMMONS (MARRIAGE)
CASE NUMBER 56679

Superior Court of California, County of Marin

Petitioner: LENETA THOMAS and
Respondent: FREDERICK LEE THOMAS

To the Respondent:

The petitioner has filed a petition concerning your marriage. You may file a written response within thirty days of the date that this summons is served on you. If you fail to file a written response within such time, your default may be entered and the court may enter a judgment containing injunctive or other orders concerning division of property, spousal support, child custody, child support, attorneys' fees, costs, and such other relief as may be granted by the court.

If you wish to see a lawyer for advice in this matter, you should do so promptly so that your written response, if any, may be filed on time.

High Traffic Toll Seen For Holiday

CHICAGO (UPI) — Between 560 and 660 Americans will lose their lives in traffic accidents and another 27,000 to 31,000 will suffer disabling injuries during this year's Fourth of July weekend according to the National Safety Council.

The holiday begins tonight at 6 p.m. local time and extends until midnight Sunday —a 78-hour period.

During the 1969 Fourth of July holiday, 609 persons were killed in accidents on the nation's roads.

Terra Linda Cuts Tax Rate 3 Cents With New Budget

The Terra Linda Community Services District tax rate will drop 3 cents to 90 cents per $100 assessed valuation for fiscal 1970-71, Fire Chief George Walser said today.

Walser said the tax rate decrease was due to an increase in assessed valuation as the budget, approved Tuesday, is actually $1,000 more than last year's budget of $64,000.

This year's budget, he said, includes a 6 per cent cost of living increase for the district's four full-time and one part-time employee. The new payroll totals $36,000.

Other budget items include $7,500 for street lighting, about $3,000 for new park lighting and improvement of fire equipment. The remainder of the budget is for normal operation costs and insurance, Walser said.

Controller Sees State In A Bind

UPLAND (UPI) — California must use "only the most stringent economy measures" if it hopes to balance its budget without increasing taxes, Controller Houston I. Flournoy said Wednesday night.

"Frankly, the overall prospects for financing governmental services are bleak," Flournoy told an Upland Chamber of Commerce banquet.

The state official said cities, counties and school districts face 'a severe revenue crisis and must have more state and federal aid or increase their already very high property taxes. The state, obviously, cannot provide more relief to local jurisdiction without raising taxes."

Youth Arraigned On Pot, Theft Charges

David Ray Anderson, 18, of 19 Balboa Drive, Novato, has been arraigned in Marin Municipal Court on charges of possessing marijuana and petty theft.

The youth, who was arrested in Novato Monday, is to return to court next Tuesday to enter pleas to the charges.

Car Theft Case Awaits Report

The case of Stephen Allan Thomason, 18, of 945 Via Escondida, Novato, has been referred to probation officers for a report on whether he can be tried in Marin Juvenile Court.

He is accused of stealing a car belonging to a Novato man on June 14.

Thomason is to return to municipal court July 14.

TELEVISION IN REVIEW

Nixon Displays Mastery Of Medium—Keeps His Cool

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—President Nixon's impressive command of the television medium as a tool for advocacy was on display again Wednesday night in a one-hour interview he gave to three newsmen.

The conversation, about foreign policy—and principally Southeast Asia—was carried in prime time by all three commercial networks. The reporters were Howard K. Smith of ABC-TV, Eric Sevaried of CBS-TV and John Chancellor of NBC-TV.

Nixon, whose determined effort to improve his television know-how has swiftly reached a level of tremendous competence, was interviewed in Los Angeles, which is not far from the Western White House at San Clemente, Calif.

An indication of Nixon's video confidence and ability is that Wednesday night's discussion was carried live and unedited from coast to coast on all three networks. And his fluency and preparation were there for all to see, even for viewers who may not always agree with this policies.

Two other presidents, John Kennedy and Lyndon Johnson, also indulged in these informal one-hour prime time video conversations with a trio of reporters. Kennedy started the practice with one broadcast, and Johnson did two programs.

But Nixon's conversation was the first such broadcast to go out live across the nation. The interviews with the two past presidents were taped and then edited before being releaseed.

What makes Nixon's television accomplishments most impressive is the fact that the home medium once was considered a crucial problem for him—a liability he had to conquer. Many persons still feel Kennedy's video edge over Nixon was the difference in the 1960 presidential race—especially in their television debates.

Wednesday night's interview was a rather polite affair, as is usual for these conversations. The entire hour was low-key. And Nixon seemed well-briefed on the principle of communications theorist Marshall McLuhan that television is a cool medium, not a hot one. In short, that cool personalities register more favorably than intense ones in the intimacy of viewers' homes.

A sparse, office-type layout was the setting for the interview, with the President and the newsmen seated in separate chairs around a circular low table of the kind used for coffee and magazines. Nixon wore a medium blue suit and a full-looking blue tie.

Even when egged on a bit in the questions, the President managed to keep his cool. In fact, he even managed to pass out several compliments to his interviewers. At one point, he told Smith that he remembered his World War II broadcasts from Europe. At another he said to the three newsmen: "All of you are historians."

Fight Against Tam Lights Starts Over

The bright security lights on Mount Tamalpais are shining in Mill Valley's eyes again, and Jeffory Morshead is reopening his campaign to have them modified or removed.

For months the Mill Valley resident has been fighting the lights, which he says shine in his eyes at night and irritate him. Apparently 198 others agree.

— that's how many people signed a petition asking the lights to be slanted away from Mill Valley.

For a time it appeared that his pleas had been heeded. Maj. William R. Edwards, Commander of the U.S. Air Force radar station atop the mountain, promised that the lights would be pointed away from Mill Valley, and on May 8 they were. Morshead wrote a thank-you letter to Edwards and put his petitions away.

But on June 23 the lights reappeared and no one seems to know why. Capt. Donald C. Jordan, temporary commander of the radar unit while Edwards is on vacation, would only confirm that the lights were once again shining.

NO COMMENT

"I don't want to comment at this time," he said when asked why he thought he had been ordered to turn them on.

Morshead said that the modification he suggested — that the lights be placed on shorter poles and be pointed into the radar facility instead of toward Mill Valley — would not affect their performance as security lights.

They are part of a standard security package made available to Air Force facilities and fail to take into account features unique to various locales, such as Mount Tamalpais.

"The top of the mountain is closed at night," Morshead said. "I can't see why they need them at all." A simple solution, he suggested, would be to switch the lights on only when necessary for security reasons.

MONDAY DEADLINE

Morshead has given Capt. Jordan until Monday to answer his latest request for a shutdown. After that, he said, he will begin distributing his petitions again and solicit conservation and other groups to help him.

"I even have heard some people questioning the necessity of having a radar site there at all. They claim that the facility is improperly discharging its sewage and are ready to attack it on those grounds," Morshead said.

Cut Cables Hit 100,000 Phone Users

SAN DIEGO (UPI)—Service to an estimated 60,000 telephones was expected to be restored by noon today after six cables were accidentally cut Wednesday.

A Pacific Telephone Co. spokesman said a construction crew cut through the cables, blacking out phones for 100,000 people in the Linda Vista and Clairemont sections of the city.

Phone users were able to call each other within their local exchanges, but all long distance calls and calls to other parts of the city were halted

Emergency equipment was moved in immediately to aid the Miramar Naval Air Station. The station's radar is linked to Lindbergh Field, the city's major commercial airport, and without it neither could tell where the other's planes were.

The County Operations Center, several hospitals, and city fire stations were without service. Residents were also unable to call the central police telephone number.

In the afternoon, quail may be found in cover such as hedgerows, plum thickets and large weed stands.

Brown New Drake Athletic Head

Upon the recommendation of his doctors, George Corson is no longer athletic director at Sir Francis Drake High School. He held the position since the San Anselmo school was opened in 1951.

Corson, 59, will remain as a physical education instructor and commissioner of the Marin County Athletic League, according to vice principal Francis Shafer, who made the announcement yesterday.

The athletic directorship now goes to Carl "Red" Brown, who in turn will quit as varsity basketball coach, to be replaced by P. E. department head Bob Fitzhenry.

Shafer said the school is reluctantly complying with medical advice that pressure be removed from Corson's schedule. "He's done a tremendous job for us and we hate to lose him," Shafer said.

Corson has been somewhat incapacitated, having undergone surgery on a problem hip twice within the last year. "I'm very sorry to have to give up the responsibilities," he said at his home yesterday.

One of the elder statesmen of the Marin County sports scene, Corson has served in the Tamalpais High School district since 1942. That year he was hired at Tamalpais High in Mill Valley, where he coached baseball, except for three war years, before moving to Drake. There, in addition to being athletic director, he served for two years as head football coach, and coached the baseball team until 1957.

Corson took a leave of absence in 1960-61 and traveled to Paris, France, where he was athletic director and baseball, football and golf coach at Paris American High School.

The following school year, in the spring of 1962, he became commissioner of the then three-year-old MCAL, filling the vacancy created by the death of Victor Jones.

Regarding his tenure as athletic director, Corson said, "It has been very enjoyable and rewarding working with the fine coaches, administration and students that have gone through our program these 19 years."

Brown, who will assume the office of athletic director in the fall, is without a doubt qualified for the job. During his 13 years at Drake he has at one time or another coached football, basketball, baseball, swimming and tennis.

"I'm looking forward to it. I'll be working with the whole program," he said, "and I'm looking forward to working with all the coaches."

Asked if he were contemplating any changes, Brown stated that he would like to see wrestling added to the program. "That's one thing I'd like to install right away," he said.

New cage coach Fitzhenry is no stranger to the basketball court. Back in the '50s he twice led Drake teams to the Tournament of Champions in Berkeley, and is in fact the only man besides Brown who ever coached the Pirate varsity.

MANY CHEERS, FEW BOOS

Denny's Return To Baseball

DETROIT (UPI)—Denny McLain said he "didn't know what to expect" when he stepped out of the dugout at Tiger Stadium for his 1970 debut as a major league pitcher, but it didn't take him long to find out.

As soon as the No. 17 on his shirt became visible, the fans—not all 53,863 of them but most of them—were up on their feet cheering. There were a few boos, but not enough to be heard.

"I thought it was great," said a smiling McLain after it was all over Wednesday night. The New York Yankees had gotten to the two-time Cy Young Award winner for five runs in the 5⅓ innings pitched, before being lifted by manager Mayo Smith for reliever Daryl Patterson.

The Tigers went on to win 6-5 in 11 innings.

Smith was greeted by a smattering of boos when he went out to the mound. For McLain, as he walked leisurely off the field, there were yet more cheers.

McLain had drawn a larger audience than that which attended the 1968 World Series game. In fact, it was the largest crowd since June 27, 1961, when the Tigers hoster the Chicago White Sox for a twi-night doubleheader. But it also was the first time since then that Tiger Stadium has sold standing-room-only tickets.

The fans weren't interested in McLain's past problems. Bruce Bissett, a teenager from suburban Sterling Heights, said he didn't think McLain's suspension from baseball last March by Commissioner Bowie Kuhn "was very necessary."

"He can do what he wants off the field," said Norma Steck-who stood up for the entire game. "He didn't do anything against me."

McLain was punished for his alleged association with gamblers in 1967.

"We all make mistakes," said J. Martin, a middle-aged man from Pittsburgh here on vacation. "I hope he wins."

McLain's teammates and coaches didn't have much to say. Before the game, most of them appeared irked over all the attention paid to McLain by the 71 newsmen on hand for his heralded appearance.

The same was true in the Tigers' dressing room afterwards.

"I think he's going to be all right," said a reluctant Cesar Gutierrez, Detroit shortstop, when asked about McLain's future this season.

"It's not for me to say," said an even more reluctant Mickey Lolich when asked the same question. Lolich, (6-8), had been expected to fill in as No. 1 man on the pitching staff during McLain's absence but has so far had the worst season of his major league career.

"If (Earl) Wilson had pitched five innings and given up five runs, you wouldn't have come to me and asked how I thought he looked," he told the persistant newsman.

Detroit manager Mayo Smith said he thought McLain "pitched very well," considering the circumstances. "He did a fine job."

Lanier, McCormick Show Their Class

By JOE SARGIS

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—When you start listing "class" baseball players you have to find a place for Hal Lanier and Mike McCormick.

The two lesser members of the San Francisco Giants were involved Wednesday in one of those situations that drive official scorers crazy. And yet both deported themselves just fine. Had they acted otherwise no one really could have faulted them.

HIGH POPUP

McCormick, the former Cy Young Award winner who doesn't get too many starts these days, retired the first six San Diego Padres in order. Then, Steve Huntz, leading off the third, hoisted an extremely high popup near second.

Lanier flipped his sunglasses down, took a bead on the ball and then at the last second shied away. Clearly, he had lost it in the sun.

"I looked up and had it lined up just fine," said Lanier, who had moved over about five steps from his shortstop position to take the play. "Then, all of a sudden it wasn't there."

While Lanier covered his head, the ball plopped to earth a foot behind him.

'BASE HIT'

Quickly, the official scorer ruled "base hit."

The scorer had an option and could have called it an error. The rules give a definite way out. But inasmuch as Lanier didn't touch the ball he felt it should go down as a hit.

Sports

Independent-Journal, 29
Thursday, July 2, 1970

Ordinarily, no one would have cared much and they didn't at the time but as McCormick kept on retiring one Padre after another through the sixth, things became a little different.

Lanier, cognizant of what had transpired, and McCormick, too, said he made up his mind that "if Mike goes all the way I was going to call the official scorer and ask him to change it to an error."

'ACT OF GOD'

McCormick said it "would have been a shame to give Lanier an error on that play. It was an act of god and the scorer was right in calling it a hit."

The scorer, Lanier and McCormick all got off the hook, so to speak, in the seventh when after two out Al Ferrara bounced a single up the middle for as clean a hit as there could be. A walk and the first of two three-run homers by Ollie Brown followed, so it all became academic.

The Giants won the game, 12-7, but before it was over Brown hit another three-run homer to set a San Diego club record of six runs driven in in a single game.

Dick Dietz drove in four San Francisco runs with a double and single after the Padres elected to intentionally walk Willie McCovey ahead of him and Ron Hunt added three more with a homer and single. Alan Gallagher drove in two with a homer and Lanier finished the day with three hits.

DODGERS

In all, the Giants, who are idle today before starting a three-game weekend series with the Los Angeles Dodgers, touched four San Diego pitchers for 15 hits, 10 of them coming off starter and loser Al Santorini (1-7).

The Giants at one point led by 11-0 and after McCormick weakened, Frank Reberger and Rich Robertson, his immediate successors, proved no mystery to San Diego hitters. Don McMahon finally came on to lock things up. He gained credit for his seventh save and McCormick went home with his third victory in six decisions.

WIMBLEDON SEMIFINAL

Rosewall Ends Taylor's Upset String

WIMBLEDON, England (UPI)—Ken Rosewall of Australia ended Briton Roger Taylor's giant-killing run at the 84th All-England tennis championships Thursday by downing the Britisher 6-3, 4-6, 6-3, 6-3 in a men's singles semifinal match.

Rosewall, the 35-year-old fifth seed, beat the 16th seeded British lefty with a clinical display of shot-making as the veteran Aussie reached the final for the third time.

The match took one hour 50 minutes to complete on a windy and bitterly cold day that had 15,000 center court fans huddled in top coats.

Rosewall, before he turned professional in the late 1950s, was beaten by Joroslav Drobny in the 1954 final and two years later by fellow Aussie Lew Hoad.

Taylor was bidding to become the first Englishman to reach the Wimbledon finals since Fred Perry in 1936. He had reached the semifinals by eliminating Clark Graebner of New York on Wednesday, 6-3, 11-9, 12-10.

The other men's semifinal match Thursday sent 32-year-old Andres Gimeno of Spain against Australian John Newcombe.

In the other major action Wednesday, Australia's Margaret Court and Billie-Jean King of Long Beach, Calif., the top two seeds who won the title five times between them since 1963, qualified for the ladies singles final Friday.

Mrs. Court, the 1963-65 winner, overcame an ankle injury suffered in a quarter final Monday, to trounce Rosemary Casals of San Francisco, 6-4, 6-1 in 50 minutes. Mrs. King, bidding for her fourth Wimbledon crown, beat unseeded Francoise Durr of France, 6-3, 7-5.

Leaders 11 Miles Apart In Yacht Race

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Extra sails were hoisted as the leaders were less than 11 miles apart going into the final 500 miles of the Los Angeles-to-Tahiti yacht race with a landfall expected sometime Saturday.

The 78-foot ketch Mir held the short lead of 11 miles over the 73-foot Blackfin at the Wednesday rollcall. Mir, from British Columbia, was 597 miles out while Blackfin reported herself at 608 miles from Tahiti.

Trailing in order were Aries at 707 miles, Widgeon at 782, Jubilation at 836 and Vision at 870.

In the handicap competition, Widgeon a 54-foot sloop skippered by Norman Bacon of Santa Barbara, Calif., was the overall and Class A leader. Numse II, a 40-foot sloop, led Class B.

Other position reports Wednesday were Narragansett 936 miles, Simoon 943, Numsee II 955, Quasar 1,012, Spirit, 1,184, Misty 1,321 and Tangent 1,401. The French yacht Pen Duick III maintained radio silence as it has done since the race started.

New Golf Tourney Added To Slate

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Professional Golfers Association today added a new tournament, the $130,000 Bahama Islands Open, to the 1970 pro golf tour schedule.

Joseph C. Dey, commissioner of the PGA Tournament Players Division, said the Bahama Islands Open replaces the $25,000 West End Classic, a satellite event played on Grand Bahama Island since 1967.

The Bahama Open will be played Dec. 10-13 at King's Inn and Golf Club at Freeport. It will be co-sponsored by the Bahaman government and the PGA Tournament Players Division.

Clay To Don Boxing Garb In Exhibition

NEW YORK (UPI) —A familiar face will be in the ring July 9 at Charleston, S.C. for a charity exhibition fight.

Former heavyweight champion Cassius Clay will don his fighter's garb for the first time since June 15, 1967, when he fought an exhibition against Al "Blue" Lewis and Orville Qualls, to put on a charity exhibition against Jeff Merritt from Miami, Fla.

Clay, 28, who had his title taken away from him when he refused to report for induction in the U.S. Army, is expected to utilize the fight as a launching pad for a possible title fight against Joe Frazier in Detroit in September.

Promoter Reggie Barrett has announced that the fighters will wear heavily padded gloves and headgear and that, even though the fight is a charity affair, Clay will be paid his traveling expenses.

The exhibition, which will be staged in a 4,000-seat arena for $10, $6, and $4, will be televised by the American Broadcasting Company on a delayed basis for its "Wide World of Sports" program.

Terra Linda Wins DiMag League Tilt

Bob Barry's sixth inning double drove home two runs to give Terra Linda an 11-10 victory over host San Marin last night in the Marin County Joe DiMaggio Baseball League.

Terra Linda also had strong support from Jim Lazzarini who drove in three runs with three hits in four at-bats and Tom Sherbert who had two hits and two runs-batted-in.

Terry Ilehert and Larry Brown kept San Marin in the game, each with a double, single and two RBI.

Toby's Truckers rapped Healdsburg 8-2 on Steve Sherry's four hits in five at-bats and three RBI. Tom Olson had a triple and double and Scott Cozza and Kevin Keating each hit two singles for the winners.

And in another game last night, Italian Club nipped San Rafael, 2-1.

Drake Pirates defeated Mill Valley Chiefs 10-8.

Campaneris Bigger Slugger Than Reggie Jackson? Yep!

CHICAGO (UPI)—You would have called some guy a idiot if he had bet that halfway through the Oakland A's 1970 season, little Bert Campaneris would be leading Reggie Jackson in home runs and runs driven in.

But that was the case today as the A's sought a sweep of their three-game series in Chicago. Campaneris blasted his 11th homer of the season, a two-run shot in the final inning, to assure Rollie Fingers a 3-0 victory Wednesday night in the intense humidity of White Sox Park.

ONE AHEAD

The small but muscular shortstop now is one homer in front of Jackson and has 32 RBI to lead Reggie by four in that department. Last season Jackson belted 47 homers to Campy's two and had 118 RBI to 25 for Campaneris.

Fingers defied the 94-degree heat for 6⅓ innings by allowing just three hits and one base on balls. He fanned six batters and levelled his record at 5-5.

Oakland manager John McNamara feared the heat would take its toll, so Paul Lindblad came to the mound in the seventh. He pitched flawlessly for 1⅔ innings and Jim Grant set the White Sox down in the ninth to notch his 12th save.

IN SIXTH

Fingers, who seldom gets many runs to work with, needed only one Wednesday night. He got it in the sixth when Felipe Alou singled off loser Gerry Janeski, hustled to second on a groundout and came home on Sal Bando's base hit.

Campaneris ripped his homer three innings later after Frank Fernandez' pop fly was allowed to drop for a single.

Fingers' won-lost record is nothing to scream about. But his 3.13 earned run average proves he's been a reliable starter who just doesn't get the offensive support enjoyed by other Oakland hurlers.

0.92 ERA

Grant lowered his phenomenal earned run average to 0.92 to go with his 12 saves and three victories. He has allowed just one earned run in his last 40⅓ innings. Lindblad, meanwhile, has not been scored upon since June 16.

The A's have won four straight. But Minnesota also has been winning, so Oakland still trails the first place Twins by 5½ games in the AL West.

Cain's Tires edged Foust Chevron 2-1 and the Scrappers outslugged Saleme Construction 9-8 last night in San Rafael Softball League playoff games at Albert Field.

Courage In Action With The White Sox

(It was a hot night in Sherman, Texas. On the mound for the local team was a lanky, poker-faced pitcher who was to win 18 games that season and to win that night, 3-2, with a winning hit in the eighth inning. Which was remarkable. Because, nine years before, he had blown his right leg off eight inches above the knee in a hunting accident. "I shot the that day. In the stands that night at Sherman was the screenwriter, Douglas Morrow. And thus was the wrong rabbit," he told his wife as she came upon him Academy Award-winning picture, "The Monty Stratton Story," born.)

(THE ALLIED Army was toiling up the boot of Italy. The Germans were making the U.S. 88th Infantry pay heavily for every inch of real estate. On the night of December 7, 1944, a German shell wiped out all but one of a 12-man patrol. Corporal Lou Brissie was spared. If you can call having two shattered legs being spared. He lay for six hours half-in and half-out of a mountain creek. When they carried him to the evacuation hospital, the doctor briskly suggested amputation. Lou Brissie shook his head. "No," he said. "I'm a baseball player, a pitcher. Without my legs, I'm nothin'." Lou Brissie reported to the Philadelphia Athletics on crutches but he was to win 14 games for them in 1947 and 16 in 1948.)

(IT WAS August 11, 1969. The sun was searing the hot coastal plain of the firing range as the Marine reservists moved in for mortar practice. "Swab 'em out!" came the command. A young Marine dutifully reached in with a ramrod. There was an explosion. Swab, mortar round, ramrod — and Carlos May's right thumb — were all blown toward the Pacific Ocean. Carlos May had a stump of a right hand. What was left of his thumb was imbedded in his wrist and bones, blood, nerves and tendons leaked over his hand. Two days before, Carlos May had been batting .281 with 18 homers and 18 doubles for the Chicago White Sox and was well on his way to becoming rookie of the year. "Maybe you better forget baseball," the doctor said dubiously as he began a long series of skin grafts at the Long Beach Naval Hospital. "Get me a box of balls for when I get home," Carlos May instructed his wife.)

"COURAGE," someone once said, "is not divisible." It is an absolute word like "unique," or "perfect." You can't amputate it, graft it, bottle it, package it, buy it or sell it. Those who have it are stuck with it.

Carlos May sat in a locker room the other night and held out a right hand that looked like a badly-sewn mitten. Part of his stomach made a mound between his index finger and thumb knuckle.

IF YOU were born with that deformity, it would be a miracle to be able to grip a bat and throw a ball with it. To have had it only eight months and to be batting .291 against major league pitching — well, I guess, "incredible" is an absolute word, too.

"I went home and I got my wife to start rolling the ball on the ground," the 21-year-old outfielder recalle. "I wanted to get the feel of picking up a ball up. She rolled it to me by the hour. She's got a lot of guts. She's a great lady."

THAT NIGHT, in Anaheim Stadium, the Angels' fastest baserunner was on third with the bases loaded and one out in a scoreless tie when the batter hit a long fly to left. Sandy Alomar tagged up because it was a tough throw even for a guy with thumbs. Sandy Alomar was out at the plate on a throw on the fly from Carlos May and the inning — and the Angels — were finished. It was the second guy in a week Carlos May had thrown out at the plate.

It wasn't always that easy. When Carlos May reported to spring training, he ripped his thumb open with his first swing. Tough men with tobacco-chaws in their teeth turned away lest they get sick.

"I WAS not concerned. I knew it would heal," Carlos said.

"When I first went to the hospital, I felt sorry for myself. Then I looked around. I saw guys with no eyes, guys with no legs, guys with half a head, guys who couldn't talk, walk, hear, guys with no mind or half a mind. I began to think, 'What am I griping about?' "

SOME GUYS go through a 20-year big league career with two eyes, legs, 10 fingers, toes, all their teeth and ears and get 100 grand a year and complain through every inning of it. Carlos May is only 21 years old and has already learned the luckiest lesson any of us can learn; it doesn't have to be this good. He made a rookie-of-the-year in a much more major league than the American, in my book.

SOCCER SHOULD STAY

District May Have Cut Wrong Sport

By DAVID EINSTEIN

Feeling the financial squeeze that is resulting from the city's failure to pass a school tax hike in the last election, the Novato School District Trustees last week trimmed its 1970 - 71 budget, and in so doing got rid of four varsity sports at Novato and San Marin high schools.

Wrestling, cross country, water polo and soccer were given the ax, and the only hope for their return lies in a special election to be held July 28 in which the voters will again have a shot at the tax bill.

The sports in question are not, according to district Supt. James Bunker, classified as major sports, which he says are limited to football, basketball, baseball and track. Their vulnerability is further increased because they are the newest of the schools' sports. It would seem reasonable, then, that if some sports had to go, they would be the ones.

Yet since what matters here is money, the sports that are eliminated should be the ones that cost the most, do not pay for themselves and are played by the least number of students.

Basketball, which last year cost the district the most per player of any sport — $80.85 in coaches' salaries and transportation for 24 players on the San Marin and Novato varsities — pays for itself, through gate receipts, and in fact helps to pay for other sports.

Football, at $41.41 per player, likewise pulls its own weight, plus supplying most of the money for the student body funds.

Between basketball and football in cost is baseball, the sport that without a doubt is the biggest relative drain on the district budget. Consider, without taking into account the cost of equipment - bats, balls, uniforms and of course the field - it cost the district $60.35 per player last year to field varsity baseball teams at Novato and San Marin. Only 12 players were on each of those teams.

Fifty - six students went out for soccer at the schools, at a cost of $11.59 per player, the least of any sport. Only football and track had greater participation. But soccer is not a "major" sport, so it had to go.

If any sport can be played at no expense, soccer is it. All you need is a ball. The field can be, and in Marin county usually is, a modified football field with makeshift goals.

And if any players are worth putting into uniforms, soccer players are; their season parallels that of football, with which they fight a losing battle for publicity, fans and use of the field. They must play for the fun of it.

It will be noted that while the district chose to do away altogether with soccer and three other non-major sports, it decided to keep three junior varsity sports. The complete baseball program last year cost the district $1,725.35, again minus expensive equipment. The entire cost of soccer was $649.20. J.V. baseball was $144.80 more expensive than the non-major sport. And the varsity and J.V. baseball teams together had only eight more players than the varsity soccer teams.

The facts make clear that student participation, which is the only true measure of how major a sport is, was ignored by the board in its decision to drop soccer. But more unfortunate than that, the board made its decision without consulting the resident experts on the issue. That would be the students.

BASEBALL ROUNDUP

Cubs Break Slump, With Cards' Help

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Whatever is ailing the Chicago Cubs seems to be catching.

The Cubs have been playing baseball that has been almost beyond belief the last two weeks while losing 12 straight games. The Cubs have been making errors of commission and omission and haven't even been the reasonable facsimile of a major league club.

But when the Cubs snapped their losing streak Wednesday night, it was because the St. Louis Cardinals started throwing the ball around like little leaguers. Combined with a four-hitter by Ferguson Jenkins, the result was a 5-0 victory for the Cubs.

Jenkins and rookie Jerry Reuss were hooked up in a 0-0 duel in the seventh when the Cubs got runners to second and third with one out. Paul Popovich then grounded to second baseman Julian Javier and the fun started for the Cubs.

Javier threw to the plate in an attempt to choke off a run but his throw was wild. Catcher Joe Torre retrieved the ball and threw to Reuss, who was covering the plate. But his throw hit the runner for the second error on the play. Two runs scored on the two errors and Popovich wound up on third and the Cubs were on their way to a four-run inning that wrapped up the game.

The Cubs, who were 4 1-2 games ahead of the National League's East Division when their slump started, are now 3 1-2 back in a third place tie with the Cards. Pittsburgh is in second, a game behind the New York Mets and the division could feature the tightest race in the majors this year.

Jenkins is optimistic the Cubs can now make a comeback. "We were down before this game but this victory is going to help. We're going home to meet Pittsburgh. They beat us in their park last week but we're going to jump them," Jenkins said.

In other games, Pittsburgh edged New York 4-3, San Francisco drubbed San Diego 12-7, Montreal swept a double-header from Philadelphia 11-1 and 4-1, Cincinnati routed Atlanta 9-2, and Los Angeles beat Houston 6-3.

In the American League, Boston beat Washington 6-5, Baltimore blanked Cleveland 3-0, California nipped Milwaukee 4-3, Oakland blanked Chicago 3-0, Minnesota edged Kansas City 2-1 in 10 innings and Detroit beat New York 6-5 in 11 innings.

The Mets looked like they were going to take a three-game lead in the East and sweep a three-game series from the Pirates when Jim McAndrew had a 3-1 lead in the eighth. But pinch-hitter Gene Clines and Matty Alou hit two-out singles and Richie Hebner followed with his second homer of the year to win the game for the Pirates and tighten the race. Dock Ellis was tagged for 10 hits in seven innings but got the win.

The Reds proved they can hit in their new park the same way they used to hit in Crosley Field. After being held to two runs in the first game there Tuesday night, they bombarded the Braves as Tony Perez and Pete Rose drove in a total of seven runs and Tommy Helms added a two-run homer. Perez drove in four runs with two doubles while Rose drove in three runs with a triple and a sacrifice fly. Wayne Simpson pitched a six-hitter to boost his record to 12-1.

Bill Grabarkewiz hit a three-run homer in the fifth inning and scored the tie-breaking run, a three-run eighth on Willie Davis' single as the Dodgers beat the Astros. It was the 1,000th game played in Los Angeles since the club moved from Brooklyn. Claude Osteen got the win to boost his record to 11-7.

FIGHTS LAST NIGHT

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — David Oropeza, 147, Phoenix, Ariz., outpointed Peter Cobblah, 144½, Ghana (10). Eddie Mazon, 139, San Diego, stopped Richard Flores, 137, Tucson, Ariz. (3). Jorge Gomes, 121, San Jose, Calif., stopped Carlos Barragan, 122, San Diego (6).

South Star Cagers Outclass The North

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

OAKLAND — Glenn McDonald of Jefferson High in Los Angeles led seven teammates in double figure scoring Wednesday night as the South completely outclassed the North 110-77 in the first All-State prep Basketball Classic.

McDonald wound up with 16 points as coach Howard Lyon of Millikan High in Long Beach turned loose an imaginative offense for a crushing 24-5 lead after the first quarter.

in the California Jr. Tennis

John Errecart of Lincoln High in Stockton dominated the North with 26 points, but his club committed 28 ball control errors.

Football

SAN JOSE — Cliftonn McNeil, leading receiver in the NFL two years ago but a flop last season, figures sprint star John Carlos will make it big in pro football.

Carlos, who holds the world record in the 100-yard dash at 9.1 seconds, signed Wednesday with the Philadelphia Eagles though his football experience goes only as far as the sandlot.

"John has tremendous potential and he has good hands," McNeil said. "I think he can make it."

McNeil, recently traded by San Francisco to the New York Giants, has been working out with "The World's Fastest Human" at San Jose State College, Carlos' alma mater.

Track And Field

Golf

LONDON, Ont. — Mike Hill, brother of U.S. Open runner-up Dave Hill, fired a course record six-under-par 66 to win the pro-am preliminary to today's start of the $125,000 Canadian Open golf tourney.

MUSKOGEE, Okla. — Shirley Englehorn, who won four straight tournaments earlier this year, was made the favorite for today's start of the U.S. Women's Open golf tournament.

Auto Racing

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. — Carl Yarborough set a Daytona International Speedway record of 191.640 miles per hour to earn the pole position for Saturday's Firecracker 400 stock car race.

New Owners Provide New Name, So, Now It's Mini Golf Of Marin

Now open about 10 days under new ownership and a new name is the miniature golf course at 55 Vivian Way, San Rafael, across from the Country Club Bowl.

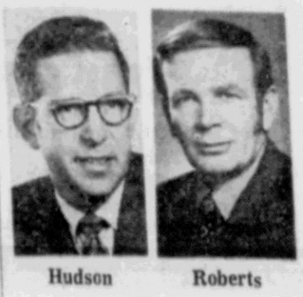
Formerly known as the Arnold Palmer Miniature Golf Course, it's been changed to Mini Golf of Marin. New owners David McRee and Scott Palmer have cleaned out the weeds and are remodeling and repainting. They have also changed some of the greens and plan to keep changing the hazards to make the playing more interesting.

This is a side line for both owners. McRee is an interior decorator. Palmer is a dancing instructor. Both live in San Geromino Valley. Hours will be from noon to 10 p.m. through the week and from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. (or longer) Saturdays and Sundays. A special program is planned for this Fourth of July weekend.

EARNEST H. STONE of San Rafael has been promoted to assistant vice president in the San Francisco staff training department of United California Bank.

TWO SAN RAFAEL MEN, Ralph Lee) Hoy and Allen Firman, and Glenn O. Retke of San Anselmo have been registered as Certified Electronic Technicians by the National Electronic Associations, Inc., having completed all of the organizations requirements and passed written examinations.

DAVID B. HUDSON of San Rafael has been promoted to second vice president of Western Mortgage Corp. He was previously assistant vice president in the commercial loan department.



Hudson Roberts

E. DOUGLAS ROBERTS, who gave up his job as executive manager of the Marin Builders Exchange for the presidency of Construction Administration and Insurance, has pronounced the latter to be officially in business, though it was organized around the first of last year.

The company essentially provides members of builder's exchanges with service in the casualty, life, disability and workmen's compensation fields and is licensed as an agency by a number of group insurance carriers. Initial concentration is among the eight exchanges in the Bay Area. Future plans are to expand these operations to service the rest of the exchanges throughout the state.

Also being considered is computerized billing, group license and welfare bonds, group travel arrangements, management and consultant contracts for small exchanges and special projects.

A. Clyde Jones, president of Rafael Floor Covering and a director of Marin Builders Exchange is a director of Construction Administration. The office is at 110 Belvedere Street, San Rafael and is staffed by Lois McFarling, Doris Christensen and Sue Kutlik. Herbert O'Neil is in the field.

IT BECOMES increasingly clear why George Dexter gave up his Pontiac-GMC and American Motors dealerships without so much as a murmer of objection — he's been making hay on his foreign cars.

Last month his Annex Motors sold a total of 105 Volvos and Datsuns, and his Dexter Toyota agency sold 83 Toyotas. Salesmen were treated to a steak and beans dinner at Ranch Nicasio — with the big winners getting the steaks. At the top was William Robinson, who sold 33 Toyotas. As for Dexter himself, he and his wife will take a trip to Sweden in September, with the tab paid by Volvo Motors.

Work has begun on preparing Dexter's property on Francisco Boulevard, San Rafael, for construction of the new Dexter Toyota showrooms, which will be moved from Larkspur in three or four months.

K. L. RICE JR. of Tiburon, vice president of Hoefer, Dieterich and Brown, has been named President of the Year by the American Advertising Federation. He has been president of the San Francisco Advertising Club, which recently presented him with a life membership.

MARK II RESTYLED

Toyota's Mark II, introduced in this country just one year ago, will sport a newly designed front grille and restyled rear deck during its second year. All three models, two-door hardtop, four-door sedan and four-door station wagon, will feature four-speed synchromesh transmission with three-speed automatic optional. Cars will be shown in Marin through Dexter Toyota, Larkspur, and Novato Toyota, Novato.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Zurn Industries Good For Long-Term Gain

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I bought Zurn Industries at 35. Should I buy more now or add to my shares of the Mutual Fund for Investing in Government Securities? — T.B.

A. Pollution stocks, in general, continue to sport high price/earnings multiples and as a result are speculative and highly vulnerable. Now down about 20 points from its 1970 high of 38, Zurn is characteristic of this. Despite a 30 per cent sales gain for the fiscal year ended March 31, 1970, per share net declined from 73 cents to 51 cents. A continuing cost-price squeeze, unfavorable weather conditions which delayed shipments and unusually large, nonrecurring relocation and start-up costs dragged down results. (Zurn has made a number of acquisitions to broaden its line of equipment and controls in the air, water and solid pollution areas.)

As of March, backlog was up 55 per cent year-to-year; however, 1970-71's results may be little improved in view of the economic situation. Retain shares for long-term gains. Although I would avoid additional purchases of Zurn at this juncture, I see no reason not to add to the Mutual Fund for Investing in Government Securities.

Q. I have shares of Life Insurance Investors, Inc., bought at 17. What has happened to it beside the market downturn? Should I hold or sell? — S.B.

A. Life Insurance Investors Fund's portfolio dropped only 7 per cent in net asset value in 1969 — less than half of the loss reported for the average of all funds. Until the severe market decline in mid-May, your fund was again performing above-average with only an 8.7 per cent loss. While such losses are discouraging, your shares should be held. The insurance industry is one of the fastest-growing segments of the economy. And expansions into other areas such as mutual funds and group policies further enhance prospects. Under more favorable economic conditions and an improved market climate, shares should recover.

Stocks Close Mixed On Dull Market

NEW YORK (UPI)—Preholiday dullness characterized trading on Wall Street Thursday as major market averages finished mixed.

Shortly before the bell, the UPI Marketwide Indicator was off 0.33 per cent on 1,529 issues crossing the tape. Of these, 642 declined and 567 gained.

Turnover of around 8 1-4-million shares compared with 8,610,000 shares Wednesday.

Analysts noted that in the absence of dramatic news and with a three-day holiday coming up, most traders were not too anxious to make additional commitments.

News expected to be of interest to traders was to be announced after the close. The labor department will release unemployment figures for June.

Helping to provide early support of the market was a statement by Federal Reserve Board Chairman Arthur F. Burns in Tokyo. He said he expected the growth of the U. S. economy to resume in the near future.

Earlier in the week Harold Passer, assistant commerce secretary, predicted the nation's total output of goods and services would show an increase in the second quarter of the year after back-to-back quarterly declines.

Prices were mixed in quiet trading on the American Stock Exchange.

SWIMMERS DIVE AS TEMPERATURES CLIMB

Young swimmers invade the lagoon at the Marin Civic Center seeking relief from blistering heat. The high recorded yesterday was 100 degrees in Mill Valley and 97 in San Rafael. The swimmers were apparently unaware yesterday as they romped in the cool water that the pond is off limits to bathers because of potential health hazards. The county plans to erect "No Swimming" signs next week as youths have taken down earlier posted signs. Elsewhere in Marin and Southern Sonoma counties, a high of 97 was reported yesterday at Novato; 93 at Tamadpais Valley, and 96 at Petaluma. The Bay Area forecast, with temperatures climbing at noon today, calls for more of the same tomorrow with highs in the 90s. (I-J photo)

Nixon Asks Peace Push In Indochina

New Envoy To Paris; Mideast Fear Recited

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — President Richard M. Nixon named a new and prestigious Vietnam negotiator last night and offered to withdraw all U.S. forces from Vietnam within a year if Hanoi agrees to do likewise.

Both the decision to upgrade the talks and the declaration that all Americans would be withdrawn—earlier he had limited this to "major portions"—appeared to be concessions aimed at nudging Hanoi into meaningful talks at Paris.

Otherwise, the President took a relatively tough stance in his hour-long, nationally televised foreign policy discussion.

He warned Hanoi it faced only prolonged bloodshed if it did not negotiate and said he would bomb its air defenses if it did not stop shooting at American reconnaissance planes.

Nixon warned the Middle East poses a greater danger to the world than does the war in Vietnam because the United States and the Soviet Union could be drawn into a confrontation there neither nation wants.

Terming the Mideast situation "terribly dangerous," Nixon said the conflict between Arab and Jew involves Moscow and Washington—"A collision of the superpowers."

For the job Henry Cabot Lodge quit last December in disgust over lack of progress, Nixon chose David K. E. Bruce, 72, a veteran diplomat and former undersecretary of state.

"If the enemy is willing to negotiate with our new ambassador, we will get them all out within a year," Nixon said of the troop withdrawals.

"We hope this move on our part will be reciprocated by a similar move on the part of the North Vietnamese in attempting to find a peaceful solution to the war in Vietnam."

Nixon's televised interview with Howard K. Smith of ABC, John Chancellor of NBC and Eric Sevareid of CBS was greeted in Washington with mixed reactions.

Bruce, whom the President termed "one of America's most distinguished diplomats" will "be free to negotiate in a very flexible manner," Nixon said.

Bruce, a former ambassador to West Germany, France and Great Britain, will meet with the President at the Wester White House July 4 and is expected to take up his new position in Paris about Aug. 1.

Nixon announced the appointment at the beginning of a unique hour-long review of his foreign policy that provided the most complete look yet of his assessment of what the future

'Volunteers' Run State In Budget Snarl

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—A bitterly split California Legislature groped today for a way out of a budgetless deadlock that left state government unable to pay any of its bills.

Partisan wrangling over an election-year $6.59 billion version of Republican Gov. Ronald Reagan's proposed budget dragged the vast state bureaucracy into the second day of the new fiscal year without a spending program.

It was the second time in as many years that Democrats stalled passage of Reagan's spending blueprint beyond the constitutional deadline. Until 1969, such a situation was without precedent.

A second Assembly-Senate Conference Committee was appointed to draft a compromise budget bill but it failed to do so by Wednesday night so both Houses adjourned until today without taking action.

Even without a budget and with a "volunteer" work force whose members expressed confidence they will be paid eventually, state government appeared to function normally. Without a budget, the state is prohibited from contracting any new fiscal obligations.

Assembly Democrats and Republicans blamed each other for failure to agree on three main areas of contention whose resolution would appear to pave the way to compromise.

At issue was assurance that

MARIN, SONOMA IN HOLIDAY MOOD

A Fourth With All The Trappings

Parades, bell-ringing, fireworks displays and all-day entertainment programs will greet Independence Day Saturday in Marin and southern Sonoma.

Major celebrations are planned, as in years past, in Larkspur-Corte Madera, Sausalito, Petaluma, Mill Valley and Bolinas.

The holiday will have little effect on official agencies' operations, falling as it does on a Saturday with only scattered compensatory closings tomorrow.

The Independent-Journal will publish as usual.

Fireworks displays will be held Saturday in Larkspur's Piper Park, on Richardson Bay in Sausalito, at the Sonoma-Marin fairgrounds in Petaluma, and at Pueblo Park in Santa Venetia.

Petaluma will welcome the holiday with its traditional bell-ringing at 11 a.m., led by Mayor Helen Putnam.

Larkspur and Corte Madera will hold a two-day celebration, starting with a family pizza party from 5 to 9 p.m. tomorrow in Corte Madera Town Park.

A pancake breakfast will be held from 9 a.m. to noon Saturday in town park, following flag raisings at 8:45 a.m. by Boy Scouts at Corte Madera Town Hall and Larkspur City Hall.

At 9:30 a.m., a four and a half hour program by the American Heritage of Performing Arts will start in town park, with Indian music, a jazz band, a karate demonstration, a bagpipe band, country music, and Japanese, Polynesian, Greek and soul dancing.

Also in town park starting at 10 a.m. Saturday will be the arts and crafts festival. Free pony rides for children will be provided from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., Presto the Magician will perform at 11 a.m., and puppeteer Norman Barry will perform at 1 p.m.

The annual baseball game between Corte Madera and Larkspur volunteer firemen will start at 10 a.m. at Joe Wagner Field in Larkspur. Little League All-Star players will play their managers in a 1 p.m. game.

The parade, with more than 60 entries, will start at 3 p.m. on Doherty Drive in Larkspur, along Magnolia Avenue and Tamalpais Drive to the Corte Madera Shopping Center. Guests will include Miss Marin, Lynn Baker, Maid of Marin Angela Spells, supervisors John F. McInnis and Louis H. Baar, municipal and chamber of commerce officials from both cities, and the Corte Madera and Larkspur citizens of the year, who will be named at Friday's pizza party.

A spaghetti dinner will start at 5 p.m. in the Corte Madera recreation center.

A demonstration of model sailplane flying will start at 7:30 p.m. in Piper Park, followed by the fireworks display starting at 9:10 p.m.

In Sausalito, the fireworks will start at 9 p.m. over the bay west of Carl Gabrielson Park.

In Petaluma, supervised games for children will start at 10 a.m. Saturday at McNear Park. Also scheduled at the park is a double-header baseball game between the Petaluma Leghorns and the Lear Electric Co. team starting at 11 a.m. A barbecue will be held from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the park, and the municipal swimming pool

U.S. Reports Sharp Rise In Casualties

SAIGON (UPI) — Guerrillas hurling bundles of explosives killed eight Americans and wounded four in an attack against a U.S. paratroopers base today. Nine other Americans were missing in the loss of four aircraft over Laos.

The attack against the 101st Airborne Division camp 25 miles west of Hue inflicted the heaviest American casualties since Allied forces went into Cambodia the last of April.

Military spokesmen said the Communist troops charged the paratrooper position firing small arms and throwing bundles of TNT. The paratroopers called in artillery fire and helicopter gunships. The Americans found the bodies of 15 of the attackers after the assault was turned back.

In a weekly report, American spokesmen said U.S. combat deaths in Indochina rose sharply last week. They said 104 Americans were killed and 802 wounded during the week ending Saturday, compared to 80 killed and 643 wounded during the previous week. Thirty-four of the Americans were killed in Cambodia.

South Vietnamese losses dropped to their lowest point in more than four months. Government spokesmen said South Vietnamese forces lost 307 killed and 1,607 wounded. Communist losses of 1,474 killed were the lowest in 20 months, spokesmen said.

In delayed reports, the American spokesman said four aircraft had been lost this week while taking part in the campaign against North Vietnamese supply lines in Laos.

Doves Want Equal Time To Nixon's

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate doves greeted President Nixon's televised comments today with a demand for equal time and a warning that administration war policies would doom the Paris talks despite the appointment of a new ambassador.

Supporters of the President's Indochina policies praised Nixon for a "comprehensive" explanation of his plan for peace. In effect, however, they agreed with Sen. George Aiken's reply when asked whether Nixon offered much that was new.

"No, except a new ambassador," said Aiken, the Senate's senior Republican.

Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., demanded equal television time from all three major networks to explain the "amendment for ending the war" he is cosponsoring with Sen. Mark O. Hatfield, R-Ore.

"The President is chasing the same illusions that have bedeviled us in Southeast Asia for 10 years, illusions that have killed 50,000 young Americans and which if continued will kill thousands more," McGovern said in a statement.

"For the President to compare the Cambodian fiasco to the great decisive battles of World War II such as Stalingrad indicate that he is living in Disneyland," McGovern said.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, on the other hand, said he thought the President "did a good job in explaining his point of view."

"The appointment of Bruce was a ten-strike," Mansfield said. "I also appreciated his (Nixon's) understanding of what the Cooper-Church amendment meant. The amendment supports him, it strengthens his hand to reduce casualties and to speed up troop withdrawal. It

Speaker McCormack Tells What He Doesn't Know Of Peddler

NEW YORK (UPI)—John W. McCormack, Speaker of the House of Representatives, testified in federal court today he did not know influence peddler Nathan Voloshen used his Washington congressional office and his telephone.

Taking the witness stand as the 46th prosecution witness at the trial of Dr. Martin Sweig, McCormack said he considered Voloshen a "friend" and also knew Voloshen's lobbying partner, John Donato, although "I did not know exactly what their relationship was." Prior testimony indicated that Sweig, McCormack's suspended administrative aide, let Voloshen and Donato work out of McCormack's ofifce.

"I'm not an inquiring fellow," said McCormack, who had testified that he rarely visited his congressional office. "I never ask people what they're down in Washington for. I knew there was some relationship between Mr. Donato and Mr. Voloshen. I didn't inquire into it. I know Mr. Donato. I consider him a friend of mine too."

The 78-year-old Massachusetts Democrat, who is retiring from public office at the end of the year, was pale as he arrived at the federal courthouse in a light rain. He brushed off reporters, saying he couldn't comment on any aspect of the trial of his suspended chief aide, Dr. Martin Sweig, because "the matter is before the jury."

The Speaker's appearance climaxed the three-week trial of Sweig, 48, on charges of perjury before a grand jury and conspiracy to defraud the federal government by bringing pressure on government departments and agencies on behalf of paying "clients."

McCormack, testifying in response to questions by U.S. Attorney Whitney North Seymour Jr., said he "very seldom" visited his district

The legislator, Austin Currie, is a member of the Nationalist party and represents the predominantly Catholic town of Coalisland, where anti-Protestant rioting broke out Wednesday. His home was the target of a bomb several months ago.

CHAMBER GUARDS NAME

Tabloid Must Fly Some Other Flag

Shakespeare asked "What's in a name?" and the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce yesterday decided quite a bit.

The chamber's board of directors voted against lending its name to an advertising tabloid proposed for distribution to about 30,000 San Rafael area homes.

The tabloid was proposed by Richard Mittelman of San Rafael, president of Customer Attraction Co., who suggested it be called the "San Rafael Chamber of Commerce Merchandiser."

The chamber board stressed that denying the use of its name was not implying a denial of its support. It then passed a motion forbidding use of the name San Rafael Chamber of Commerce with any business any time.

Steve Leonesio, manager of Macy's in San Rafael and chairman of the chamber's downtown merchants association, said that endorsing this business could start a trend which might lead to a San Rafael Chamber of Commerce Boutique or a San Rafael Chamber of Commerce Hamburger Stand.

Endorsement was also criticized on the grounds that it would be unfair to other advertising media in the city.

Eric Colby, editor and publisher of the Terra Linda News, said he wasn't sure if the tabloid would be in competition with his paper, but felt giving it the chamber's name would be an "unwise precedent."

Jack Weese, advertising director of the Independent-Journal, said the I-J already had plenty of competition, beginning with telephone books and including San Francisco newspapers, Marin County weeklies and direct mail advertising.

As the thrust of the discussion appeared to be moving toward rejection of the use of the chamber's name, Mittelman said he was amazed.

He said the idea had received support from the chamber's merchants committee and from a merchants meeting last week, and now it was being rejected by the board.

Leonesio again said that it was the use of the name, not the idea of the tabloid, that was being rejected.

The board yesterday also voted to support the Marin Shakespeare Festival.

Two More Cocaine Sale Indictments

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Two Marin County residents were indicted by a federal grand jury yesterday on charges of conspiracy to sell cocaine and were ordered to appear in U.S. District Court next Thursday.

Robert Bernar Ford, 21, and Mark Robert Shanahan, 21, both of 1106 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Kentfield, were arrested May 22 at San Francisco Airport in connection with sales of cocaine worth more than $250,000 on the drug market.

Five other Marinites arrested the same day were indicted June 24 on the same charges.

Arrested at the airport were Sharon Ann Needleman, 21, of 18 Crest Road, San Anselmo; Maureen Booth, 23, of 54 Bulkley Drive, Sausalito, and Marcia Marie Freet, 27, of 107 Marion Street, Sausalito.

Mitchell Junior Howard, 22, of 9235 Drake Avenue, Marin City, and Steve Howard, 24, of Gate 2, Sausalito, were arrested in Sausalito for a separate transaction.

Bench Warrant Issued In Burglary Case

A bench warrant with bail set at $1,000 was issued yesterday for Arthur George Metzger III, 19, when he failed to appear in Marin Superior Court for a hearing on motions to suppress evidence and to dismiss charges in his case.

The youth, who has admitted to being a heroin addict, is charged along with Stephen John Pappas, 19, of San Rafael, of burglary and possessing stolen property.

They were arrested with a third 19-year-old, Reade Collins Backer, of Ross, on April 1 when a deputy sheriff noticed their car being driven erratically.

Backer has testified at a preliminary hearing that Pappas and Metzger stole various articles from a Tiburon residence. He pleaded guilty to possessing stolen roperty and is serving a four-month jail sentence.

Judge E. Warren McGuire yesterday denied both motions in the case.

$400 Million In Property Loss In First Last Year

BOSTON (UPI)—Property destroyed in the United States by major fires in 1969 amounted to nearly $400 million, an increase of 25 per cent over 1968, the National Fire Protection Association said today.

Property loss in fires causing damage of more than $250,000 was up $85 million in 1969 in a total of 491 major blazes.

The report, prepared by the international fire safety organization based here, said in almost all cases major fires "began small but grew to destructive size because of failure to use adequate protection measures."

According to previously released estimates, there were about 2.42 million fires in the country in 1969 with losses totaling $2.4 billion. Of that number, the 491 major fires caused $399,691,000 in damage to industrial facilities, transportation equipment, forests and other property.

In Canada, 60 major fires in 1969 caused $44 million in damage, a 24 per cent increase over 1968.

The worst fire in the United States in 1969 in terms of dollar loss was the $45 million disaster May 11 at the Rocky Flats plant of the Atomic Energy Commission in Golden, Colo.

The year's second largest property damage fire occured Aug. 5 in Boston. It destroyed all but one small section of an 11-acre grocery storage warehouse, causing $15 million damage.

Four other building fires exceeded the $5 million mark during 1969, the association said, including losses of about $10 million at five industrial buildings in Webster, Mass., Jan. 1.

Other major losses were $5.5 million to a five-story shopping center in Omaha, Neb., Oct. 17; $5 million in an explosion and fire at the Union Carbide Corp. complex at Texas City, Texas, Oct. 23; and $5 million to a 15-building complex at Warwick, R.I., Sept. 6.

The most serious transportation fire of last year occurred Oct. 16 at Stockton, Calif., resulting in the destruction of an $11 million DC8 at Metropolitan airport.

The principal factors allowing small building fires to develop into major fire losses, the association said, were construction weaknesses, absence of protective sprinkler and alarm systems and fire hazards inherent in the contents of the buildings.

Structural weaknesses, such as the lack of division walls, allow a fire to sweep throughout a building instead of being confined near the spot were it broke out, the report said.

A dictionary prepared by the National Bureau of Standards lists 7,500 colors by name. The book specifies hundreds of variations of blue, green, pink, yellow and red.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Rains Kill 19

TOKYO (UPI) — Torrential rains Wednesday left 19 persons dead and four persons missing throughout Japan, the national police ageney said today.

The rains drenched the densely populated Kanto District (Tokyo and its suburbs) and caused two rivers to flood.

Police said 29 persons were injured during the storm. Most of the deaths and injuries were caused by landslides and drowning.

Police reported 406 landslides, 146 houses destroyed and 2,552 houses flooded.

Saigon Trains Allies

SAIGON (UPI)—The South Vietnamese army has started a program to train 10,000 Cambodian troops at three bases in South Vietnam, official military sources said today.

The sources said the first 1,300 Cambodians entered combat training at Lam Son center near the central coast city of Nha Trang, 188 miles northeast of Saigon, one week ago.

More than 8,000 other Cambodian soldiers will enter training in the "very, very near future," one source said.

Moon Rock Missing

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The space agency has lost a moon rock.

The missing sample, a piece of fine-grained gray rock weighing less than an ounce, disappeared sometime after February, according to Dr. Nicholas M. Short of the Goddard Space Flight Center in Greenbelt, Md.

Short said the sample was among several circulated among a group of scientists studying the effect of shock waves on lunar material. He discovered the loss when he made a recent inventory, the first such count since February.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration said it was investigating the disappearance. It was the second time this year that a moon rock has been lost. In January a University of California scientists said one of his samples was missing, but it was subsequently returned to the space agency.

Eisenhowers In Tokyo

TOKYO (UPI)—David and Julie Eisenhower today called on Prime Minister Eisaku Sato and lunched with Foreign Minister and Mrs. Kiichi Aichi.

Reds Ignore Envoy Shift In Paris Talk

PARIS (UPI)--North Vietnam today spurned Prsident Nixon's call for renewed efforts to negotiate peace in Indochina and charged instead the war in Cambodia was organized, commanded and financed by the United States despite its troop withdrawal.

The Communist delegations also ignored Nixon's appointment of David K. E. Bruce as chief negotiator. Philip C. Habib, the acting chief negotiator, said he expected the Bruce appointment to move the talks into a new phase.

CAMBODIA STRESSES

Although the Communists may react later to the Bruce appointment they concentrated today on Cambodia and restated their demand for total withdrawal of all U.S. and Allied troops from Indochina. There was no progress in the actual negotiations.

Although none of the four negotiators would budge from previously stated positions, South Vietnam did agree to North Vietnam's conditions for the release by Saigon of 62 sick and wounded North Vietnamese war prisoners and 24 fishermen.

The South Vietnamese delegation announced the North Vietnamese will be released alone, without escort, in three Red Cross motorboats near the 17th parallel July 11. It said it would observe a 15-hour ceasefire in that border area as requested by Hanoi and said it expected North Vietnam to do the same.

Both North Vietnamese delegate Nguyen Minh Vy and Viet Cong delegate Vinh Ba Thi discussed Cambodia today more than South Vietnam. Vy released to newsmen a statement claiming major Communist victories in Cambodia. Thi accused U.S. soldiers of raping women and stealing rice, chickens, wrist watches and rings from the Cambodians.

ROGERS SPEAKS

In Manila today Secretary of State William P. Rogers told a SEATO conference the United States hopes the Bruce appointment will rekindle interest in a negotiated Indochina settlement. But he said there were no new signs Hanoi was ready to talk peace now.

The North Vietnamese and Viet Cong have long complained the United States "downgraded" and purposely stalled the talks by not replacing Henry Cabot Lodge with an equally prominent negotiator when he resigned.

Brazil Foils Hijacking, Two Wounded In Fray

RIO DE JANEIRO (UPI)—The Brazilian air force and police acting on orders from President Emilio Garrastazu Medici used fire-fighting foam, smoke and machineguns Wednesday to thwart an attempted airliner hijacking and capture four armed terrorists.

The plane's pilot, one of the hijackers and a policeman suffered bullet wounds in the operation that averted Brazil's ninth commercial aircraft hijacking since October.

Cruzeiro do Sul airlines said the hijackers commandeered the jet Caravelle bound from Rio de Janeiro to Buenos Aires before it reached Sao Paulo and forced it to return to Rio. There were 41 persons aboard.

The hijackers, including three men and one woman about 20 years of age, hoped to exchange the other passengers for jailed terrorists.

When the plane landed at Galeao international airport in Rio, police isolated it with a cordon of trucks and jeeps and shot out its tires with machineguns. A Cruzeiro do Sul source said they acted on orders from Medici, who had been informed of the attempt.

Fire engines sprayed the craft with carbon dioxide foam and a policeman who clambered atop the plane from the rear pumped thick smoke into the interior through the ventilating system.

Coughing passengers and hijackers both came tumbling out and several were injured in the confusion.

Pilot Harro Cyranka was struck in the leg by a bullet of unknown origin and a policeman was shot.

Police said one of the hijackers, identified as Eiraldo Palha Freire, shot himself in a suicide attempt and was rushed to the hospital. The other hijackers were identified as Fernando Palha Freire, Colombo Vieira Souza Jr. and Jessie Jane, daughter of Washington Jane, who is in jail awaiting trial on charges of terrorism.

Nixon Renames Head Of Home Loan Board

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Preston Martin has been sworn in to a full four-year term on the Federal Home Loan Bank Board.

He continues as chairman of the board under a designation made March 13 by President Nixon, who appointed him to fill out an unexpired term which ended earlier this week. Martin is a former professor of finance at the University of Southern California.

Israel Hails Nixon's Stand On Mideast; Arabs Critical

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Israeli newspapers today hailed President Nixon's assurance of continued support as a turning point for Israel in the worsening conflict in the Middle East. The Arabs deounced it as biased.

On the war front, Israeli warplanes attacked Egyptian positions on the Suez Canal for the 42nd day and also raided targets on the western shore of the Gulf of Suez. A spokesman said targets included SAM2 missile bases -- two Israeli planes were shot down by the Soviet-made surface-to-air rockets on Tuesday.

Fighting also was reported across the Jordan River ceasefire line. Rockets from Jordan hit two Israeli settlements in the Beisan Valley, about 10 miles south of the Sea of Galilee, and Jordan reported a mortar and machinegun duel in the south Jordan Valley, near the Dead Sea.

There still was no official reaction to a new Russian Mideast peace proposal disclosed Wednesday at the United Nations and described by Western diplomats as a substantial move forward. Its key proposal called for a formal peace settlement between Israel and the Arabs and not just another pledge to cease firing.

Israeli newspapers said Nixon's statement that the United States intended to maintain the balance of power in the Middle East appeared to be a turning point in his administration policy.

"The U.S. President has expressed clearly, sincerely and without fear of Arab reactions, a courageous and favorable policy which identifies the regional balance of power with U.S. interests, a fact which Israelis have been trying to convince Washington for years," said the newspaper Yedioth Aharonoth.

Yedioth Aharonoth said it was difficult to determine the reason for the switch "but it should be seen as a turning point, provided it is not merely another of Washington's policy zig-zags."

Arab radio broadcasts emphasized that Nixon rated the Middle East conflict more dangerous than Vietnam.

Broadcasts from Jordan, Lebanon, Saudi Arabia, Syria and Egypt gave heavy coverage to Nixon's remarks from Los Angeles Wednesday night in which he compared the Middle East situation to the Balkans before World War I. He said Russia and the United States could be drawn into a confrontation neither of them wants.

Cairo Radio emphasized Nixon's statement that the United States was concerned that Israeli military strength must be equal to that of the Arabs.

The first comment on the speech came from the official Damascus radio in Syria which said "Nixon emphasized his government's enmity towards the Arab nation and America's complete bias in favor of Israel."

United Nations sources in New York said Soviet Ambassador Jacob A. Malik presented the new peace proposal at a meeting of the Big Four ambassadors a week ago.

The United States announced a peace program of its own last week.

There was no official information on the contents of the Soviet proposal, but reports from the Middle East said one of the principal points called for Arab recognition of the independence and territorial integrity of Israel. The Arabs have refused such recognition since Israel was established in 1948.

The Israeli newspapers Ma' Ariv and Yedioth Aharonoth said the proposal would require Israel to withdraw from all captured Arab territories, including the former Jordanian city of Jerusalem.

Ma'Ariv said it appeared the Kremlin suggested the formula in order to get the United States, Britain and France to agree to renew the mission of Gunnar V. Jarring, Swedish ambassador to Moscow.

U.S. diplomatic sources called the Soviet move "a positive step."

Thailand Hints Its Troops May See Cambodia Action

By PATRICK J. KILLEN

MANILA (UPI)—Thailand's Foreign Minister Thanat Khoman told the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization (SEATO) today that Thailand may be forced to take military action in Cambodia to safeguard its own security.

He spoke shortly after South Vietnamese Foreign Minister Tran Van Lam, attending the meeting as an observer, called on the United States and its Pacific and Asian allies to carry the fight against Communist troops to all of the Indochina Peninsula.

A SEATO spokesman said Thanat told the council that while Thailand will pursue a peaceful settlement of the Cambodian crisis, it is also "committed to assure safety and stability of its own nation and therefore may be forced to take some military action, however most reluctantly Thailand is to get involved."

It was generally understood that Thailand's reference to military action meant the sending of troops and possibly planes to Cambodia.

Apart from Thailand's indication it is prepared to send its own forces into Cambodia, there appeared little prospect that other SEATO members would move collectively into Indochina.

The SEATO spokesman said Secretary of State William P. Rogers made clear to other SEATO members the U.S. intention to remain a Pacific power and that there is no question of a U.S. pullout from Southeast Asia.

As expected, Britain used the two-day conference held in the heavily guarded Inter-Continental hotel to state that the new Conservative government will keep British troops in Asia, reversing the stand of the former Labor government.

California graduated 266,500 students from its public high schools in 1969, more than any other state.

Junior College Budget Inches Up; Trustees Grant Newsletter Funds

Marin Junior College District's 1970-71 budget, which Supt. John A. Grasham is to present to the district board in its more-or-less final form on July 16, appeared to be inching up in advance last night.

Over objection of trustee Charles W. Gray, the board approved including $10,000 for a bi-monthly newsletter to be mailed to all homes in the district. Gray insisted that duplicate mailings by college departments should be eliminated first, in an attempt to reduce cost.

Grasham informed the board that Blue Cross and Kaiser Health Plan, for which the district pays its employees' costs, have both announced fee increases. He estimated they will increase the district's cost for those covered by the Kaiser plan by $3,423, and Blue Cross by $11,916. The boosts were estimated as representing a quarter-cent on the tax rate.

Grasham also announced that dental insurance for employees, which the board approved two weeks ago, will go into effect Oct. 1. This will cost the district's taxpayers $45,000.

The board gave a "third of a loaf" in response to a plea by Bella Aaron that it eliminate or reduce fees for courses in police-community relations which were approved for the adult school. One hundred police officers are to attend the classes, which will be held at the Marin County Civic Center so will not use the college facilities.

On motion of trustee Harry J. Moore, the board agreed to reduce the usual $6 fee for these classes to $4, specifying this "does not set a precedent." Trustee Robert E. Rogers dissented, claiming the cities would pay the fees for their officers anyhow.

Trustee Robert E. Oliver wondered whether addition to the budget would be needed to finance an in-service training program contemplated in a policy revision on teacher evaluation, which the board approved with some misgivings. Berkeley Johnson, dean of instruction, said nothing was being asked.

The policy change may have some impact on future budgets, however, as it provides for credits toward salary increments for attending the in-service sessions — a practice which was questioned by trustee Donald K. Felt. Moore objected that the policy makes no provision for evaluating tenured teachers.

A slight budget impact was involved in approval of a recommendation by Grasham that will permit higher salaries for those hired as program coordinators. It applies immediately to the coordinator for the registered nursing program, who will be hired at $16,546. But the same policy — permitting hiring at a higher step on the salary schedule than formerly and paying for 20 days extra service — will apply to all newly hired coordinators. Grasham said a coordinator ordinarily teaches six to eight hours a week.

The district hopes to pick up some money from sale of a .14-acre piece of college property to Ross Valley Sanitary District for a pumping station. There was considerable discussion over the sale, and over the restrictions that should surround it because the piece lies in an area designated an "ecology center" in the "oxbow" bend of Corte Madera Creek. The sanitary district's plans, however, call for careful treatment, landscaping and redwood fencing.

The board merely voted its intention to sell, after whittling the size down from .168 to .14 of an acre. Gen. Mgr. Ralph C. Noah of the sanitary district was rather disappointed at not receiving a definite commitment that would leave only price to be negotiated.

The Marin Junior College District Board Also:

SABBATICAL — Approved a sabbatical leave for Irwin H. Diamond, dean of students, with promise by Grasham that his duties will be divided among other administrators to eliminate hiring another person. Gray dissented because the request failed to specify the purpose for which Diamond will use the leave.

HIRING — Approved hiring Kent Addison as a one-year replacement in the life science department, in which Noel Nelson and Ruth Nash will be on leave next school year. Grasham said the second temporary vacancy would be filled with parttime teachers. Also approved hiring William T. Cross as inspector on the science center project at $983 per month.

RESIGNATIONS — Accepted the resignation of Pauline Silva as accounts clerk to become bookkeeper for the Associated Students, with salary from student funds, and the resignation of Coralie Paris as part time secretary in the drama department.

ADULT EDUCATION — Approved a long list of adult education courses to be offered in the fall. Chairman Elizabeth M. Deedy commented at the number to be given during regular daytime school hours.

LIBRARY — Received the good news that a $500,000 federal grant toward library construction may be kept alive for another year through application by the Coordinating Council on Higher Education. It had been feared the grant would expire next month, with library construction delayed to await completion of the science building.

ABSENT — Trustee Theodore C. Wellman was absent, being out of the country.

Mrs. Deedy Again Heads Marin Junior College Panel

Elizabeth M. Deedy, "dean" of the Marin Junior College District board, last night took over as board president for fiscal 1970-71.

Mrs. Deedy, of Ross, was elected unanimously to succeed Robert E. Rogers of Tiburon in the annual board reorganization. She has occupied the president's chair several times since her initial election to the board in 1958, the latest being during the 1967-68 fiscal year.

Theodore C. Wellman of Kentfield was elected clerk, replacing Charles W. Gray of San Rafael, who was named trustee representative to the Marin County Committee on School District Organization. Donald K. Felt of Mill Valley, who had been trustee representative, was named vice president. Harry J. Moore of Novato was named legislative representative.

All elections were unanimous.

The board retained Supt. John A. Grasham as secretary.

Board Eyes Bond, Tax Boost Votes

Marin Junior College District trustees last night voted to hold a bond and possibly a tax increase election on Nov. 3.

No amount for either was specified, although two weeks ago Supt. John A. Grasham told the board the figure of $20 million was discussed for building on the district's North Marin campus and completing development of the Kentfield campus. At that time he also mentioned a possible request for 15 or 20 cents increase in the district's general operating tax ceiling.

(Junior college districts were exempted from the provisions of Assemblyman William T. Bagley's AB 1000, the school finance bill which ties school tax rates to spending per pupil and sharply restricts the special-purpose overrides that can be levied without first asking the voters.)

Trustee Charles W. Gray objected to the Nov. 3 election date, saying it does not allow sufficient time to prepare a campaign. He blamed insufficient preparation in part for defeat of the district's last bond proposal.

Chairman Elizabeth M. Deedy said the election could be postponed if necessary, but action last night was necessary to make it possible for the Nov. 3 general election ballot, which would eliminate cost of a special balloting.

Grasham announced a series of "workshops" will be held for the board regarding the north campus development. No schedule of the "workshops" was made available for the public, although all must be public meetings under the California Government Code.

Arraignment Set In Theft Charge

John D. Wadsworth, 41, former San Rafael resident who disappeared almost three years ago, as did $4,241 belonging to his employer, was bound over to Marin Superior Court on a charge of grand theft.

He is to appear in court Monday for arraignment.

Wadsworth was booked into Marin County Jail June 21 after police in San Diego, where he now lives, discovered there was a warrant out for him.

On Sept. 11, 1967, Wadsworth disappeared along with the cash and checks given him to deposit in a bank by his employer, Duffy Brothers Garage in San Rafael.

Suspect Admits Pot Possession

Penelope Ann Cash, 27, of Waldo Point, has pleaded guilty in Marin Municipal Court to a reduced misdemeanor charge of possessing marijuana. She had originally been accused of a felony count of the same offense.

Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. set sentencing for July 31.

Miss Cash was arrested after a shouting match in Sausalito on May 16 in which an acquaintance called police. Three plastic bags of pot were found in her purse.

Fund-Raising Set For Boys Club

A committee to raise funds for the Marin City Boys Club was appointed last night by directors of the Marin City Home Owners and Improvement Association, Mrs. Mack H. Page, association president, reported.

Jesse Berry was named chairman of the committee which includes Henry Haynes and Alex Holloway. Mrs. Page said the association is planning several events to raise money for the club, which is currently in dire financial straits.

The directors also voted to work closely with the Marin City Community Services District in its plans for community development, Mrs. Page said.

Fire Meeting Reset

The Kentfield Fire District board, which normally meets on the second Wednesday of the month, next week will meet on Monday due to the expected absence of one of its members, according to Kenneth T. Kamp, fire chief.

NASA REFUSES BILLS FROM MOON 'HOTEL'

NEW YORK (UPI)—The National Aeronauts and Space Administration has refused to pay a computerized hotel bill for five men who stayed for nine days at the Sea of Tranquillity Hotel on the Moon last April.

NASA returned the bill to Reservations World, a computer center for travel reservations, with the notation: "The above are not employees of the Center—and even if they were, we have no authority to pay their personal lodging bills."

Reservations World today traced the billing to a training program last spring during which an imaginative instructor programmed data on a mythical moon hotel where charges of $43.80 were run up by five travelers named W. Shiver, D. Austeri, E. Fudd, G. Il Miguel, and U.S. Mule. Their address was recorded as NASA headquarters in Houston.

Alto Bowl Plan Meets Opposition

Elected were Edward Lewis, Eileen McLain, Ben Pullian, George Hoffman, Jon Nichols, Virginia Gerhart, Bruce Jenkins and Ann Newness.

Publicity chairman Sara S. Ruffner reported that the group will circulate petitions against the Cal-Fong development.

"We're not just a crisis group, formed for one purpose," she said. "We hope to have a say in the development of the entire North Ridge."

Another meeting was set for July 15 at 7:30 p.m. at the Alto Fire Station.

Boys' Club Airs Plea For Novato Building Funds

Representatives of various civic organizations recognise the benefits of a boys' club to Novato and are calling on their respective organizations to help, David E. Milano, president of the Novato Boys' Club, has reported.

Officers of the club met with the representatives Tuesday night at club fund headquarters at 910 Grant Avenue.

The club needs $72,000 for a building on a site on Lamont Avenue near Railroad Avenue, Milano said.

Former Mayor Babe Silva is heading the fund drive with Reg H. Carolan of 381 San Luis Way, a member of the world championship Kansas City Chiefs as honorary chairman.

holds in Southeast Asia and the Middle East.

He said regardless of the outcome of negotiations in Paris, the United States was embarked on a policy that would get virtually all American ground combat forces out of Vietnam by next spring.

"It will succeed. That I know," Nixon said of his policies.

Seated around a table in the KABC studio in Los Angeles with the three television newsmen, Nixon defended the American sweep through Communist sanctuaries inside Cambodia's borders as "the most decisive action in damaging the enemy's ability to wage effective warfare that has occurred in this war to date."

He said he was not sure it had been effective enough to force the enemy to negotiate but added: "I think it might help. Only time will tell."

He conceded the Cambodian government, now under attack by North Vietnamese forces, was in a "fragile situation" but said that because of the U.S. sweeps, "Cambodia's chances of surviving as a neutral country are infinitely better now than they were on April 30."

Although he would not absolutely rule out American forces returning to Cambodia, he said he had "no intention" of sending them because "I do not believe there will be any necessity to do so."

The only reason for the Americans to return would be to protect the security of U.S. forces in Vietnam, he said, "and I believe the success of the operations which we have undertaken, as well as what the South Vietnamese will be able to do, will make it unnecessary."

He said the United States had no commitment to Cambodia other than "the commitment that the United States for 190 years has had to the principle of international law that a country...should have its neutrality respected."

The United States would furnish small arms and moral support but not troops even in the unlikely event Cambodia should fall to the Communists.

If such were to happen, "We (will) continue in our course in South Vietnam to defeat the enemy there and the South Vietnamese, who are now a very formidable fighting force, will certainly see to it that the sanctuary areas are not again occupied," the President said.

He was asked about a recent article by George Ball criticizing his Vietnam policies. Ball was the No. 2 man in the State Department under Democratic administrations.

"Well, as a matter of fact . . . Mr. Ball should know something about that because he was there when we got bogged down in Indochina as undersecretary of state," Nixon snapped.

Strawberry Recreation Budget Voted

Directors of the Strawberry recreation district last night approved unanimously a $57,708 budget for 1970-71, an increase of $828 over the 1969-70 fiscal year.

Clerk Jeanne Heick said directors do not anticipate raising the district's tax rate of 50 cents per $100 assessed valuation, and in fact may be able to lower it a half-cent if assessments are up.

The budget allocates $34,233 for capital outlay, including $25,543 for repayment of a loan to build the community building; $14,250 for salaries, $9,225 for operations and $2,500 to add to the reserve fund.

The board also approved a fifth summer swim program to run Aug. 10-21. Mrs. Heick said signups will be held in the district office at Strawberry Park on Aug. 6 for residents of the district and Aug. 7 for nonresidents.

Drug Case Still Being Probed

No charge has been filed in Marin Municipal Court against a Waldo Point man and woman arrested Saturday on suspicion of possessing marijuana and narcotics paraphernalia in a Tiburon parking lot.

Released were Diane Du Ell, 24, of Gate 6, who was also booked on suspicion of child neglect after deputies found her 8-month-old daughter alone in a truck, and Larry Wayne Burkholder, 28, of Gate 5.

The case is still under investigation by the district attorney's office.

Hub Ponders City-Schools Recreation

Members of San Anselmo's city council, parks and recreation commission and school district board last night discussed the city-schools recreation agreement but suggested only minor changes, schools Supt. Stephen L. Parodi reported.

The group also discussed a proposal by Mayor James F. Reed to install water-filled rubber bumpers on a safety rail at Sir Francis Drake Boulevard and Sonoma Avenue to protect children at Isabel Cook School. No decision was reached but Charles R. Leitzell, city engineer, was asked to prepare plans to show how the installation would affect the school grounds and the corner.

The plan would require moving an existing fence back and giving up some 20 feet of school property at the corner, Parodi said.

Only discussion was possible last night because each of the three groups had less than a quorum present and no action could be taken.

also seeks to prevent involvement in future wars."

House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford praised Nixon's appointment of a permanent chief negotiator and criticized the Democratic demands for equal television time.

"The President has every right to make periodic reports to the American people without being subjected to political sniping immediately afterward," he declared.

Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, said he welcomed Nixon's appointment of David K. E. Bruce to head the U.S. delegation at the Paris talks. But Muskie said Nixon indicated "that he intends to maintain military pressure . . . to compel the other side to seek peace."

"That kind of policy is basically and fundamentally fallacious," Muskie said.

Aiken said Bruce had "an uphill job" so long as U.S. troops remain in South Vietnam. "I'm still skeptical that there'll be a signed and sealed agreement but there could be a tacit agreement," the Vermont Republican said.

"I didn't see any very large bouquet of olive branches" to Senate opponents of Nixon's policies, Aiken said. ". . . He intimated that if the pressure became great we would resume bombing of North Vietnam . . . I got the impression that he was a bit discouraged himself and didn't know what we would do."

Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, said Nixon "handled the questions mighty well . . . It was very comprehensive."

reconnaissance plane was shot down Tuesday over the Laotian lower panhandle and a big Jolly Green Giant rescue helicopter was shot down trying to pick up the OV10 crewmen. One crewman was rescued but the other five men on the helicopter were missing.

An Air Force F4 Phantom jet crashed in the Laotian Plain of Jars Tuesday and both its crewmen were missing. Also missing was the pilot of a Navy A7 Corsair fighter-bomber. It crashed from unknown causes in the Laotian panhandle.

The crashes brought to 50 the number of American aircraft lost over Laos since the U.S. Command started reporting such losses March 10.

Near the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ), South Vietnamese infantrymen supported by tanks killed 51 Communist troops Wednesday. In Cambodia, government forces killed 52 Viet Cong in a battle near the ruins of Angkor Wat.

In another Cambodian development, informed sources said today the Soviet Union and other East European states have been trying to persuade the Lon Nol government to call off the treason trial in absentia of Prince Norodim Sihanouk and permit him to return to Cambodia. The trial, intended to discredit Sihanouk, is scheduled to begin Friday, the sources said.

In Good Condition

James T. McClain, 22, of 42 Stetson Avenue, Corte Madera, was reported in good condition today at Marin General Hospital where he was admitted last night for treatment for an overdose of medication, Corte Madera police reported.

Family Asks Reports On Missing Girl

The family of Jill Schepps, 19, of San Anselmo has requested anyone seeing her or knowing of her whereabouts to contact the San Anselmo Police Department.

Miss Schepps, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hal Schepps of 55 Hillcrest Court, yesterday walked away from the Marin General Hospital Psychiatric Day Care Center where she was a patient, and was last seen in Sausalito.

She is five feet, two inches tall, weighs 120 pounds, and has brown eyes and long brown hair. Officials at the center said she was wearing cut-off jeans, a red silk blouse and was barefoot.

Marinwood's Budget To Hike Taxes

The Marinwood Community Services District board last night tentatively approved an operating budget of $202,167 for fiscal 1970-71.

Secretary Genevieve T. Bolding said the tentative budget is about $30,000 above the 1969-70 figure of $173,460, and may require a 3-cent increase in the tax rate.

She estimated the tax rate for the new fiscal year at $1.26 compared to $1.23 for the past year. Salary increases of 7.5 per cent for the district's nine employees — and an additional employee for building maintenance who will begin in September — were also passed by the board, she said.

Salaries paid during the next year will amount to $119,827, she said. In fiscal 1969-70 they totalled $101,715.

Department budgets for fiscal 1970-71 with 1969-70 figures in parentheses are: fire department, $85,031 ($75,623); parks and recreation, $105,206 ($85,548); and street lighting and auditing of elections, $11,930 ($12,289).

Mrs. Bolding said the parks and recreation increase is due to an expanded summer program while the fire department jump is caused by salary increases.

Revenues of $83,850 are expected leaving $118,317 to be raised from taxes, Mrs. Bolding said.

Final approval of the budget is slated for the next regular meeting July 28, she said.

Doctor Gets Fine, Probation For Illegal Drug Sale

SAN FRANCISCO — Dr. Donald A. Churchill of Sausalito was fined $1,500 yesterday in municipal court. He was also given a suspended jail term and placed on probation for one year.

Churchill was convicted May 8 of misbranding a drug, unlawful advertising and unlawful sale of a new drug. He was arrested last April for the sale of a drug called Vitarth, which he claimed during his trial is an aphrodisiac and a cure-all.

He was on probation at the time of his arrest for illegally prescribing narcotics and falsifying medical records. His license was revoked effective March 26 by the State Board of Medical Examiners after a hearing on those charges.

Ecumenical Unit Told Of Housing Need

The Ecumenical Association for Housing was told last night of a housing need, especially for the elderly, in west Marin and the San Geronimo Valley.

The report was made by John Head of the Marin County Real Estate Board from a survey conducted by a group of students at San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo.

The students concluded a significant number of families were living in substandard housing, said Martin Mackey, association executive director, although figures were not disclosed.

Funds for construction of so-called rural housing is available through the Farm Home Administration, Mackey said, and a meeting of persons interested in pursuing such money will be held in late summer or early fall.

Also last night, the association welcomed two new members — St. Hilary's Church in Tiburon, represented by Rex Fink, and Christ Episcopal Church in Sausalito, represented by acting pastor Jim Robertson.

south.

Currie said he was talking on the telephone in the hallway when he saw a car drive up and heard the shots.

He said one bullet smashed through his living room window and another "came through the porch window and missed me by about 12 inches." It was not known where the third bullet hit.

Currie had returned home Wednesday night after visiting the riot area in Coalisland, where a crowd had stoned a Protestant parade and set fire to the Coalisland Brick and Pipe Co., main industry in the town of 4,500 persons. It's 40 miles west of Belfast.

A senior police official said today the shooting around St. Matthew's Roman Catholic Church in Belfast which caused two of the weekend deaths was the work of the outlawed Irish Republican Army (IRA).

The official said incendiary bombs which set fire to central Belfast stores were a type used by the Catholic IRA in the past.

Trial Ends With Dissolution Of Dunbar Marriage

The marriage of San Rafael neurological surgeon Robert D. Dunbar, 51, and his wife, Miriam Moore Dunbar, 50, of Kentfield, was dissolved yesterday in Marin Superior Court by Judge Harold J. Haley.

After a day and a half of trial, a settlement was reached in which Mrs. Dunbar will receive a total of $7,500 support to be paid at monthly intervals.

Mrs. Dunbar was also granted permission by the judge to resume her former last name of Delaplane. (She was formerly married to newspaper columnist Stanton Delaplane.)

The Dunbars were married in Pasadena on Feb. 14, 1964, and separated in 1967. Mrs. Dunbar filed for divorce in March 1969, charging cruelty under the old divorce law.

There were no children of the marriage.

Drunken Driving Count Admitted

James Hudson Lenhart, 38, of Novato, has pleaded guilty in Marin Municipal Court to misdemeanor charges of possessing marijuana and drunken driving. He had originally been charged with a felony pot count.

Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. set sentencing for July 31.

Lenhart was arrested June 1 after he was seen driving erratically on Highway 101 by a California Highway Patrol officer.

will be open from noon to 6 p.m. The fireworks display at the fairgrounds will start at dusk.

In Bolinas, the Fourth of July parade will start at 10 a.m. on Wharf Road and proceed down Brighton Avenue to the beach where games and contests will be held.

The Gallinas Valley Improvement Association will hold an all-day picnic and barbecue starting at 10 a.m. in Pueblo Park, with a fireworks display at nightfall.

A pancake breakfast will be sponsored by the Marinwood Firemen's Association from 8:30 to 11:30 a.m. Saturday at the Marinwood Community Center, and a watermelon feed for children will be held at 4 p.m.

Mill Valley plans a celebration from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday in Lytton Square, with guitarists, a bluegrass band, a military band and "Mill Valley" sung by teacher Rita Abrams and the third grade class of Strawberry Point School.

The annual July 4 public picnic and bean feed by the Novato Lions Club will be held at Lions Park at Stafford Lake starting at 1 p.m., Saturday.

Most businesses and retail stores will be closed for the holiday Saturday, but some will remain open.

Friday will be a normal business day, but most offices at the Marin County Civic Center will be closed, with only the sheriff's office, and the county clerk's office open, the latter for limited business. Marin Municipal Court will be closed, but Superior Court will conduct business.

Sonoma County offices and courts will be open as usual. Petaluma and Cotati city offices will be open but Rohnert Park city hall will be closed.

In Marin, the only municipal offices closing Friday will be those in Sausalito, Belvedere and Novato.

Parking meters will be enforced Saturday in Sausalito, but not in Mill Valley or San Rafael.

On Friday, the Marin County Schools office and business offices of all Marin school districts will be closed. State offices will be open.

On Saturday, post offices will have no deliveries and no window service, but lock box service and special delivery mail will be handled. Hamilton Air Force Base will be closed to all but essential functions Friday.

BUDGET

local property taxes would not be increased as the result of state welfare cuts; a proposal to spend any funds blue-penciled from the budget by the governor for schools; and a plan to start budget proceedings earlier in the year.

Sen. Randolph Collier, D-Yreka, a conferee, had instructions from Senate Democratic leaders to seek another $160 million more in school aid contingent upon passage of a tax reform bill to finance it and a new formula for distribution of school aid.

He said other conferees refused to listen.

Assembly Democratic leader John J. Miller of Berkeley told reporters that the conference committee headed by Republican Assembly Speaker Robert T. Monagan refused to hear Democratic appeals.

But Monagan countered that a "majority of the Democrats decided that they just wanted to sit around and leave the State of California in the perilous condition we find ourselves."

Republicans hold a slight 40-39 edge in the Assembly and a 21-19 margin in the Senate Budget acceptance requires a two-thirds favorable vote in both Houses.

Monagan indicated to reporters that the Assembly's original out-of-balance budget may be revived for another vote.

OBITUARIES

Frederic J. Rademaker Dies At 88

Frederic J. Rademaker, former deputy auditor for Marin County, died yesterday in a Hemet, Riverside County, hospital following a brief illness. He was 88.

A native of San Francisco, Rademaker lived in Mill Valley at 132 Sycamore Avenue for many years. He moved to Southern California to live with friends last year.

Before working as deputy auditor he was chief clerk for the Northwestern Pacific Railroad.

Memorial service is pending at Russell and Gooch Mortuary, Mill Valley. Donations to a favorite charity or the Marin County Heart Association preferred.

ROBERT D. WEBER

Robert D. Weber, 3, son of Maj. and Mrs. Russell W. Weber of 1641 Merritt Drive, Novato, was pronounced dead on arrival at Hamilton Air Force Base Hospital after collapsing at his home, according to the Marin County coroner's office.

An autopsy was performed yesterday, but cause of death has not been determined, the coroner's office reported today.

The boy was born in Washington state, but had lived in Novato with his parents for the past year and a half.

He also leaves a sister, Dawn; paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Weber of Deltona, Fla.; and his maternal grandparents, Mrs. Marge Marino of San Francisco and Don Ihle of Miami, Fla.

A Rosary will be said at 6 p.m. today at Keaton's Chapel of Marin in Novato. Tomorrow at 10:15 a.m. a mass of the angels will be said for the repose of his soul at Chapel 1, Hamilton Air Force Base. Burial will be at Mount Olivet Cemetery, San Rafael.

ENRICO ARTIGIANI

Enrico Artigiani of San Anselmo died yesterday in a local hospital following a short illness.

Artigiani, who lived at 117 Meadowcroft Drive, had been a resident of Marin for 15 years. A native of Perugia, Italy, he moved to California 33 years ago. He was 78.

He retired 13 years ago from Superior Auto Painting in San Francisco where he had been employed for 15 years as an auto worker.

Artigiana was a member of the Italian Catholic Federation.

He is survived by his wife, Agostina, with whom he celebrated his golden wedding anniversary in 1961. Also surviving are two sons, Frank of San Francisco and Duilio of Fairfax; a daughter, Mary Fugiaini of San Francisco, and eight grandchildren and 16 great-grandchildren.

Requiem Mass will be offered at 9:30 a.m. at St. Anselm's Church, San Anselmo. Entombment will be at Mount Olivet Cemetery. The Rosary will be recited today at 8 p.m. at the Chapel of the Hills. Spiritual bouquets are preferred by the family.

LAWRENCE MANSIR

Requiem Mass for Lawrence R. Mansir, a deputy state attorney general, will be today at 8 p.m. at Our Lady of the Redwoods Church, Garberville.

Mansir, who lived at 107 Loring Avenue, Tamalpais Valley, was killed Saturday in an auto accident near Garberville. He was 33.

A native of La Jolla, San Diego County, he moved to Marin County five years ago following his graduation from Bolt Hall, law school of the University of California at Berkeley.

He joined the attorney general's San Francisco staff following his admission to the California bar in 1965 and was in the criminal law division.

He is survived by his wife, Marcelline Mansir; two sons, David and Adam Mansir of Tamalpais Valley; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy P. Mansir Sr.; and three brothers, Roy P. Mansir Jr. of Lakewood, Monte R. Mansir of San Francisco and Richard R. Mansir of Lakewood.

Rosary will be recited today at 5 p.m. at the Riverwood Chapel of Garberville. Burial will be tomorrow at 3 p.m. at Mount Olivet Cemetery.

congressional office, doing most of his work out of the Speaker's office. Sweig managed the district office.

"Practically all of my time is confined to the Speaker's officeship, although I don't ignore my duties to my district," McCormack said.

McCormack waved at Sweig, who sat with defense counsel, as he entered the courtroom and Sweig stood briefly before McCormack was sworn in as the government's 46th witness. Three generations of Seymour's family were in the jampacked courtroom as the prosecutor began by asking McCormack to outline his duties as Speaker.

McCormack gave a long, rambling dissertation on his history as a legislator and even discussed the fine points of Congressional strategy before Seymour, who listened patiently for five minutes, interrupted to get down to specifics.

100 Abortions On First Day

NEW YORK (UPI)—Approximately 100 abortions were performed in city hospitals Wednesday, the first day of the state's new liberal abortion law.

Another 2,000 women in the city were registered for the operation, which can now legally be performed on married and unmarried woman within the first 24 weeks of pregnancy.

According to reports from hospital authorities there were no complications. Dr. Joseph T. English, director of the New York City Health and Hospitals Corp., said "things seem to be going smoothly so far."

Nevertheless city authorities were concerned about an expected deluge of patients, especially during the first year the law will be in effect.

The city's municipal hospital system was considering rushing 350 physicians through a specialized training course to prepare them for 50,000 to 100,000 city women who authorities anticipate will take advantage of the law annually.

The numbers, admittedly an educated guess, could be swelled considerably by upstate, out-of-state and even out-of-country patients —a development which would place a tremendous strain on city facilities.

Patients from out-of-state can obtain abortion in New York at private hospitals but the city's 24 municipal hospitals will restrict themselves primarily to resident patients.

New Government's Legislative Plans

By JOHN J. MEEHAN

LONDON (UPI) — Britain's new Conservative government promised today to strengthen the economy, curb inflation and strikes and slash taxes.

It also promised to work for peace in the Middle East and Southeast Asia.

The government, elected in an upset general election June 18, handed its first comprehensive legislative package to the new parliament in a speech read to it by Queen Elizabeth II.

The Queen rode to parliament in her gilded state coach, escorted by plumed cavalrymen with flashing breast-plates and to a background of military brass bands.

From her throne in the House of Lords, surrounded by peers in ermine-tipped robes and members of the new House of Commons in dark business suits, she read the traditional "Queen's Speech."

The speech was written for her by the new government and constituted a survey of its legislative program up to October, 1971.

The speech concentrated mainly on home front legislation, putting into effect many of the promises made by the Conservatives during the election campaign.

Among them were reform of Britain's strike-ridden industrial relations, pensions for Britons over the age of 80 who do not qualify for existing retirement pensions, a bill to treat Commonwealth immigrants like any other foreigners, stepped up measures to safeguard law and order and deal with riotous demonstrators and speeding up of the process of law.

Marin Student Pleads Innocent

James J. Kuhns, 39, of 54 Wreden Avenue, Fairfax, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to a charge of burglarizing a Fairfax home on June 9.

A preliminary hearing was set for next Thursday.

Judge Peter Allen Smith released Kuhns from jail without bail yesterday upon learning that he is a fulltime College of Marin student and has no previous criminal record.

Kuhns is accused of stealing $15 in coins from the home of Michael Cooke of 58 Wreden Avenue, Fairfax.

Hub Planners Eye Stand On Zucker

The San Anselmo Planning Commission will discuss whether to express an opinion on the firing of Marin County Planning Director Paul C. Zucker when it meets at 8 p.m. Monday at city hall.

The commission also is to resume discussion of federally backed flood and mudslide insurance, and of fees charged for use permit applications.

Applicants will include Andrew P. Stafford, seeking apartment zoning for a parcel at 180 Tunstead Avenue now in duplex zoning, and Coinette Co., seeking a use permit for a coin-operated laundry at 11 Madrone Avenue.

Lagunitas Youth Booked In Hall

A 17-year-old Lagunitas youth has been booked into Marin Juvenile Hall after he was discovered peering into the windows of an unoccupied house at 105 Mountain View Avenue in Lagunitas which had just been burglarized, sheriff's deputies reported yesterday.

David Norman Guthrie of 350 Cintura Avenue was stopped Monday by a sheriff's deupty who yelled at him, but a companion escaped. A drill and liquor taken from the house were found nearby, the deputy said.

Bank Holds Display

An exhibition of paintings in varied techniques by 21-year-old San Francisco artist Lon Shapiro is on display at the Ross Valley Savings and Loan Association, San Anselmo, through July.

Public Safety Contract Talks Pass Deadline

Negotiators for the County of Marin and about 210 public safety employees failed to reach agreement on a new contract by the midnight deadline last night and a 60-day extension clause went into effect.

Asst. County Administrator John F. Barrows reported no substantial progress toward a settlement. The public safety personnel are represented by the Marin County Employees Association.

The bargaining unit is made up of sheriff's deputies, firemen and radio personnel in the communications department. The deputies are reportedly seeking a 17.5 per cent pay increase and the firemen, a 10 per cent hike plus a 25 per cent reduction in hours.

Negotiations are scheduled to continue Monday.

Defendant To Court In Board Fray

A jury trial has been set for July 27 in Marin Municipal Court for a Mill Valley man charged with willfully disturbing a public meeting and resisting arrest stemming from a disturbance at a board of supervisors hearing on June 18.

Peter Edler appeared in court yesterday bearing a tape recorder which Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. finally allowed him to use after checking to determine if there were a rule against recorders and finding none.

Edler also announced that he wished to act as his own attorney and after saying that charges against him should be dropped since they were "political," he refused to enter pleas. He also refused to waive his right to a jury trial within 45 days so Judge Goldstein entered an innocent plea for him and set a trial date.

He also told Edler to appear next Wednesday for a pretrial conference and Edler agreed, although he said he planned to be married that day. The judge asked him what time, and Edler replied, "all day." He added that he would still come to the conference.

Edler was arrested when he refused to be silenced during a welfare hearing, grabbed an American flag which was wrested from him by Supervisor Louis H. Baar and struggled with a deputy sheriff.

Manpower Commission Slates First Meeting

The organizational meeting of the Marin County Manpower Commission — intended as the start of a comprehensive job development program — will be held at noon Wednesday at the office of the Economic Opportunity Council, 1227 Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael.

The county board of supervisors has approved a plan under which the manpower efforts of 28 agencies would be coordinated.

Public Fear Of DDT Hampering Tests Of Possible Replacements

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI)—The outcry over lingering pesticides is hampering the search for an acceptable alternative to DDT, U.S. Forest Service researchers complain.

Researchers have lab-tested a dozen new "ecologically sane" compounds for controlling forest insects. But public "fear and overreaction" is so intense they can't get them into the field.

FEDERAL FREEZE

Even if they could be field-tested, a chemical industry spokesman said, the Agriculture Department has imposed a moratorium on new compounds.

Ironically, until these new, highly selective, compounds can be tested in the field, the Forest Service will have to continue to use the old methods —including limited amounts of DDT—for the nation's forests.

One chemical which researchers say has been thoroughly lab-tested for every imaginable effect and under every condition, is called Zectran. An expensive compound, it probably will never be produced commercially without government subsidy.

Researchers developed Zectran for use against one particularly destructive pest, the spruce budworm, but they believe it might be useful against others.

'PUBLIC FEAR'

"There's so much public fear and overreaction to the use of new compounds that they don't even want you to do the testing," said Carl Crisp, a plant physiologist for the Forest Service.

"If there are going to be alternatives to DDT, somewhere along the line the experimental work has to be done and it has to be done in the environment".

Crisp said small-scale field experiments were necessary with researchers publicizing what they were doing and immediately dropping any project the public didn't approve of.

"It's ridiculous to give us money for research and not let us take the next step," Crisp said. "It's like building a rocket for the moon and not firing it."

Raymond Miskus, a chemist on the team of Forest Service researchers, said an extensive project was launched in 1964 for the specific purpose of eliminating DDT in forests.

"We've investigated a whole variety of methods of control that aren't just chemically oriented—that aren't just a simple evaluation of an insecticide on an insect," Miskus said. "We're concerned with better means of application, better timing and the total effect on wildlife, fish, other insects and the region's ecology."

Miskus said more data has gone into the study of Zectran, for example, than any other compound in forestry research history.

Dow Chemical Co. was supposed to produce Zectran. A company spokesman said it still could be done if Forest Service requirements were large enough to make it economically feasible, but even then the Agriculture Department would have to clear it first.

The spokesman added that the department's moratorium against anything used for control is so all-inclusive "you couldn't clear ordinary table salt."

Far in the future are "third generation pesticides"—biological controls, hormones and sterilization. The investigations carried out with these will be similar to those with chemicals, but more expensive and time-consuming, researchers said.

And even these so-called "natural" compounds are part of the life system, regardless of how they're categorized.

"They're all foreign molecules when introduced into a new living system," Crisp said. "Sugar is a potential toxic if you eat enough of it."

The U.S. research is being applied in some measure, however, Crisp added, even if not in this country. Canadian forestry officials have put some of the new compounds to work in their own forests.

Red Cross Sets Canoe Class

The second summer session of basic canoeing classes for those 12 years old and up will be offered by the Marin Canoe Club and the Marin County chapter of the American Red Cross Monday through July 17 at the Civic Center Lagoon, according to the local Red Cross chapter.

Advanced registration for the two-hour 11 a.m. children's and the 7 p.m. adult classes must be completed with Liana E. Broadstone, 84 Golden Hinde Boulevard, Terra Linda.

Deadline is 10 a.m. Sunday at the Marinwood Community Center at which time the required swim test for all enrollees will be given.

Two Face Hearing On Pot Charge

A preliminary hearing was to be held today in Marin Municipal Court for David William Decker, 24, of Mill Valley, and Philip James Tolmach, 19, of New York, N.Y., who are charged with growing marijuana.

The two were arrested June 20 when sheriff's deputies spotted them carrying a suspected pot plant down a street in Homestead Valley.

Supervisors' Pay Scale Is Shelved

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—A bill raising the salaries of county supervisors by up to $7,500 has been rejected by the Assembly after several lawmakers insisted the local officials are already paid enough.

The measure by Assemblyman John T. Knox, D-Richmond, failed on a 20-36 vote Wednesday. It would set the salaries on the basis of population and thus eliminate the need for the Legislature to approve or reject each county's request for pay raises.

Each of Marin County's five supervisors would have gotten a pay jump of $2,000 a year, from the current $12,000 to $14,000. In Sonoma, the supervisors' salaries would have been unchanged at $15,996.

The bill was returned to the Assembly Local Government Committee which Knox chairs. The Assembly expunged the vote from the record.

Opponents of the measure said the supervisors would be getting too much money.

Assemblyman Carlos Bee, D-Alameda, said the salaries of the Alameda County supervisors, would jump from $14,500 to $19,000 a year.

"I think in Alameda County, that's plenty of money for them," Bee said. "If they don't like the job they can quit."

Assemblyman John Briggs, R-Fullerton, added, "the only time the Orange County supervisors talk to me is pay raise time."

Under the proposal, Sacramento County supervisors would receive the largest increase—$7,500—from the present $10,500 a year to $18,000.

Currently, if county supervisors want a pay raise they seek grand jury permission and submit the request to the Legislature which usually routinely approves it. Knox said the Legislature was a "rubber stamp" for the juries and supervisors.

His bill, in setting the schedule of salaries bases on population of counties, authorizes an automatic raise for supervisors when the population increases to the next salary level.

The measure does not apply to charter counties, such as Los Angeles, where supervisors' salaries are automatically placed at the same level as Superior Court judges.

The salary would be $19,000 in counties with 1 million to 1.5 million; $18,000 for 500,001 to 1 million; $17,000 for 400,001 to $500,000; $15,500 for 326,001 to 400,000; $14,000 for 200,001 to 300,000; $12,500 for 100,001 to 200,000.

Counties with 75,001 to 100,000 population would pay $11,000; $9,500 for 50,001 to 75,000; $8,800 for 40,001 to 50,000; $7,800 for 30,001 to 40,000; $6,800 for 20,001 to 30,000; $6,300 for 10,001 to 20,000; $5,800 for 5,001 to 10,000; $5,300 for 2,501 to 5,000; $4,800 for 1,001 to 2,500; $3,800 for 501 to 1,000; and $1,500 for zero to 500.

Education Conclave Told Of Reorganization Plans

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A National Education Association expansion that will make it the most powerful organization in the nation, "on any issue" is predicted by its president.

President George D. Fischer of Des Moines, Iowa, told reporters Wednesday he seeks a reorganization of the NEA which is now a complex and complicated affiliation of state, local and national groups.

Within five years, he also predicted a merger with the American Federation of Teachers into a group that would represent almost all of the country's 2 million teachers.

"Nothing will stop us from becoming the most vibrant and forceful group in America on any issue," he declared.

Fischer, here for the NEA's 108th annual convention, also criticized President Nixon for reductions in federal funds for education. The President said the cutbacks were a move against inflation.

The NEA, Fischer said, does not want additional taxation, only a redistribution of available funds.

"You could take $20 billion out of the defense budget and not even miss it," he asserted, pointing out that sum would pay for a third of the cost of elementary and secondary education.

Another speaker was Sally Williams, president of the NEA's school nurses department who reported that psychoactive drugs are used widely to calm down children who can't sit still long enough to learn.

Some children have "springs inside them," she said while noting the tranquilizing drugs are not given without a prescription from a physician.

Her visits to school nurses in various parts of the country shows that the drug-aid program is most highly developed in parts of New York, California and Michigan, she said.

Phone Tips To Mother Save Son

SANTA ANA, Calif. (UPI)—When Carolyn Rios, 25, found her 2-year-old son face down in a small plastic wading pool in their backyard Wednesday she pulled him from the water and immediately telephoned police.

She told officer Tom Wells her son Matthew was blue in the face. Wells contacted the fire department on a direct line and rescue units were sent to the woman's home.

Wells then gave Mrs. Rios instructions how to perform mouth-to-mouth resuscitation. Alternating between the telephone and her son, Mrs. Rios began forcing air into Matthew's lungs.

But she stopped.

Wells asked her.

"There's water pouring out of his mouth," she said.

"I told her that was good," Wells said, and Mrs. Rios continued. By the time rescue units arrived she had revived the boy.

Matthew was taken to Children's Hospital in Orange for observation.

Charge Against Couple Dropped

A criminal charge of failing to arrange for the burial of their dead baby against a New York man and woman was dismissed yesterday in Marin Municipal Court when it was learned that funeral arrangements had been made.

Released were Edwin L. Kittredge and Barbara O'Dell, who said their 20-day-old son, Shawn Lee O'Dell, who died in a Strawberry motel last Tuesday, will be buried in Fresno.

The coroner's office had asked that the charge be filed when the couple left Marin County without arranging for a burial.

Today is Thursday, July 2, the 183rd day of 1970 with 182 to follow.

The moon is between its last quarter and new phase. The morning stars are Mercury and Saturn. The evening stars are Venus, Mars and Jupiter.

Draft-age men in the United States born on this date are number 350 in the lottery.

On this day in history:

In 1776 the Continental Congress formally approved a resolution which became the Declaration of Independence. It was signed two days later.

In 1881 President Garfield was shot by Charles Guiteau in Washington. Garfield died Sept. 19, 1881.

In 1937 American aviatrix Amelia Earhart and co-pilot Frederick Noonan were reported lost over the Pacific. They were never found.

In 1964 President Johnson signed the new Civil Rights Bill.

A thought for the day: American educator Horace Mann said, "Be ashamed to die until you have won some victor for humanity."

Wasps Used To Curb Alfalfa Weevil Peril

ITHACA, N.Y. (UPI) Pesticides will not be necessary within a few years in order to control the economic menace of the alfalfa weevil, according to entomologist George G. Gyrisco of Cornell University.

Gyrisco reports that introducing several species of wasps conquered the weevil in the Orange County area of New York's Hudson Valley. The wasps deposit eggs into the larvae of the alfalfa weevil and when the egg hatches, the paraiste feeds off the weevil host.

Foe's Attack Can Be Blunted By Discarding A Major Loser

An ugly opponent will sometimes try to run you out of trumps by forcing you to ruff his long suit. If dummy has strength in that suit you can often blunt the attack by discarding instead of ruffing.

Opening lead -- ♠ K

SWITCHES TO CLUB

West led the king of spades and switched to a club when the queen of spades appeared on the first trick. South won with the jack of clubs and led the queen of hearts to force out the ace.

East returned the nine of spades, and South ruffed, hoping to draw trumps and score an overtrick by way of a successful diamond finesse. As it happened, the bad trump break forced South to use all of his remaining trumps to draw those held by East.

Declarer then led a club to dummy's king and returned the nine of diamonds for a finesse. West won with the king of diamonds and cashed the ace of spades to defeat the contract.

CINCH PLAY

South missed his chance to cinch the game and rubber when East returned the nine of spades. South should discard a diamond instead of ruffing.

West would win with the ace of spades (the third defensive trick), and would return a spade to dummy's ten. East would follow suit (as expected, from the fact that he failed to start a high-low at the first trick), and South would discard a second diamond.

DRAWS TRUMPS

Now South would draw trumps and return to dummy with the king of clubs to discard a third diamond on the jack of spades. This would eliminate the need for a diamond finesse, and South could claim the rest of the tricks.

As dealer, you hold:
♠ — A K 7 5 3
◆ — K 4 2
♣ — 10 9 8 2.
What do you say?

ANSWER: Pass.

Years ago this was considered a minumum opening bid, but most of today's experts would pass it. The hand would be worth a bid if the king of diamonds were changed to the ace, and some experts would bid without any change in the high cards if only the low spades were 10-9-x instead of three very low cards.

Guard Rails On Roads For Tokyo Pedestrian

TOKYO (UPI) —The Tokyo metropolitan government plans to spend 2.9 billion yen ($8 million) this year building steel guard rails along streets to protect pedestrians.

Sidewalks are rare in Tokyo and pedestrians walk along the sides of streets. City officials report that Tokyo has 11,400 miles of streets but only 1,200 miles are protected by guard rails. About 360 pedestrians were killed in traffic accidents in Tokyo last year.

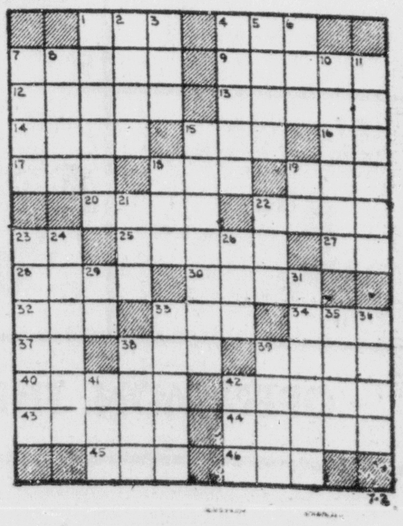
Yesterday's Answer



Smog Curbs Wrestle Bay's Growth

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Air pollution controls on industry and motor vehicles are almost keeping up with the growth of the Bay Area, it was reported yesterday.

The weight of air pollutants last year was estimated at 9,179 tons a day, an increase of 919 tons a day since the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District was formed in 1955.

The figures were reported in the district's annual inventory of the sources of pollution — with the usual heavy stress that the state, not the district, has jurisdiction over motor vehicles.

The report acknowledged, however, that automotive controls had cut 149 more tons of pollutants last year compared to 1968, while district controls on stationary sources had cut 85 tons during the same period. The report also conceded that most of the 85 tons were cut because power plants used more hydroelectric power instead of burning oil.

The district's chief administrative officer, D. J. Callaghan, predicted that 1970 figures will show a cut of about 980 tons a day because of the ban on backyard burning that went into effect in January.

In yesterday's report on violations during May, four industries were responsible for 282 tons of pollutants a day. Standard Oil Co. in Richmond led with 89 tons, followed by American Smelting and Refining Co. of Crockett with 79 tons, and Phillips Petroleum Co. with 72.4 tons and Shell Oil Co. with 41.6 tons, both in Martinez.

Violations in June were issued against Whalen's Barber Shop in San Anselmo and the Valhalla Inn in Sausalito, the report noted.

Callaghan's report on the sources of pollution estimated that there would have been 16,279 tons of pollutants a day without controls, thus potential pollution has been reduced by 43.6 per cent.

Callaghan said that further cuts would come after tough new regulations, now being considered by the district, are imposed on industry.

Callaghan has recommended that the new standards be imposed first on new and expanded industry, but that existing industry be given three years to comply.

But the new chairman of the board of directors quickly rejected Callaghan's statement that the new standards would not be imposed on existing industry for three years. The chairman, Santa Clara County Supervisor Victor Calvo, said it was only Callaghan's "conjecture whether the board will allow that much time."

Calvo, frequently critical of the district during his five years on the board, was elected chairman to replace former Piedmont Councilman Laurence Kelly, who did not run for reelection and thus had to leave the regional board.

Calvo frequently has called for more stringent pollution controls and for full public disclosure of district records, but generally was outvoted by a majority of the 12 directors. The replacement last month of three of the directors apparently gave Calvo the majority he needed; he was elected unanimously upon the recommendation of a three-member committee.

Calvo also requested Callaghan to come up with another system of figuring the severity of pollution "to account for other factors" than simply weight. District critics have urged the pollutants be weighted according to the effects on health.

Sausalito Councilman Wyman Hicks was named board secretary in the election.

U.S. Rejects Spending To Spy On Smoke

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A plea for money to develop a smoke-measuring instrument needed to toughen air pollution controls has been rejected by the federal government.

Bay Area Air Pollution Control District officials said that their application for a $315,005 grant had been turned down without explanation in "a rather terse letter" from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare."

The opacity of smokestack plumes long has been measured by an eyeball chart. Industry has complained that this method was too subjective, but it has been upheld in court tests.

But district officials noted in their report yesterday to the board of directors that increasingly tough controls will require a reliable instrument to make the measurements.

The grant was to have been for development of a laser radar. It also would overcome difficulties in measuring plumes saturated with water vapor, and would work at night.

The district's chief administrative officer, D. J. Callaghan, reported that he was working with "an automobile company" that may finance the development program.

Theft Suspects In Court Today

Berkeley residents Dwight Imogar Windham, 19, and Paul Allen Prince, 20, were to have a preliminary hearing today in Marin Municipal Court on a charge of grand theft stemming from the stealing of a ring and watch from a San Rafael pawn shop Friday.

Prince is also accused of possessing marijuana.

Secret Service agents have also placed a hold on the two for investigation of counterfeiting after police said they found several torn edges of $10 bills in Prince's possessions along with a form for redeeming mutilated currency.

Maddox To Speak At Boston Rally For God, Country

BOSTON (UPI)—The eighth annual New England Rally for God, Family and Country, featuring appearances by Gov. Lester Maddox of Georgia and former Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson, kicks off its four-day program today.

Col. Laurence E. Bunker, a long-time aide to Gen. Douglas McArthur and chairman of the event, said the rally was a vehicle for bringing conservatives together to exchange ideas and renew their resolves.

Benson, a resident of Salt Lake City, was scheduled to address the convention Saturday afternoon. He was agriculture secretary in the Eisenhower administration.

Maddox was scheduled to speak Sunday after Dan Smoot of Dallas talks.

Many Filing Protests On Assessments

Requests for 1970-71 property assessment protest forms are being filled at a rapid rate, a clerk for the Marin County assessment appeals board said today.

Clerk Mona Elder said she has distributed 252 forms to disgruntled property owners. At this time last year, she had given out only eight.

The crush is apparently due to reassessment of more than half of Marin by the staff of County Assessor Bert W. Broemmel.

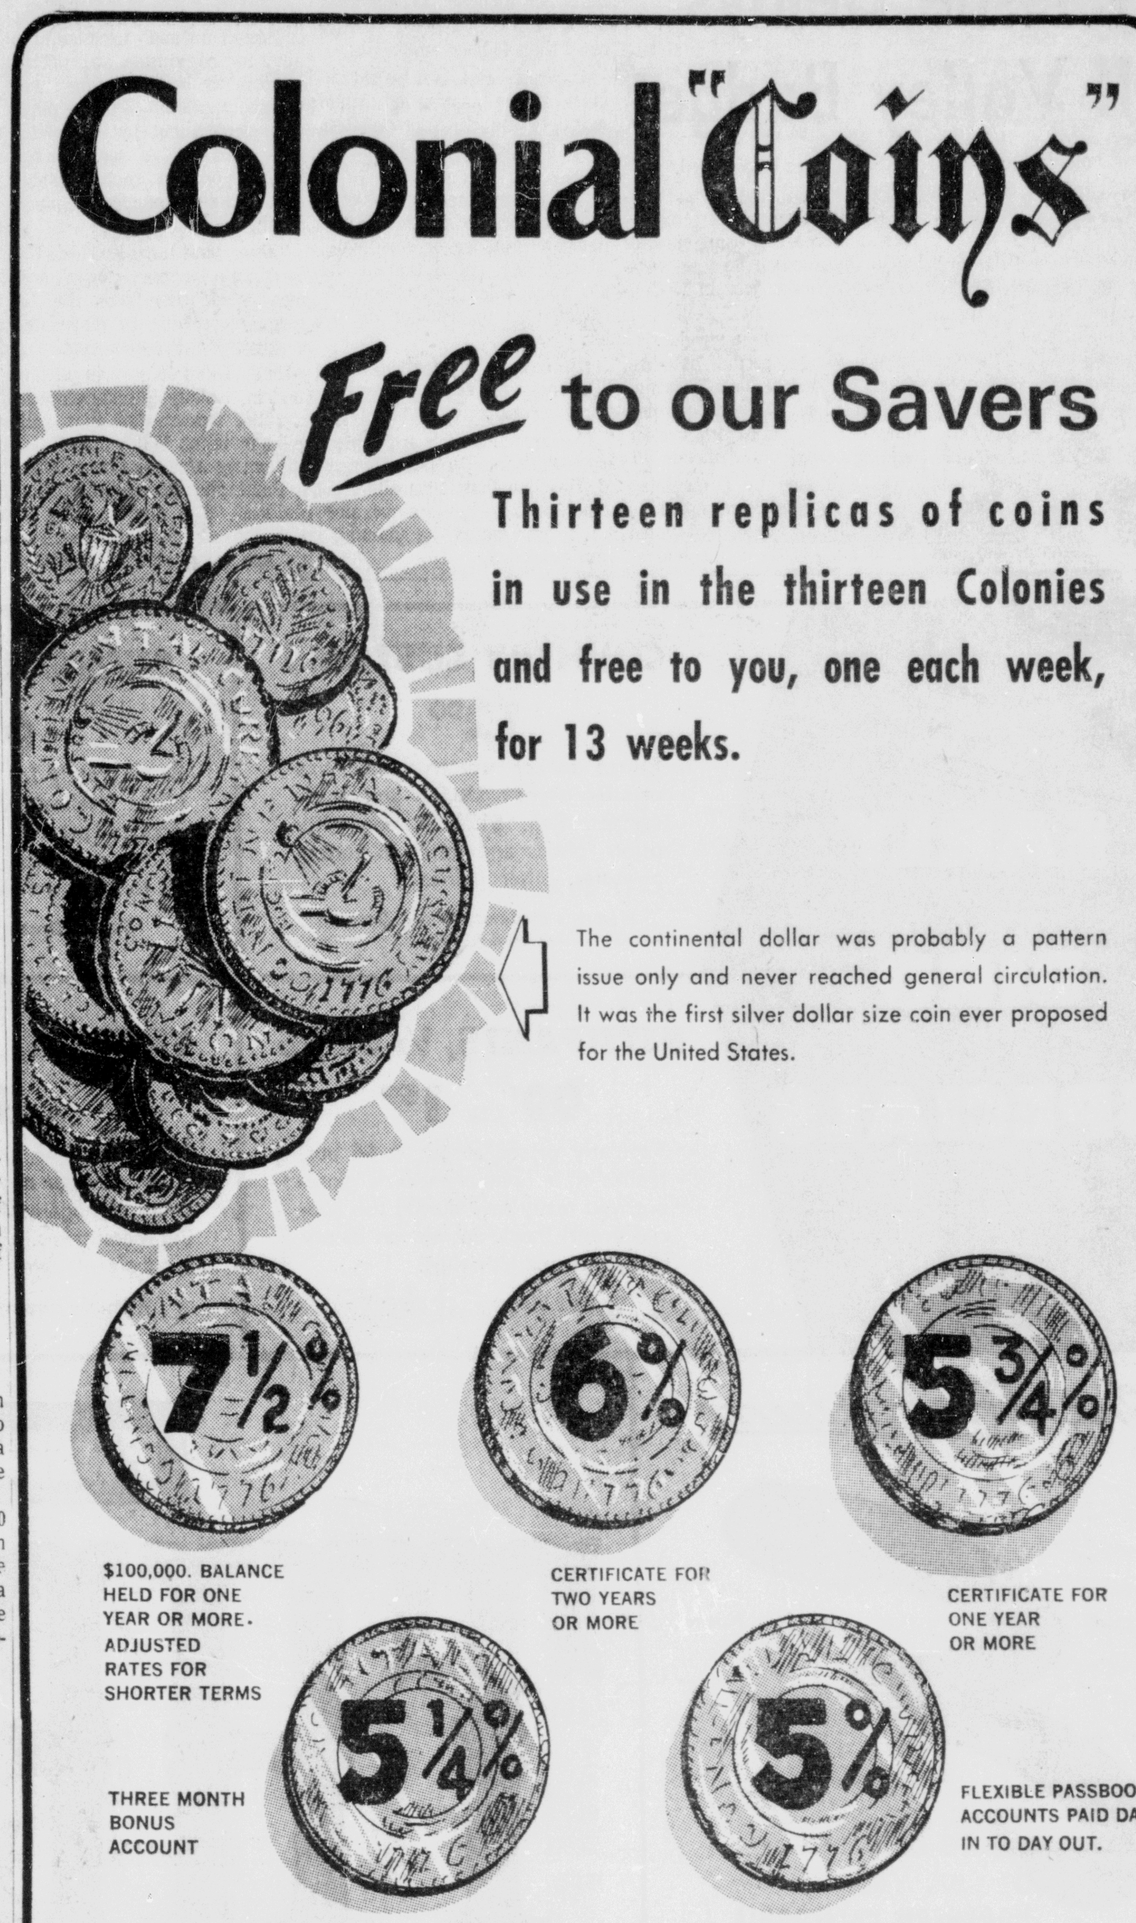
The filing of appeals began today and will close Aug. 26. Due to the increase, property owners were asked to file early.

Books of the county's assessment roll are available for inspection on the third floor of the Civic Center administration building, outside the board of supervisors chambers.

Arraignment Monday For Car Theft Suspect

Walter Lee Duffey, 20, of San Rafael, has been bound over to Marin Superior Court on a charge of car theft. He is to be arraigned Monday.

Duffey was arrested June 20 in San Rafael when a policeman stopped him because the car he was driving was emitting a great deal of smoke. A routine check showed the car to be stolen.



Pay Issue Delays Mill Valley Budget

The Mill Valley City Council encountered another delay last night to settlement of pay differences with city employees.

The council referred the problem back to negotiators after City Mgr. William H. Cunningham said that he and Henry E. Anderson, president of the Mill Valley Employees Association, had agreed on only half the matters blocking a settlement.

Meetings with the association were held Tuesday afternoon and night and all day yesterday in an effort to agree on median salaries, Cunningham said, but just half were established.

The council Monday instructed Cunningham to offer employees an increase to bring salaries up to the median paid to workers with similar jobs in 17 California cities.

Frustrated at unproductive salary discussions that have delayed the budget since hearings opened June 17, councilmen quickly set a tentative figure for salary increases and moved on.

On a motion by Councilman Jerome C. Hauke, seconded by Robert H. Andersen, they voted 4-1 to put $60,000 in the budget for this purpose.

Mayor George E. Wickham voted against the motion, saying that he thought 35-hour-week employees should get a smaller raise than 40-hour employees.

Anderson later said he did not know if the association would agree to the city's proposal to raise salaries only to the median.

"I'll present the city's offer to the members but I won't recommend acceptance or rejection," he said, and added that he did not know when the association would meet to consider the offer.

The council voted unanimously to make the eventual pay settlement retroactive to July 1.

The council next heard a plea from Planning Director Harvey M. Bragdon that the position of assistant zoning administrator not be eliminated, as Cunningham proposed.

Bragdon listed duties performed by Howard R. McGill, who holds the post: Preparing agendas for the city's planning commission and architectural advisory committee and taking minutes at both meetings; reviewing applications to the planning department for completeness; making a preliminary staff report on such applications; and preparing graphics for the bodies.

"If we don't have Howard, I'll be doing a lot more clerical and busy work. He frees me to spend more time on major developments," Bragdon said.

He said that 30 per cent of the land in the city is undeveloped, and the outcome of that will make or break Mill Valley."

Planning Commissioner Ivan S. Poutiatine defended McGill's position: "The city is doing a poor job on planning because it's not doing enough advance planning. As Howard gets more experienced in his job, the commission and Harvey can spend more time on future needs. It would be shortsighted to eliminate the position."

Wickham said that "it's not easy to reduce personnel," but maintained that cutting back in staff is necessary to trim the proposed $2,002,703 budget, which carries a projected tax rate of $3.115 per $100 assessed valuation.

The council voted 4-1, again with Wickham dissenting, to include $10,200 in the budget for McGill's position.

The council also left $50,770 in the budget for three storm damage repair projects, added $1,200 to the park and recreation budget for printing, added $500 for mileage for the senior recreation director and added $550 for signs for bicycle paths.

Another budget session was set for Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. at city hall to discuss capital outlay.

Union Spurns $5 Hour Raise

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Sheet Metal workers last night rejected a proposal to increase their wages and fringe benefits by about $200 a week within three years and voted to go on strike.

The management offer of a $5 hourly increase was one of the highest ever made in the country. The rejection came at a mass meeting where the majority of the 3,000-member AFL-CIO local 108 voted to support its negotiating committee's demand for a $5.70 hourly increase in wage and fringe benefits within three years.

Russians Salute U.S. Jazzman

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Soviets paid tribute today to American jazzman Louis Armstrong as a man deeply loved by the good people of the world.

The newspaper Soviet Culture published the praise in honor of Armstrong's 70th birthday. The article called him the King of Jazz and said: "He gained fame thanks to his expressive playing, virtuoso technique and the originality of images created by him."

It added: "Armstrong, who came from common Negro people and was educated in the tradition of musical folklore and spirituals, has been loyal to these principles during all his life and creative activities."

Reagan's Tax Reform Over Another Hurdle

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Gov. Ronald Reagan's $1 billion tax revision program today headed for its last committee test leaving in its wake a rival Democratic-sponsored plan.

The Senate Revenue and Taxation Committee Wednesday approved Reagan's massive tax shift on a roll call 6-5 vote and sent it to the Finance Committee.

The 11-member panel then killed a rival package by Sen. George Moscone of San Francisco on a 5-6 vote.

Prior to endorsement, committee members wrote into the program a provision guaranteeing the state would pick up any cost-of-living increases schools incur due to inflation.

Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, who is carrying the program for the administration, said the provision would cost the state general fund $65 million the first year the Tav Revision Program is in effect.

Bagley noted the state the past few years has paid for the inflationary rise in school costs. But, he added, the provision would mandate the state to do what it has done by custom. Schools otherwise would have to assess local property taxpayers for the extra sum.

During two hearings last month, educators generally criticized the tax reshuffle package for a spending ceiling it slaps on schools.

They said the state eliminated special tax overrides while ordering schools to hold the line in spending. They also said it did not offer districts more money to maintain quality education.

The Governor's program would generate $600 million the first year for various forms of property tax relief. By 1974, the revenue would total $1 billion.

The funds would come from payroll withholding, a 1-cent sales tax hike, a boost in the bank and corporations tax, higher income taxes for persons with larger salaries and a reduction in the oil depletion allowance.

This money would provide 20 per cent to 40 per cent in property tax relief for most homeowners, a $50 state income tax credit for renters and a 20 per cent business inventory levy slash.

Sen. Clark L. Bradley broke ranks with fellow Republicans to oppose the Governor's program.

Bradley also complained that wealthier Californians would be getting property tax relief at the expense of lower-income persons, who would pay a 20 per cent sales tax increase.

Voting for Reagan's program were Republican Sens. William Coombs, Rialto; George Deukmejian, Long Beach; Robert J. Lagomarsino, Ojai; Robert S. Stevens, Los Angeles; Howard Way, Exeter, and Democratic Sen. Tom Carrell of San Fernando.

Voting against it were Moscone, Bradley and Democratic Sens. Randolph Collier, Yreka; Nicholas C. Petris, Oakland; and Walter W. Stiern, Bakersfield.

Bay Congressmen Stress State Water Plan Dangers

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Two Bay Area congressmen, citing a new federal report, asserted yesterday that diverting Sacramento River water to Southern California may leave the bay "a dead lake as putrescent and foul smelling as Lake Erie."

Reps. Jerome Waldie, D-14th District, and Paul N. McCloskey Jr., R-11th District, issued their warning following release of a report by the U.S. Geological Survey that said California's multi-billion-dollar water project "could have significant effects on the overall quality of the bay." The river "is a major quality control" of the bay, the report found.

Waldie, whose home is in Antioch, said the report was "completely opposite to what Director William Gianelli of the State Department of Water Resources stated before a congressional committee last August."

He quoted Gianelli as telling committeemen that "tidal action is the principal mechanism by which pollutants are alternately removed from the bay." Gianelli, according to Waldie, also told the committee that "the effects of tidal dispersion of wastes far overwhelm the effects of river outflows from the delta."

Gianelli was not available to comment on the federal findings, reported in yesterday's Independent-Journal.

Year Of Dog Perilous To Pigs Of Malaysia

IPOH, West Malaysia (UPI) —The Chinese Year of the Dog may be dangerous for pigs in West Malaysia, veterinary experts warn. The danger of an outbreak of swine fever is real, they say, although it may not be on a scale larger than the epidemic of 1966-67 when about 10,000 pigs perished in West Malaysia.

Weeks On The Mango Tree Run

By JOAN DEPPA

LONDON (UPI) — The 20-year-old granddaughter of the late Sir Winston Churchill puffed on a slim cigar and talked about treating leprosy in the African bush.

Arabella Churchill recently spent two weeks on the "mango tree run" in Tanzania and Zambia, helping doctors and health workers with a British charity called Lepra.

"We drove from village to village and some patients waited underneath big mango trees at the end of the village to be examined and receive their pills," said Miss Churchill, who has been publicizing the charity's work for the past year.

THE BLUE-EYED blonde said she plans to make a lecture tour of the United States next November to talk about her African trip and the leprosy problem.

"The Lepra people reckon they could control leprosy in one generation and completely wipe it out by a second generation - if they had enough money," she said.

Miss Churchill said her trip into the bush convinced her that out-patient treatment was the way to stamp out the disease. She told about one modern hospital she saw for treating severe cases.

"It cost 200,000 pounds $480,000 - no doubt hospitals are necessary for some cases - but for the same money you could buy 150 landrovers and completely cover the country." she said.

SIPPING MACHINE - DISPENSED coffee from a plastic cup in her London office, Miss Churchill said out-patient treatment was helping rid leprosy of the social stigma attached to it for thousands of years.

"Before, they had to leave the community for treatment and by the time they returned it was difficult for them to be reassimilated," she said.

"When we go into a new village, we start with a little speech and say we won't take you away. Once they understand that, they do come."

"There's nothing strange about leprosy. The cure has existed since 1946, but it hasn't been eliminated because it's not a disease that kills, it just slowly cripples. African governments with so many other problems to solve obviously have not been able to make it one of their top priorities."

Miss Churchill pushed up the sleeves of her white jersey shirt and casually arranged the long gray suede vest she wore over wide gray trousers.

"Many of the really bad disfigurations you see, particularly on the legs and feet, are not caused by leprosy itself but because the nerves become numb, the patient steps on something and the wound becomes infected without him realizing it," she said.

ASKED WHAT was the most difficult aspect of her trip in the bush, she laughed and said, "Getting up every morning at 6 a.m. You've no idea how difficult that is for me. But I'd love to go again. In fact, I would like to go down there and work on the scene for a much longer period of time."

Miss Churchill took another gentle puff on her cigar and fingered one of the African carvings she brought back as mementos.

"The people down there are so marvelous, the bush is so different from what I expected. You just can't help wanting to help them."

Sociologist Says Marriage Structure Favors The Man

CLEVELAND, Ohio. — Marriage as it is now structured is just great for men but not really good at all for women, sociologist Dr. Jessie Bernard told the annual convention of the American Home Economics Association here yesterday.

"Many discontinuities in the lives of women are due to the change in occupation which marriage imposes — every wife becomes a housewife," said Dr. Bernard.

She said that a comparable situation would be for every man to have become a janitor when he was married.

A member of the advisory committee on uniform marriage and divorce laws, National Commission on Uniform legislation of Washington, D.C., the sociologist said that "if a woman marries at 21 and has her second — and last — child at 25, think what a small proportion not only of her total life, but even of her married life, she is devoting to child rearing, as more pre-school facilities become available to help share the load."

She added that more married women, compared to single women, are depressed, passive and phobic, and more are showing psychosomatic symptoms. Dr. Bernard suggested that women devote fulltime to rearing children to about age three and then start or continue careers.

Dr. Bernard spoke along with Dr. Catherine Chilman, psychologist and dean of faculty at Hood College in Maryland, in a discussion on "Changing Lifestyles for Women."

Dr. Chilman questioned whether mothers should try to transfer any substantial amount of child care to fathers or to the community, saying that babies and toddlers were dependent on vast quantities of consistent, dependable love from a specific adult, usually their mothers.

Both Dr. Chilman and Dr. Bernard are mothers of three young adult children.

Dr. Chilman also said, "Motherhood is no longer rewarded as a noble, socially useful calling. With the population threat, mothers are made to feel apologetic for having added to the population boom.

"Beyond the service needs to families, it is important that we give far more attention to social as well as physical ecology," she said. "By that I mean to the humanizing of the environment in respect to housing, recreation, transportation, community safety and sanitation."

Dr. Chilman said she had observed an increasing number of people who appeared afraid of deep human involvements. She said that today's mobility may be encouraging superficiality in relationships.

Marin Women

Kenneth Allen To Wed Susan Hansen Sept. 8

Dr. and Mrs. Robert S. Hansen of La Canada are announcing the engagement of their daughter Susan to Kenneth R. Allen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Reed R. Allen of San Rafael.

Susan and Kenneth, both seniors at Brigham Young University, plan to be married Sept. 8 in Los Angeles.

Carol and Louise Hansen are Susan's sisters. She is a graduate of La Canada High School. The future bride is a member of Phi Kappa Phi national scholastic fraternity and White Key, the senior women's service society at BYU. She is employed as a laboratory instructor at the university.

Kenneth is the brother of Mrs. John W. Bright of Provo, Utah, and Venette and Scott E. Allen of San Rafael. He was graduated from Terra Linda High School. The future bridegroom is also a member of Phi Kappa Phi and spent two years in Germany as a missionary for the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints. A recording technician at BYU, he is employed at Hewlett-Packard in Santa Clara during the summer.

Cheryl Murray Is Bride Of Stephen Anthony De Marta

Cheryl Lee Murray and Stephen Anthony De Marta, both of San Rafael, were married Saturday in Stewart Memorial Chapel at the San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo. A reception in Alexander Hall at the seminary followed.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Murray, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Roy De Marta Jr. All are residents of San Rafael.

Mrs. Pati Boyd of Burlingame was matron of honor for her sister, and Chris Doll of San Rafael was maid of honor. Stephen's sisters, Sandy and Audrey De Marta, Melanie MacCubbin and Linda Noel, all of San Rafael, were bridesmaids.

Steve Robinson was best man, and guests were ushered to their seats by the bridegroom's brother Brad De Marta, the bride's brother Richard Murray, Goerge Noel, Daniel Brooks and Jim Fletcher, all San Rafael residents.

Cheryl was graduated from Terra Linda High School and is employed by United California Bank in San Francisco. Bruce Murray is also her brother.

Also a graduate of Terra Linda High School, Stephen is employed by the Union Garage, Inc, in Fairfield. He is also the brother of Craig and Christian De Marta. He is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Roy De Marta of San Francisco and Mrs. William Steinbeck of Sebastopol and the great-grandson of Mrs. Christian De Marta of San Francisco and Mrs. Dave Kirkland of Santa Rosa.

Following a wedding trip to Carmel and Monterey the couple will live in San Rafael.

THE SUBURBAN SCENE

Wedding Held During Bridegroom's Mother's Visit From South Africa

By MOLLY MARIN

Mrs. Harry C. Transue is returning to Johannesburg, South Africa, tomorrow after visiting in Marin and attending the wedding of her son, Thomas Walker Transue, who wed Phyllis Marie Canavan Friday evening at St. John's Episcopal Church in Ross.

Tom and Phyllis had planned to be married in August, but, Mrs. Transue says, "I couldn't stay away that long so I coerced them into getting married while I was here."

For the wedding the bride wore a gown made by Portuguese women in Hawaii more than 100 years ago for the bridegroom's great-aunt. Tom's grandmother Mrs. E.K. Rose of Kentfield made fresh carnation leis for all of the members of the wedding party.

The senior Transues have lived in South Africa for two years, where he is employed by a world-wide construction and engineering firm. They find the country very much like California but the pace of living slower and more gracious. Before moving to Johannesburg, the Transues lived in Melbourne, Australia, for four years.

AN ORIENTAL garden surrounding a magnolia blossom filled swimming pool was the setting Saturday evening for an Hawaiian party hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Urban Morf and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Nelson at the Morfs' San Rafael home.

Guests at the luau included Messrs. and Mmes. Jack Clancy, John Agababian, Michael Varetakis, Richard Schau, Carl Boegershausen, Bud Fisher, Norbert Krier, Marvin Lechner, Bill Kuperus, Graham Woods, Rich Bottarini, Dick Alves, Bob Laufer, Bill Sigler, Norman Scheidt, Hank Rosso, Charles Salt, Haddon Salt, Neil Jordan, Larry Santa and Joe Sturiale and Mrs. Sue Gochner and Hanlon Tharp.

OLD MISSION Santa Clara was the setting June 21 for the wedding with an Edwardian theme uniting in marriage Julia Fahey Hauserman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dan M. Hauserman of Tahoe City, and Frank Tony Perachiotti Jr., son of the senior Perachiottis of Novato.

Gibson Girl style gowns were worn by the maid of honor and bridesmaids, and the bride and bridegroom's mothers were attired in early 1900 style dresses.

Julia and Frank are both students at the University of Santa Clara.

A FAMILY barbecue for 300 to 500 members will be held at the San Francisco Yacht Club on Saturday. Mrs. Robert Christensen assisted social chairman Joseph Madrigali in planning festivities.

A children's barbecue at noon will be followed by a fire truck ride and dune-buggy rides, balloons and games; while adults watch the club's top skippers, including some international champions, compete in match races.

Beginning with the barbecue at 5 p.m. a Dixie Land Band will entertain through out the evening of dining and dancing.

Dunderdale-Jonas Vows Are Exchanged In Novato Church

Beverly C. Jonas and Thomas C. Dunderdale exchanged wedding vows at Our Lady of Loretto Church in Novato on Saturday.

Beverly is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William M. Jonas of Novato and Thomas is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Dunderdale of Woodland Hills.

The bride chose as her matron of honor her sister, Mrs. Clayton Clement of Lafayette, and her maid of honor was Nancy Hartmann of Philadelphia, Pa. Bridesmaids were Nancy Cotugna of San Bernardino, Paula Dunderdale, sister of the bridegroom of Manhattan Beach, and Kathie Epidendio of Santa Venetia.

The bridegroom chose as his best man Michael Murphy of Agoura and ushering guests to their seats were Erik Watts and Clinton Ostrander of Woodland Hills and Daniel Austin of Santa Monica and James Hartmann of Berkeley.

A reception was held at the Oakview Club in Terra Linda. The couple will live in Coral Gables, Fla., where the bridegroom will do graduate work at the University of Miami. They are on a wedding trip to Carmel.

Beverly was graduated from Novato High School and they both were graduated last month from the University of California at Santa Barbara. Thomas also was graduated from W. H. Taft High School in Woodland Hills.

The bride has been employed each summer in her parents business, the Roger Wilco Market in Novato. Mrs. Alice Jonas of Santa Venetia is her grandmother.

Kappa Alumnae Elect Mrs. John W. Nixon

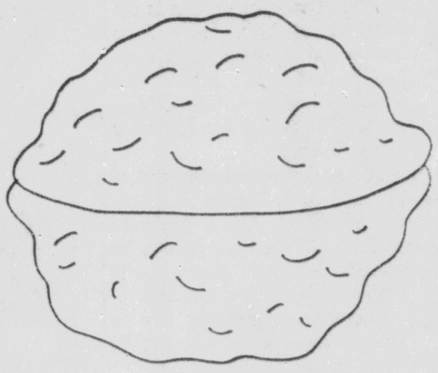
Mrs. John W. Nixon of San Rafael, new president of the Kappa Kappa Gamma Alumnae Association of Marin, has just returned from the sorority's centennial convention held in French Lick, Ind.

More than 500 delegates attended the national convention marking the sorority's 100th year, where 94 fellowships and scholarships were awarded.

A four-year-member of the Marin chapter, Lea Nixon has served as vice president, Panhellenic representative and chairman of the recommendations and project committees. Plans during her term of office include a cruise to Angel Island for a picnic, support of a rehabilitation project and monthly luncheon featuring "Key Kappas in Marin" and "Volunteers Needed" programs.

Born in Kansas City, Mo., Mrs. Nixon was graduated from Cornell University in Ithaca, N.Y. Her husband is a management consultant and the couple have two children, Diane, 10, and Jeffrey, 7 years old, who attend Oak View Dchool. Mrs. Nixon belongs to the Oak View School Association and is a teachers' aide at the school. She is also a member of Planned Parenthood Auxiliary.

MRS. JOHN NIXON



This is a nut.

It's exactly what we're not. We're also not a kook. Or a way-out. Or any thing remotely resembling any of those things. And you know what, neither is fashion. All of a sudden, the message is softness. Girlness. Body. It's knits that move. Satins that cling. It's pants as soft as skirts. And coats that float. And lovely long dresses that are as young in their own way as minis. Oh, it's exciting. And groovy. But grooviness and nuttiness are two different things. As we will be happy to demonstrate. Any day. At our place. Just for you.

See our fashions modeled informally at Holiday Inn every Tuesday luncheon.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

His Mother Finds Something Wrong With Every Girlfriend

I'm an 18-year-old guy. Every time I find a girl I like, my mother figures she is a no-good hussy who is going to trap me. She breaks us up, one way or another.

My last girl friend is respectable and fun-loving like her family. They really have good times together. Mom says they have loose morals and I shouldn't associate with them. That's because she once saw them drinking beer at a picnic.

She bothered my girl so much, calling to ask if I was there, and making snide remarks, that her mother got on the phone and really told my mother off. After that we pretended to break up — at the request of both parents—but we still see each other at friends' houses. (We don't date.)

Mom got wind of it and now she's telling my girl a lot of lies about me: That I've got mental quirks and am dangerous to be around, that bad blood runs in the family and she's taking big chances when she goes with me.

Helen, we aren't having an affair and we don't intend to. We like each other but wouldn't consider marriage. So why is my mother in such a swivet she'd want to scare girls away? She says she's determined to see me through college, but I wonder if it will end, even then? — GERARD

DEAR GERARD:

Probably not. Overly protective parents seldom outgrow it. Let's hope your college is at least 200 miles from home — and that you haven't inherited any metal quirks from your mother. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

A few months ago I met this groovy fella. We dated a few times, and then I got to thinking he might take me for granted, so I wasn't always available when he called. After I turned down three dates, he stopped calling.

How can I show him I still care? — HOPING AND PRAYING

DEAR H AND P:

Perhaps an invitation to a party might undo what you overdid.

And next time play it honest: If you like a guy, don't pull the old "You'll have to wait your turn" business on him. Groovy ones no longer wait. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

If you go to a party and they start passing pot around, what should you do? — NON-SMOKER, BUT NO PRUDE

DEAR NON:

Leave! In a bust, you'll have a hard time proving you're a non-smoker. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

What's the difference between a recession and a depression? — STUDENT

DEAR STUDENT:

It's mostly a matter of degree. As that prolific Mr. Anonymous once said, "A recession is when your neighbor has lost his job. A depression is when you lose yours." — H

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help you. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

Miss Nolen, Donald Orsow Are Married

Consuelo Nolen became the bride of Donald Vincent Orsow Saturday at St. Raphael's Catholic Church. A reception at the Meadows in Terra Linda followed the ceremony.

Kathy Amiral of Auburn, N.Y., was maid of honor, and the bridesmaid was Ronda Williams of Novato.

Best man for his brother was Kenneth Orsow of San Rafael, and Kenneth McClean, also of San Rafael, ushered.

Consuelo was graduated from Terra Linda High School and is employed by the Marin County Sheriff's Department. She is the daughter of Mrs. Mary Jane Sellers and the sister of Edward Lee Sellers and James Rex Beach, all of San Rafael. Mrs. Mary E. Beach of San Rafael is her grandmother.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald J. Orsow of San Rafael. Also a graduate of Terra Linda High School, he attends College of Marin and is employed by United Markets.

Following a wedding trip to Oregon the couple will live in Terra Linda.

PRESS GUIDE IS AVAILABLE

A new guide for press chairmen of organizations which are interested in getting news to the Marin Women's Section of the Independent-Journal is now available at the San Rafael main office and the Novato, Mill Valley and Southern Sonoma I-J offices.

The booklet, "Getting News Into Your Newspaper," is issued as a service of the Independent-Journal Women's Section to assist press chairmen for women's organizations.

The guide explains policies of coverage, how to prepare news stories and meeting notices, and the special stories and features emphasized by the section.

The booklets at the San Rafael office may be obtained from the switchboard on the main floor.

Kinchen-Adams Vows Said

Hamilton Air Force Base Chapel was the setting for the wedding of Susan Ann Adams and Harold Inman L. Kinchen on Saturday.

Susan, the daughter of Mrs. Fred L. Adams of Novato and the late Master Sergeant Adams, was attended by her sisters, Shelley Lou Adams and Dianna Lynn Adams, both of Novato.

Greg Jones of San Rafael served as best man, and Richard David Littler of Ignacio was the usher.

A reception was held at the Non-Commissioned Officers Club at Hamilton. Following a wedding trip to Mexico they will live in Petaluma.

The bride was graduated from Novato High School and is a legal secretary at Trumbull and Rush, attorneys in Novato.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde E. Kinchen of Atwater. He was graduated from Kubasaki High School in Okinawa and hopes to finish his last year of college at Sonoma State College.

He is employed as a mechanic at R & S Chevron in Belvedere.

Judy Lewis Is Bride Of Ron Lerch

Judy Lewis and Ron Lerch were married at Our Lady of Loretto Church in Novato on June 20.

Judy, the daughter of Jack Lewis of Las Vegas, was attended by Paula Grewe of Novato as her maid of honor, and Jan Dubose and Sandra Lerch, the bridegroom's sister, both of Novato, were bridesmaids.

Jerry Lewis of Sonoma, the bride's brother, was best man for the bridegroom, and ushers were Tom Wise and Scott Hanes of Novato

A reception was held at the Meadows in Terra Linda following the wedding. The couple will live in Fairfax after a wedding trip to Yosemite.

The bride was graduated from San Marin High School. She is also the sister of Mrs. Barbara Van Scoy of Novato and Philip Lewis of Las Vegas.

Ron is the son of Alton Lerch of San Francisco and Mrs. Frank Berthinier of Novato. He was graduated from San Marin High School and in enrolled at Jet-Mechanics in San Francisco. Mrs. Theresa Heran of Novato is his grandmother.

Is Skirt Length Debate Ending?

The great debate about skirt lengths no longer seems to be haunting Paris designer or customers. The mini is out. The most important skirt length is at mid-calf, a length that comprised at least 80 per cent of all collections at all prices.

The Chanel Length, just below the knee, was shown more often in the women's than junior market.

Lawn Watering

When watering the lawn in warm, dry weather, apply water as a gentle spray. Keep soil moist, but not flooded. Try to set up a watering pattern so there is a minimum of walking over the wet surface.

Richard Geissinger Weds Elizabeth Taylor In Church

Elizabeth Jean Taylor became the bride of Richard Geissinger of Fairfax on Saturday evening at the First Presbyterian Church in San Anselmo.

Elizabeth's sister, Mrs. Mary Jean Sheran of San Anselmo, was matron of honor, and the bridesmaids were Patricia Thomas of Novato, Kris Gehres of San Anselmo, Tami Niesingh of Mill Valley, Carol DeGraff and Nancy Bech, both of San Rafael.

Carl Geissinger of San Rafael was his brother's best man. Norbert Geissinger of Mill Valley, another brother, and Bill Nelson and Jim Dulebohn of Mill Valley, Mike Brady of Novato and Gary Remer of Fairfax ushered.

Hamilton Air Force Base Officers Club was the setting of the reception afterward.

The bride, who is employed with California Blue Shield Insurance in Fairfax, is a graduate of Sir Francis Drake High School and attended the College of Marin. Elizabeth is the sister of David Taylor of Fairfax and the Rev. Robert Taylor of Newark, who performed the wedding ceremony. Mrs. Ernest H. Taylor of San Anselmo and the late Mr. Taylor are their parents.

Lt. Col. and Mrs. Carl B. Geissinger of Mill Valley are Richard's parents and he has another brother, Jerry Geissinger, who is serving with the Army in Vietnam.

Richard was graduated from Tamalpais High School, attended the College of Marin and is employed with Kramar's Shoes in Corte Madera.

The couple will live in Fairfax.

Thomas Transue Claims Bride In Ross Wedding

Phyllis Marie Canavan and Thomas Walker Transue, both of San Francisco, were married Friday evening at St. John's Episcopal Church in Ross. A reception followed at the San Anselmo home of Dr. and Mrs. John E. Cann.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Canavan of Glen Ellyn, Ill., and the bridegroom's parents are former Marin residents, Cmdr. (ret.) and Mrs. Harry C. Transue of Johannesburg, South Africa.

Nancy Amato of San Francisco was the bride's sole attendant, and best man was Bruce William Merril of Belvedere. Guests were ushered to their seats by Donald Kreuzberker of Kentfield and David Michael of San Francisco.

Phyllis attended schools in Illinois. She is employed by Liberty National Bank in San Francisco and is the sister of Maureen Flaherty and Donald, Lawrence, Robert, Mary Jo and Ellen Canavan, all of Glen Ellyn.

Thomas was graduated from Redwood High School and attended Heald's College in San Francisco. He served in the Air Force and is now employed by the Pacific Telephone Company in San Francisco. His sisters are Tina and Sue Transue of Johannesburg, and he is the grandson of Mrs. E. K. Rose of Kentfield and Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Transue of Richmond.

The couple are living in San Francisco.

Redwood High Policy Spurs Lively Debate

The controversy over a partial open campus at Redwood High School spilled over into a Larkspur City Council meeting last night.

Mayor Benton A. Sifford Jr. said the city had received a letter from a resident of the Greenbrae Marina, adjacent to the school, complaining about student littering in the subdivision.

Two weeks ago, the Tamalpais High School District board received a flood of protests from Greenbrae Marina residents covering a wide range of alleged student misconduct. At that time, Principal Donald Kreps said the blame seemed to lie more with lower classmen and after-school activities than with seniors who are now allowed off campus with parental permission.

Sifford said he didn't wish the council to discuss the merits of continuing the partial open campus program, only what to do about the littering complaint, but his hopes were unfulfilled.

Several students, including student body president Steven Lederman, spoke in support of the policy, even suggesting extension to the full student body.

"I'll fight to the bitter end to keep a closed campus," said Councilman Neil R. Brixon. "This area doesn't lend itself to 2,500-2,600 students going off campus."

Student Gus Rowland said litter should be expected because students eat lunch outside.

"It should be kept on the school grounds in litter cans where it belongs," Sifford said firmly.

If lower classemn are violating school rules to leave the campus, Councilman Alfred J. Malvino said, "then I want to know what the principal's job is."

"There are always going to be people cutting classes," said Lederman. "The dean of boys and the dean of girls do their best to catch them."

The council voted to send the littering complaint to the school district board, urging that student activities be policed.

The Larkspur City Council Also:

DOGS — Heard Malvino protest that, despite numerous cases of unattended dogs, Marin County Humane Society officials had issued no citations to owners in May. Of the county's new animal control program, he said, "We've been sold another bill of goods." But the council wanted to give the program another month before assessing it fully.

SUITS — Met in closed session to discuss litigation, and City Mgr. Kent B. Bathurst reported later the city planned to file suit against the Ross Valley Flood Control Zone, the state and the Army Corps of Engineers for allegedly causing about $100,000 in damage to the Bon Air Bridge in connection with the Corte Madera Creek flood control project, and to file a condemnation suit against Northwestern Pacific Railroad and C. T. H. Wright in connection with reconstruction at Doherty Drive and Magnolia Avenue.

SALARIES — Formally approved new salary ranges for fiscal 1971 that will cost the city an additional $55,000.

MAPLE — Voted abandonment of Maple Avenue, a paper street in the southwestern section of the city.

MADRONE — Continued discussion of improvements to Madrone Avenue between Jones Way and Redwood Avenue, pending an updated traffic study.

DRAINAGE — Heard Bathurst report that the planning commission will discuss the proposed new drainage ordinance on July 14 and that a joint meeting with the city council will follow later this month.

DISTRICT — Voted to continue an area east of Highway 101 as a "study" district pending issuance of a ferry consultant's report to the Golden Gate Bridge District. The area has been proposed for a ferry terminal.

PARKING — Introduced an ordinance imposing two-hour parking on portions of Riviera Circle and Via La Brisa, off Doherty Drive.

AGREEMENT — Approved a work-study agreement under which College of Marin students become part-time employees of the city.

TRANSIT — Voted to oppose Marin Transit System's application before the state Public Utilities Commission for an extension of ferry commuter and shopper service because of lack of an overall transit plan for the county. Larkspur would be included in the system's new routes.

REZONING — Adopted an ordinance rezoning a portion of the McLeran property on Magnolia Avenue between Estelle Avenue and Murray Lane to enable construction of a new Bank of America branch.

Rohnert Park Stalls Action On Salaries

The Rohnert Park City Council last night approved two new employee positions and three departmental budgets, but delayed action on proposed salary increases.

In the first study of the $681,-152 budget for 1970-71, the council tentatively approved budgets of $140,690 for general government, $137,297 for public safety and $165,639 for public works.

In the public safety department, the council tentatively authorized an additional officer to bring the force to seven men. Also approved was a full-time secretary-clerk for the department, in place of the parttime position.

For the public works department, the council authorized an additional maintenance man to bring the crew to four.

Another budget session was set for Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. to consider salary increases proposed by City Mgr. Peter M. Callinan.

He has recommended 7.5 per cent increases for regular employees and 3.5 per cent for the superintendent of public works, public safety director and city manager.

Budget requests by other departments will also be considered Tuesday night.

Heart Ills Top S.F. Death List

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Heart disease is the leading cause of death in San Francisco, Department of Public Health figures show.

In a report released Wednesday, the department said 34.9 per cent of the 9,033 deaths in the city last year resulted from heart disease.

Cancer caused 18.9 per cent of the deaths and strokes 10.8 per cent.

Cuba Trip Rough On U.S. Captain

MIAMI (UPI)—Four U.S. servicemen aboard a hijacked San Francisco-to-Miami jetliner were held incommunicado in Havana and one Army officer was "strongarmed and handcuffed" and photographed by Cubans.

Davis Boots of Fort Myers, Fla., a Navy enlisted man, said he, an unnamed Army captain and two other servicemen were isolated in a small room at Havana's Jose Marti airport Wednesday for nine hours. The remaining passengers were taken into Havana.

The 39 passengers and crew members returned to Miami Wednesday night.

Dinner Dated To Aid Supervisor

A fund raising dinner-dance for supervisor-elect Arnold Baptiste will be held at 7 p.m., July 11 at the Wild Horse Valley Clubhouse in Novato.

The affair is sponsored by his campaign chairmen, George Evans, Gail Wilhelm, Ralph Giovanniello, Irving Perlman, Edward Ryken and Alfred Rivasplata.

The proceeds will go to pay his campaign deficit, according to the committee.

West Texas City Trial Against 'Midnight Cowboy'

BROWNWOOD, Tex. (UPI)— Artistic, Shameful. Profitable.

A jury heard those words and many others Wednesday used to describe the Academy Award winning motion picture "Midnight Cowboy."

The prosecution has rested its case against drive-in theater manager Floyd Allred, charged with showing an obscene movie —"Midnight Cowboy."· Now it's the defense's turn to try and prove the movie, which won the Oscar as the best picture of 1969, is really not all that bad.

The defense opened its attack by cross-examining many of the prosecution's early witnesses. One of them was Leon Addudle, pastor of the Cogin Avenue Baptist Church. He said the movie showed "a shameful display of sex and nudity and it turned me off."

Sam Tendergrast, fine arts editor and movie critic for the Abilene, Tex., Reporter News, said the movie had "artistic merit."

Gene Jacobs, United Artists Division sales manager from Greenwich, Conn., said the film has become one of the top 25 films of all time on the basis of rental value. He said the movie has grossed $17.4 million and 21.5 million persons had seen the movie, including 1.05 million Texans.

Rock Fest Will Study Ecology

WALPACK, N.J. (UPI)— Hard rock and smog will get equal time at a week-long pop music festival next month, promoters are expecting up to 100,000 people.

The festival will mix rock concerts with ecology workshops Aug. 2 at an 800-acre farm in Walpack Township, Sussex County.

The promoters said Wednesday the festival will be limited to 100,000 persons.

Foreigners In Sweden

STOCKHOLM (UPI) — The number of foreigners working in Sweden totaled 203,987 at the end of 1969, most of them Scandinavian, according to Swedish labor officials. Among the foreign workers were 98,370 Finns, 18,326 Danes, 17,710 Yugoslavians, 13,418 Norwegians and 14,888 Germans.

Family Planning Class

MANILA (UPI)—Deans and administrators of the 34 universities and colleges in the Philippines have proposed the inclusion of family planning in liberal arts, education and social science courses.

Under the gaze of two generations, artist Vern Allie creates one of his flowing glass sculptures at the Marin Art and Garden Fair

SUNBEAMS BRIGHTEN DISPLAYS

Art-Garden Opening Draws 3,624

The temperature was lethargically pushing 90 degrees. Coolly clad women in groups of two or three, or convoying coveys of half-dressed children, all perspiring gently, converged yesterday along the dappled paths of Ross on the 25th Marin Art and Garden Fair. (See results, page 26.)

A yellow-striped awning stands over the entrance gap in the serpentine brick wall, women in straw boaters selling tickets, deputies directing traffic and blue-uniformed guards guarding the gates, and big yellow shuttle buses puffing up to discharge their dozens.

Inside, a splashy display of bright orange zinnias, pelargoniums, chrysanthemums hits one in the eye, along with other plants even harder to spell.

An austere, almost Buddhistic exhibit in the dominantly white display by Mario Canale of San Rafael, off-white river rocks and gray cacti in glossy white display boxes under stretched canvas bands. White petunias around the border, white stone sculpture and didoes, a swirling shape of aluminum sheets.

The daytime visitors helped swell first-day attendance to 3,624 this year compared to 2,144 last year, when the fair was open only from 6 to 10 p.m. on opening day. Hours this year are 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. except for Sunday, the final day, when the gates will close at 8 p.m.

"Oh, look at those little gardens!" exclaims a junior high school girl as she sees a bonsai booth and its tiny wares at the entrance to a wild assortment of booths — everything from the Zero Population Growth group ("How Dense Can People Be!") to a booth full of Democrats, the cancer society, snow cones, jewelry makers, model school, computer character analysis, hot dogs, and pastrami sandwiches.

Fascinating displays of stones, thunder eggs, geodes, jewelry and charms in the Marin Mineral Society exhibit.

A Yamaha organ pumps away in a clearing near the Octagon House, sounding much better than the firm's motorcycles.

A gray-haired gentleman in dark gray suit and homburg, unaffectedly dignified, gestures with his gold-headed cane at a sprawl of glowing orchids beneath two workmen installing a big Empire style streetlamp.

The barn is full of striking photographs, the art gallery full of paintings ranging from superb to puzzling to dumb.

On the hill, the carnival rides circle tirelessly for children who go from ride to ice cream stand to snack bar and back in tireless circles of their own.

On the flat land below, a generous dozen young and old people sprawl beneath a giant oleander tree to dodge the heat, and others sit more decorously on the red benches of the silent outdoor theater where later in the evening they will hear and see opera, folk singers, ballet, light opera or folk dancing.

Hundreds of cars circle Ross seeking parking spaces, even though shuttle buses are running constantly from parking lots at College of Marin and San Anselmo.

The fair may have more room in future years at the civic center, but it will never be the same as it is under the stately trees of Ross, with time standing still among the acres of beautiful make-believe gardens that will disappear when the gates close Sunday night.

The calendar of events for the remainder of the fair:

TONIGHT

7:30 p.m. — Folk dancing, Marin Dance Council, Amphitheater.
8:30 p.m. — Young Californians, popular singing group.

Cherry Bomb Injures Boy

A 14-year-old San Rafael youth was treated at Marin General Hospital for burns and puncture wounds on the right flank and forearm yesterday after a cherry bomb firecracker was thrown at him.

San Rafael police reported Andrew Michael Goldstein of 2 Neame Street was taken to the hospital at 11:30 a.m. after another 14-year-old threw the cherry bomb at him and some companions.

A large quantity of other fireworks was confiscated and destroyed, according to police.

Apartments On Wolfback Ridge Asked

The Sausalito planning commission last night set a special meeting for July 29 at 8 p.m. to consider requests from two developers which, if granted, would permit a major apartment development on Sausalito's Wolfback Ridge.

Frank Lynch and E. R. Fitzsimmons are asking for a reclassification of 90 acres of land on the ridge and a conditional use permit to allow construction of a 396-unit apartment on 60 acres of the property, according to H. Eric Borgwardt, city planning director.

Borgwardt said the two are asking that the 90 acres, west of Highway 101, be re-zoned to allow cluster-type apartment development on the land. Zoning now requires that any subdivision of the property be into one-half acre parcels which can be used for single family dwellings only.

The conditional use permit, asked by Lynch and Fitzsimmons, co-owner of 60 acres of the property, would allow the land to be used for town houses and studio and one, two and three-bedroom apartments.

The Sausalito planning commission also:

VARIANCE — Approved a request for a variance from Terry D. Curtis to allow remodeling of a dwelling at 219-A Third Street, even though the structure does not conform to city requirements of size and floor area.

ENCROACHMENT — Recommended approval of an encroachment application from Joseph Duffel, developer of the Whiskey Springs Apartments, to permit a minimum of 35 parking spaces to encroach into the Bridgeway right-of-way.

Tiburon Firemen Plan For League

The Tiburon Volunteer Firemen's Association last night accepted a schedule of softball games with six other Marin County fire departments.

Secretary Robert Hamilton reported that play will begin Tuesday and run through Sept. 27. The league is sponsored by the Marin County Association of Fire Departments and includes Novato, San Rafael, Sausalito, Kentfield, Larkspur and the Marin Municipal Water District in addition to Tiburon.

Firemen also elected a new secretary, Craig L. Stannard, to replace Hamilton, who is going to work for the San Rafael Fire Department.

Assembly Panel Clears Bill, Lifts Hope For Tougher Logging Rules

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — The prospect of tough controls on logging in Marin County greatly improved yesterday with approval of a controversial forest practice bill by the Assembly Government Administration Committee.

The bill, SB 507 by Sen. Richard J. Dolwig, R-San Mateo, would empower Marin, San Mateo and Santa Clara counties to regulate logging more strictly than provided in the state Forest Practice Act.

The bill went to the Assembly floor on a 4-1 vote, the bare minimum needed to clear the committee. Voting "no" was Assemblyman Eugene R. Chappie, R-Cool, whose El Dorado County district includes large logging companies.

Assembly approval would send the bill to the governor for his signature since it already has been approved by the Senate. The governor's position on the bill is uncertain, however, since the bill is opposed by the state Department of Conservation.

The department is the parent body of the Division of Forestry, which is dominated by the logging industry. The department and lobbyists for the industry objected to the bill on the ground that it would open the door to requests from other counties for exemptions from the Forest Practice Act.

Proponents of the bill, including officials and conservationists from the three counties, argued that these three counties were unique in California because they were the only ones in an urban area that still had logging operations. The Bay Area's special need for open space and conservation of its dwindling natural resources required stricter controls of logging, they argued.

Marin County pushed for the bill after it was frustrated in attempts to control logging in West Marin.

Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, has an identical bill, but it was bottled up in the Assembly Natural Resources and Conservation Committee. Bagley said his bill was "caught in a whipsaw between those who want to do more, and those who want to do nothing."

Department of Conservation officials urged the committee to kill the bill in the light of the new controls adopted last week by the Division of Forestry. But Marin County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney dismissed the new controls as "totally unsatisfactory."

The new controls increased the number of trees that must be left standing, but still provided for no local review of logging operations, Maloney said.

Dolwig's bill would allow the three counties to control soil erosion, water quality, the number of trees cut, logging roads, excavation, fill, fire prevention, slash and debris disposal, haul routes and schedules, and performance bond requirements.

Summer Classes Set At Fairfax

The Fairfax Recreation Department will have signups today through Saturday at the Fairfax Pavilion for arts and crafts classes to begin Monday for children from 4 to 6, according to Tony Barbera, recreation director.

The class will be held on Mondays and Fridays during July from 1 to 2 p.m. and from 2:30 to 3:30 p.m.

Signups are also being held over the weekend for tennis classes for youths 11 to 15. These classes will also be conducted during July on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 9 to 10 a.m.

TO LABOR-MANAGEMENT

Minority Hiring Contract: A Must

By ERIK M. INGRAM

The federal government will impose and regulate minority group hiring policies in Marin's construction industry if the county's labor management and minority leadership fails to draft its own employment agreement along government guidelines, a government spokesman warned last night.

However, should the county advisory committee to the Bay Area Construction Opportunity Program show it is close to such a contract, an extension of time past the July 31 deadline might be granted.

"You have a deadline to have either solved this problem (minority hiring) or be in a position to ask the government for more time to solve it," Robert B. Brauer, regional director of the Office of Federal Contract Compliance, told the committee.

With Brauer's assurance that more time, if justified, would be granted, the committee agreed to establish an 18-member, four-county ad hoc committee to draft the needed contract. July 28 was set for negotiations which will bring together two members each from management, labor and the minority community from Sonoma, Marin, Solano and Napa counties.

The advisory committee was formed about two years ago as part of BACOP and charged with developing a program of increasing minority employment in construction trades to a level proportionate to minority population in Marin County by establishing quotas for minorities on any job.

The Department of Labor has established the July 31 deadline for such an equal opportunity plan and will impose its own quota system similar to the "Philadelphia plan" should the three groups fail to reach agreement.

Ray White, chairman of the group and representative of the Redwood Empire Sheet Metal and Air Conditioning Contractors' Association, told other members of the 15-man advisory committee a 5-year hiring program to equal the percentage of minority population in Marin was possible.

"This timetable is the maximum that the labor department has asked of us and management and labor (on the advisory committee) have already agreed to meet this," White said. "We have agreed that each segment of trade in the construction industry be reasonably representative of the minority community."

White asked, "Is there anything else the community (minority groups) could ask?"

"They can ask what is reasonable representation," Bauer responded.

White answered Brauer by restating labor and management's willingness to employ minority group workers.

Brauer added that while labor and management have agreed, a "viable" part of the minority community must also agree.

The government demands that representatives of the minority community in Marin have an equal voice in any agreement, he added. "This is an obtainable goal in this community."

Question was thus raised as to whether the five minority members already part of the advisory committee were representative of their community.

Brauer, formerly executive director of the Marin County Human Rights Commission, said it was the prerogative of minority groups to select who should negotiate their final agreement with labor and management. He added that if the five now on the committee were spokesmen for the various minority groups in Marin, which include Negros, Mexican-Americans and Indians, then they would be selected to draft the agreement.

White responded that the five were appointed two years ago by the Marin City Council as representatives of the minorities and that if others were now chosen, it would have to be shown that they were representing a majority of black, brown and red Marin residents.

"Let's just make sure they are truly representative so we are not making a hollow agreement," White warned.

Other members agreed and set July 28 as the tentative date for the start of agreement negotiations. The meeting place was not determined.

Connection Disavowed

Alfred Curry, president of the Marin County Deputy Sheriff's Association, said today two deputies who joined a protest against cuts in "people-centered" services before the board of supervisors Tuesday were not representing the association, even though a spokesman for the protesting group identified one as a member.

TODAY'S EDITORIAL

We May Be Thankful These Are Not Our Judges

California courts have been criticized for various shortcomings. One thing in which we may take comfort and some pride, however, is the generally high caliber of those who occupy the bench in the Golden State.

If we doubt that our judges are superior to some elsewhere, we have only to consider a recent New York case, as related in dry, factual fashion in the New York Times news columns of June 26.

IN FEBRUARY, 1969, a New York County grand jury indicted the Mount Vernon Construction Co. and its president and sole stockholder, Adam Petrillo, on charges of bid-rigging in connection with Consolidated Edison Corp. contracts in Westchester County. Petrillo was requested to appear before the grand jury.

He did not appear. Nearly eight months went by. Then, on Oct. 9, Judge John M. Murtagh of the New York Supreme Court (which, despite its name, is the trial court in that state — not the top appellate body) issued an order that Petrillo appear with records bearing on the transactions. Again, he did not appear. On Oct. 16, Judge Murtagh ordered him into court to face a contempt charge.

But on Oct. 31, Judge Samuel P. Rosenberg of another division of the same court vacated Judge Murtagh's subpoena, though leaving the contempt citation standing.

Efforts to serve Petrillo with the contempt citation were unavailing, because he had left the jurisdiction — moving to his home in Dade County, Fla.

ON JUNE 12 of this year, Frank A. Rogers of the Manhattan district attorney's office asked Judge Gerald P. Culkin of still another supreme court division to issue an arrest warrant. Judge Culkin did so.

On June 24, as district attorney's men prepared to go to Petrillo's home in Mount Vernon — where he had returned from Florida — to arrest him on Judge Culkin's warrant, Judge Rosenberg ordered that no paper be served on Petrillo in connection with the case.

The district attorney's men were already on their way, however. But when they arrived in Mount Vernon, police of the town of Eastchester (of which it is a part) told them Judge Rosenberg's order prohibited the arrest.

The district attorney's men called the state police for help. Finally, Eastchester police agreed to cooperate. But at that point Petrillo's lawyers told the officers they could enter the home only by force. The officers broke open the door and arrested Petrillo.

Just as they had put him in a car, Judge Robert J. Trainor of still another supreme court division arrived and ordered that he be released. Trainor wrote on the back of Judge Calkin's order that Petrillo had appeared before him and been granted 24 hours parole. Petrillo was set free.

THE NEXT DAY, Rogers appeared in court and said that "Justice Rosenberg believes he can on his own prevent the district attorney's office from ever returning a subpoena."

Judge Culkin, fire in his eye, ordered Petrillo held in $100,000 bail. Judge Murtagh ordered him to appear the next Monday to show cause why he should not be jailed for contempt.

Petrillo remained in jail one hour before raising the $100,000 bail.

WE MAY BE THANKFUL that no judge in California — certainly none in Marin, anyhow — has exhibited such low regard for the processes of the courts themselves as evidenced in this case in New York.

Respect for law flourishes or withers exactly as respect for those charged with its enforcement and administration lives or dies. And no other bears so great a responsibility for preserving that respect as does the judge, who by a word may set a prisoner free or hold him to answer for the crimes charged against him.

Patio Season

From before the Fourth of July into October, Bay Area people pour into their patios and linger around their barbecue pits until the chill evening breeze off the cold Pacific drives them indoors for the night.

Like ground squirrels coming out of their burrows after a long winter, Marinites chapter and frolic and delight in the warmth of long summer evenings.

Enjoy. The time is now and the place is Marin.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

Reagan Offers Way To Solve Union Dispute In Vineyards

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Gov. Ronald Reagan has suggested ways for the amicable settlement of difficulties between farm workers and employers through use of the state conciliation system.

The procedures were set up by the governor in lieu of federal legislation, introduced by Sen. George Murphy but so far not passed by Congress.

THE PROPOSALS, if accepted, would make unnecessary the prolonged "boycott" of California grapes, which is now threatening to go into melons, by Farm Workers Organizing Committee headed by Cesar Chavez.

Assemblyman Kent H. Stacey, R-Bakersfield, said the real victims of a boycott against California melons will be the workers themselves, and characterized the threat to carry the boycott to melons as "a clear attempt at economic blackmail."

Neither melon growers nor workers want the type of contracts Chavez offers, he contended.

THE GOVERNOR'S proposal, it was pointed out, will offer the workers free choice in the matter of selection, give the workers the right to vote by secret ballot which (if any) union they want, and guarantee free elections.

The governor pointed out this solution would provide the means for settling the grape controversy. He called on farmers, workers, union representatives, clergy, and the stores which sell the produce to "find a solution which does not destroy an entire industry and the jobs it normally provides."

As a matter of fact, workers in agriculture have demonstrated in the past that they are not interested in unionizing.

Union organizers, in fact, have stated that they want nothing to do with organizing farm workers. Some have tried it and say it is virtually useless to set up an organization of farm workers as members are transient and not overly eager to pay their dues to defray the considerable costs.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Forest Problem Clearly Stated

Your "Editor's Notebook" of June 20 is a splendid statement of one of the fundamental problems underlying the management of forests in California.

Public tax law is an expression of public policy. As long as an owner must pay a penalty to keep trees standing, we can only conclude that public policy is for down trees and against standing trees. It's meaningless to criticize an owner for cutting as long as this situation exists.

Your editorial can do much to clarify the problem.

Plea For Economy Vs. Performance

One of the most fatuous documents yet was the letter which appeared June 24 by Duane Ragan (former councilman and mayor of San Anselmo) asking the county supervisors to hold the line on taxes but expressing contentment with the rise in San Anselmo city taxes!

This must partly explain why San Anselmo taxes doubled in the last four years (from $750,000 in 1965-66 to $1,365,000 in 1969-70) although neither the population nor the cost of living was anywhere near this high, thus making San Anselmo the second most expensive town in Marin in which to live.

Although Mr. Ragan is no longer in office, the councilmen who served with him are, and the present majority, over the objections of Mr. (Woodrow) Capurro, have currently passed such items (in this year of extreme financial hardship with high interest rates, stock market depression, rising unemployment, etc.) as putting aside $57,000 toward a master plan which the federal government has already turned down, the rationale here according to Mr. (James F.) Reed being that "we better leave it in, it will be extremely hard to explain to the people again. . ."

JUDY EMIS
San Anselmo

(Reader Emis apparently has confused total budgeted expenditures with property taxes. The amount to be realized from property taxes to meet the City of San Anselmo's 1965-66 budget was $440,832; to meet the 1969-70 budget, $561,720.—Editor.)

Doctor Takes Issue With AMA Head

It seems that whichever of you wrote the article about the "Doctor Shortage" was either grossly misinformed or had simply too little knowledge to discuss the topic intelligently. You mentioned how wonderful it would be to phase out the internship and put doctor trainees to work in a preceptor type position. This is just taking the doctors away from serving patients in the capacity of interns and residents, and putting them in somebody's private office. It stops them from taking care of patients in one place and allows them to take care of patients in another place, both places being in subservient positions. You also emphasized that a lot of medical schools are spending money on research at the expense of teaching. I don't think I need remind you, that research has been what has been bringing modern medicine to the position it is in today. Now doctors know how to cure things, rather than just relying on aspirin and bedrest.

You also mentioned how terrible it is that such a large percentage of the doctors of Marin County are specialists. You try to equate this with the fact that there is a doctors shortage in the county. This is nonsense. There is no shortage of any specialist or of general practitioners. Most of the general practitioners I know take jobs elsewhere because there aren't enough patients to support them in Marin County. . .

It is necessary in this modern world to have specialists and research otherwise medical care would stagnate and never advance to a higher level.

JOEL R. LEVINE M.D.
Mill Valley.

(The American Medical Association's house of delegates, along with the society's new president, apparently believed the shortage of doctors is in those who make office examinations and house calls, rather than those serving in hospitals. — Editor.)

U.N. 'Communist'; U.S. Should Quit

The recent observance of the 25th anniversary of the United Nations in San Francisco has led me to some serious reflections upon the impotence of this august body as a truly peace-keeping agency. The UN appears to be morally bankrupt, for in verity it has failed in an overwhelming majority of the problems before it, to bring about any of their solutions. To name but a few:

It has done nothing about the Arab-Israeli dispute.

It failed in assisting the Hungarians and Czechs to regain their freedoms.

It has sponsored the shameful treatment of peace-loving little Rhodesia.

It was the instrument to prevent victory in Korea, and today is half-free and half-slave.

It bombed and strafed Katanga Province in the Congo, killing civilians and destroying hospitals and places of worship, over the protests of even the Red Cross.

The UN was conceived by Communists (in the mind of Joe Stalin in his book "Marxism and the National Question, published in 1942).

The UN was created by Communists. (The State Department's volume entitled "Post-War Foreign Policy Preparation 1939-45" lists 17 key men who shaped the UN, 16 of whom including Alger Hiss, have been identified as Reds in sworn testimony.)

In addition, the lion's share of financial cost of the UN has been borne by the United States. The UN would be bankrupt today, were it not for us!

Many of us seriously question whether American interests are being genuinely served by continuing our membership in the UN.

REMEMBER WHEN?

10 YEARS AGO

JULY 2, 1960

Walter R. Castro, chairman of the Marin County Board of Supervisors, announced another try would be made in November to pass a $2,250,000 bond issue for a new county hospital in Lucas Valley. The proposal fell 1,585 votes short in the June primary.

Former President Harry S. Truman, in a press conference, hinted the Democratic national convention was being rigged for Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts.

Great Economist? Open To Question

In a half-page article on Page 27 of the June 27 issue, reference was made to "the great Harvard economist" — John Kenneth Galbraith. I would question the source of this reference.

It is my opinion that Mr. Galbraith writes very well about what he thinks, but doesn't think very well.

MARQUIS CHILDS

Specter Of Joe McCarthy Raised By Vice President's Rhetoric

WASHINGTON — By feeding the raw meat of unbridled assault to Republican diners, Vice President Spiro Agnew has set what must surely be some kind of world record. In six months he has raised close to $3 million. At one dinner alone, $100 a plate in Minnesota, the returns were over a million and that, his staff says with pride, is also a record.

But what may be good for the Republican Party is not necessarily good for the country. The time has passed when Agnew can be dismissed as a bad joke sent out to do his duty for king and country. Republicans are concerned. Sen. Mark Hatfield of Oregon said in public that Agnew is damaging the party as his attacks grow more and more extreme.

THERE WAS a Republican of recent memory, Sen. Joe McCarthy of Wisconsin, who did the party great harm. Broadening his onslaught with poison-tipped barbs, Agnew sounds increasingly like McCarthy. The other day he impugned the patriotism of Averell Harriman, Cyrus Vance, Clark Clifford and others. The intimation was that for political expediency or worse they had betrayed their country.

In the speech attacking Harriman, the vice president intimated that, as ambassador to Moscow, Harriman had sold out Poland for a kind word from Stalin and a pair of fine-blooded horses. This was Richard Nixon's tactic in the McCarthy era. He called Adlai Stevenson "a graduate of the Acheson College of Cowardly Communist Containment."

Sen. J. William Fulbright is a principal Agnew target, with the charge that as a defeatist he wants to rob the chief executive of his constitutional powers. The vice president would do well to look back at some recent history of his own party.

AS A SENATOR, Mr. Nixon was a co-sponsor of the Bricker Amendment. That amendment, pushed by Ohio's Sen. John J. Bricker, would have robbed the executive of a large part of the treaty-making power which under the Constitution is an element in executive responsibility for foreign policy.

The forces pushing the amendment charged that a series of United Nations conventions, with the United States a signatory to the U.N. treaty, would turn the country over to the one-worlders. Under the amendment no treaty would be binding if the Congress or the legislatures of the states chose to repudiate its terms.

For a newly elected Republican president, Dwight Eisenhower, and his secretary of state, John Foster Dulles, the controversy over the amendment was a source of anguish. For many McCarthyites it was a convenient stick to beat the one-worlders, the liberals and the pseudo-Communists.

The debate raged in the Senate, with opponents charging that the President would "no longer have control over foreign affairs since the Congress would regulate his conduct down to the smallest details." President Eisenhower wrote to the Republican leader of the Senate that the amendment would "shackle the federal government so that it is no longer sovereign in foreign affairs." A somewhat modified version of the Bricker Amendment, still opposed by the administration, failed of the necessary two-thirds majority by a single vote.

THE REPUBLICANS held narrow majorities in both houses of Congress with President Eisenhower's election in 1952. They lost that narrow hold in 1954. One reason for the setback, in the view of many observers at the time, was the deep division in the Republican party over McCarthyism and its dire consequences.

The so-called realists in the party had talked frankly of a high road and a low road — let McCarthy take the low road and show what he could do.

It was a Republican, finally, who as much as any single individual brought McCarthy to the bar of the Senate for censure and his ultimate downfall. But the damage had been done, damage to his party and, more serious, to the coherence and well-being of the country.

President Eisenhower ended the Korean war. He restored calm to the country. Today, with a ground war in Asia with 400,000 Americans involved and a casualty list of 42,000 dead, the situation is far more flammable. McCarthyism in whatever degree or kind is a grave risk.

Textile Import Quotas Peril U.S.—Japan Amity

By PHIL NEWSOM UPI Foreign News Analyst

A battle that no one wanted threatens the good relations between the United States and Japan.

It concerns failure of the two countries to agree on quotas for Japanese textiles coming into the United States, and the virtual certainty that the American Congress now will vote restrictions which could go far beyond textiles to other fields of industry.

The end result could be a trade war and incalculable damage to U.S.-Japanese cooperation in Asia.

It also could mean the growth of protectionism all over the world.

IT IS CLEARLY, as one American official put it, the wrong battle, over the wrong issue at the wrong time.

Americans place the dollar loss to competition from the Japanese textiles at about $300 million annually, only a fraction of the $8 billion total trade between the two countries.

The United States had demanded that Japan voluntarily reduce its textile shipments to the United States and had believed that Taiwan, Hong Kong and Korea would take similar action if Japan led the way.

The Japanese refused to accept an American claim that their exports of certain synthetics and woolens to the United States were inflicting serious damage on the U.S. textile industry and accused President Nixon of attempting to pay off a political debt.

THE TEXTILE industry is Japan's largest employer with approxinately 1.7 million employes.

The Americans estimate total annual sales of Japanese textiles in the United States at $569 million, or half of all Japanese garment exports.

Whether or not the American textile industry suffered the damage it claimed, a good portion of U.S. irritation with the Japanese has been due to the latter's refusal to lift restrictions on U.S. imports or to permit American capital to operate as freely in Japan as Japanese capital does in the United States.

Contributing also to American protectionism is a trade deficit with Japan that last year hit $1.5 billion.

THE QUARREL over a comparatively minor issue is especially ironical in that it comes just as the security pact between the two renewed itself for another year and seemed to be the harbinger of ever closer U.S. and Japanese relations in the decade of the 70s.

It was the sort of relationship both Nixon and Japanese Premier Eisaku Sato said they wanted but which now is endangered.

GOOD EARTH CRUSADE

The 'Pesky Varmints' Have Ecology Roles

By JOE WING

For thousands of years now, but especially in recent generations, man has been playing God to other creatures. The results have been devastating.

Whereas "God created every living creature that moveth, and blessed them, saying be fruitful and multiply," man has taken it upon himself to determine which shall live and which shall die.

There's a growing sentiment against such presumptuous omniscience, but the sort of people who think that the only good snake is a dead snake are apt to have just one standard for non-human life in general —

"What's it good for?"

THE BEST ANSWER is of course that it doesn't have to be good for a darned thing. The robin singing its spring song, the frog croaking in its pond, the hawk circling high overhead have no need to justify their existence. The eye of the maker is upon them too, and they have as much of a right as anybody to live their lives in peace.

But let's wrestle with the snake hater in his own ring and see what a few of the things he despises are in fact "good for."

SNAKES—The 2,000 species of snakes that inhabit nearly all of the world, except for a few places like Antarctica, Australia and Ireland, are meat eaters. Since their provender consists largely of insects and small mammals, they should be regarded benevolently, even though some of them prey also on birds and frogs. Water snakes help cull fish populations to the fishes' own good. Even poisonous species like rattlesnakes, water moccasins, cottonmouths and coral snakes use their venom mostly in hunting These kinds of course should be given wide berth but it's been said the chances of being felled by a snake are about as great as of being struck by lightning. Of the 200-plus varieties in the United States, only a handful are poisonous.

"CHICKEN HAWKS" — The broad winged bird of prey that you see circling lazily is to blame only rarely for snatching chickens. If it isn't a carrion-eating vulture, and therefore not a real hawk at all, it may be any one of several species. Its diet probably consists largely of insects, mice and other rodents, for which it provides highly desirable controls. A few swift hawks do grab chickens more frequently but even their sins against man usually are balanced by the good they do.

ALLIGATORS — These survivors of the age of reptiles make all the difference between life and death for other denizens in southern swamps. They wallow out "gator holes" in which fish and other swamp life manage to survive in times of severe drouth. The tax that they levy of an occasional bird or fish is slight in comparison with the good they do.

SKUNKS — These woodland dwellers are quite peaceable if left alone and are welcomed by many farmers because they catch rodents and insets, although they may steal an egg or chicken on occasion.

BATS — The false myth that bats get entangled in women's hair obscures the fact that these creatures, the only mammals that fly, are effective insect eaters. And of course they aren't blind as a bat; not only can they see but they "see" in the dark by bouncing sound waves off objects. The blood sucking vampire bats are Latin American specials.

WASPS — Nobody likes to be stung, but if you respect wasps and hornets and their nests, you aren't likely to be. Like honey bees, they are classed as social insects, but they are carnivorous and repay your tolerance by preying on other insets.

COYOTES — Men often do their cruel best to wipe out these wild dogs, just as they have all but destroyed the timber wolf, grizzly bear and mountain lion. More and more people are sorry about this because the death of the meat eaters means the survival of swarms of rodents and of sick and crippled deer that might otherwise have been eliminated to the benefit of the herds. Much money is sometimes spent to poison coyotes whose sin has been to knock over a few chickens and lambs.

CROWS — There's no question but that crows have bad habits. They steal seedcorn, birds' eggs and fledglings. But farmers have learned to treat seed so they won't eat it, and the crows themselves expiate their sins by gobbling up a large variety of insects, along with almost anything else they can lay a beak on. One good thing about their situation is that, by and large, they are too smart for the crow haters. Although not cowed by mankind, they are wary, intelligent and excellent judges of the range of a gun. Even near population centers they often thrive.

DID YOU KNOW?

The last place Edgar Allan Poe would have seen a raven was at his door; ravens shun men. The great grizzly bear eats quantities of grass, berries, fruit and leaves. Crows sometimes sing sweetly, but rarely within earshot of snooping men.

Levy Hike Seen In San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— City assessor Joseph T. Tinney released figures Wednesday indicating a tax increase for San Francisco property owners.

Property in the city, he said, has an assessed valuation of $2.4 billion, $33.9 million more than last fiscal year.

However, the increase is not large enough to cover a $631 million city budget approved by supervisors without hiking the present tax rate of $12.29 per $100 of assessed valuation.

Helluva Way To Run A Railroad But It Makes Fine Conglomerate

WASHINGTON — It's hard for the ordinary citizen to understand why a $7 billion corporation such as the Penn Central Railroad could declare bankruptcy.

But this isn't the first time it's happened. The Larchmont, Saginaw and Tallahassee Railroad had a similar experience, and perhaps people will be able to understand the Penn Central situation if I explain what happened to the LS&T.

AS EVERYONE knows, the Larchmont, Saginaw and Tallahassee Railroad was one of the most profitable in the country. It specialized in bringing coals to New Castle, Pa.

In exchange for this monopoly, the LS&T had agreed to haul commuters from the suburbs into the cities of Larchmont, Saginaw and Tallahassee. While this was not a lucrative business, it was the price LS&T had to pay for using government rights of way.

Some time back, an executive of LS&T suggested that the railroad get into another business just in case the day might come when nobody wanted coals in New Castle.

"WHAT BUSINESS?" the chairman of the board asked.

"Why don't we buy a chocolate cake mix company? It certainly complements the railroad business."

So LS&T took the profits from their railroad and instead of investing in new equipment, bought a chocolate cake mix factory.

This was followed by the purchase of a latex bra company, which was followed by the takeover of a malpractice insurance company.

Every dollar the LS&T made from its railroading was poured into a new business venture. Before long LS&T was making greeting cards, building skyscrapers, drilling for oil and making a bid to buy the Panama Canal.

MEANWHILE, the LS&T's railroad was starting to suffer. Freight trains kept colliding with each other (the computers that used to keep them apart had been taken over by LS&T's book and magazine division), and cutbacks were made in passenger service.

When pressed by the passengers for better service, LS&T responded by raising commuter rates and locking all the washrooms on their passenger trains.

A citizen committee called on the LS&T's offices, which were now located in their 5,000-acre development known as Sky City.

The vice president of LS&T's Commuter Complaint Department (he was really working in the company's training department as an intern) said, "We are sympathetic with your problems and would be happy to improve the service and install new equipment, but we need the money for a sulphur mining project we've just taken a lease on in Canada."

"You owe it to the commuters," someone protested.

"WE OWE MORE to our stockholders. But I'll tell you what I'll do. I'll recommend we put lights back on the passenger trains during rush hour. It will be an expense, but it will show we have the public in mind."

Unfortunately, the vice president was overruled by the finance committee, and the passenger trains remained dark. Meanwhile, the major cash flow from bringing coals to New Castle started to dry up because so many customers were unhappy with LS&T's service. Without cash LS&T was in serious trouble.

So they hired President Nixon's old law firm to get them a subsidy from the Defense Department. When the story broke, the Defense Department had to turn them down, and LS&T had no choice but to file for bankruptcy.

The LS&T Railroad is now in the hands of the receivers, but thanks to wise investments in other fields the LS&T Holding Co. (which had spun off the railroad when it realized it couldn't be drained any more) is now worth $25 billion.

NO AD TODAY

What's the use?

It's Fourth of July Weekend

AND, as everybody knows, people don't read ads on the Fourth of July, or Easter, or Christmas. Or New Year's. Or in the summer.

UNFORTUNATELY, "everybody" is wrong.

ASK any readership research organization. You'll learn that people don't turn off their minds at Yuletide, Whitsuntide, high tide, or low tide.

NEWSPAPER readership doesn't go downhill during the skiing season, or the haying season.

ADVERTISING readership doesn't take a dip in the summer.

WE'VE celebrated many Fourths of July at the Independent-Journal. We've seen many summers. And we've learned that readership of both editorial and advertising pages stay at the same high level every day of every week and month of the year.

NO MATTER where you advertise, 'season' is no reason to draw a blank with your customers and prospects.

EVEN during holidays, people read.

THANKS for helping us prove it.

And – Oh, Yes,

Have a Good Holiday!

★TURN BACK TIME!

Remember when homes were large, comfrotable and rambling with paned windows and interesting nooks and crannies? Remember when hot summer days were tempered by cooling shade from towering trees and winter meant warmth from a large stone hearth? You may still enjoy these pleasures in this 3 large bedroom, 2 bath home with its ivy covered entry grounds and wooded setting. Large formal dining room and study. Separate children's area. If you're thinking of $54,500 for a home, don't miss seeing this one!

WITH DECORATOR CARPETS AND DRAPES
Nearly ¼ Acre Lot
VIEW

Tasteful attention was given to the selection of every detail from the counter tops to the floor covering, from the fireplace to the exterior finish. Quality carpeting and drapes complete this — one of the most pleasing houses in its price range we have seen. The lot, too, is exceptional. Nearly ¼ acre and nearly all level, it has a pleasant backdrop of trees to the rear with acres of land which are unlikely to be developed in the foreseeable future. To the one side is a panoramic view of hills, valley and bay. $42,950.

1965 MUSTANG

Less than 40,000 miles on this original car. New valve job, new clutch, under 1,000 miles on new polyglass red line tires, new shocks. Flawless ice blue exterior with matching bucket seated vinyl interior. Radio and heater, of course. This is not a beat up or an abused car, in fact when you see it you'll think a little old lady in tennies has been driving it. The new owner will get many, many miles of like-new service from this economical 6-cylinder, standard transmission automobile. I can brag about it because the value is here. It won't cost you anything to compare this one with others, so don't miss the boat. 454-4047 aft. 6 p.m. $1300 firm.

NOTICE INVITING SEALED PROPOSALS

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that SANITARY DISTRICT NO. 2 OF MARIN COUNTY, a Subsidiary District of the Town of Corte Madera, will receive up to, but no later than, 2:00 o'clock P.M. of the 17th day of July, 1970, sealed bids for the award of a contract for the construction of improvements in the District in strict accordance with the plans and specifications therefor entitled "Sanitary Sewers — Madsen Road Assessment District," dated June, 1970, prepared by Brown and Caldwell, Consulting Engineers, and on file in the office of the Secretary of said district.

Said sealed proposals or bids shall be delivered to the Secretary of the Sanitary Board of said Sanitary District, 300 Tamalpais Drive, Corte Madera, California. Bids will be publicly opened, examined and declared on said day and hour by the Secretary who shall report to the Sanitary Board her findings, which findings shall be considered by said Sanitary Board at its special meeting to be held at said place on July 20, 1970, at 7:30 o'clock P.M.

Each bid shall be in accordance with said plans, specifications and other contract documents now on file in the office of the District Secretary located at 300 Tamalpais Drive, Corte Madera, California.

Said proposals or bids must be enclosed in a sealed envelope addressed "Sanitary District No. 2 of Marin County, 300 Tamalpais Drive, Corte Madera, California," and endorsed "Proposal for Sanitary Sewers — Madsen Road Assessment District."

All proposals or bids shall be accompanied by a certified or cashier's check payable to the order of the District amounting to ten percent (10%) of the bid, or by a bond in said amount and payable to said District, signed by the bidder and a corporate admitted surety or two individual sureties who shall justify before any officer competent to administer an oath, in double said amount, and over and above all statutory exemptions. Said check shall be forfeited or said bond shall become payable to said District in case the bidder depositing the same does not, within fifteen days after written notice that the contract has been awarded to him enter into a contract with the District, the faithful performance of which shall be secured by an undertaking in the amount of one hundred percent (100%) of the amount so bid, with sureties satisfactory to the said Sanitary Board, and which shall be accompanied by a labor and material bond in a sum equal to one hundred percent (100%) of the amount of said bid, under the provision of Chapter 3, comprising Sections 4200 to 4208, inclusive, of the Government Code of the State of California.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that on June 15, 1970, the Sanitary Board adopted a resolution determining the general prevailing rate of per diem wages in the locality in which the public work herein provided is to be done for each craft or type of workman needed to execute the contract, a copy of which wage scale is contained in and made a part of the specifications for said work, to which reference is hereby made for a full and detailed description thereof.

The Board reserves the privilege of rejecting any and all bids or to waive any irregularities or informalities in any bid or in the bidding.

No bidder may withdraw his bid for a period of forty-five (45) days after the date set for the bid opening.

Plans and specifications may be examined at the office of the District, 300 Tamalpais Drive, Corte Madera, California; at the Builder's Exchange, 850 South Van Ness Avenue, San Francisco; at the Builder's Exchange, 321 East 12th Street, Oakland; and at the Marin Builder's Exchange, 110 Belvedere Street, San Rafael. Plans and specifications may be obtained at the office of Brown and Caldwell, 66 Mint Street, San Francisco, California, upon deposit of $15.00 per set, $5.00 of which will be refunded if the set or sets delivered are returned in good condition within fifteen (15) days after the bid opening.

This notice is adopted pursuant to the Municipal Improvement Act of 1913 and the Improvement Bond Act of 1915 and in accordance with Resolution of Intention No. 9-70 adopted June 15, 1970, to which reference is hereby made for further detail.

High Traffic Toll Seen For Holiday

CHICAGO (UPI) — Between 560 and 660 Americans will lose their lives in traffic accidents and another 27,000 to 31,000 will suffer disabling injuries during this year's Fourth of July weekend according to the National Safety Council.

The holiday begins tonight at 6 p.m. local time and extends until midnight Sunday —a 78-hour period.

During the 1969 Fourth of July holiday, 609 persons were killed in accidents on the nation's roads.

Terra Linda Cuts Tax Rate 3 Cents With New Budget

The Terra Linda Community Services District tax rate will drop 3 cents to 90 cents per $100 assessed valuation for fiscal 1970-71, Fire Chief George Walser said today.

Walser said the tax rate decrease was due to an increase in assessed valuation as the budget, approved Tuesday, is actually $1,000 more than last year's budget of $64,000.

This year's budget, he said, includes a 6 per cent cost of living increase for the district's four full-time and one part-time employee. The new payroll totals $36,000.

Other budget items include $7,500 for street lighting, about $3,000 for new park lighting and improvement of fire equipment. The remainder of the budget is for normal operation costs and insurance, Walser said.

Consolidated Capital Corporation presents a tax shelter investment opportunity for California residents only.

Valley Investors, a limited partnership being formed by Carriage Realty Incorporated to purchase 568 income producing apartment units in Santa Clara County, California, appraised value is $6,210,000.

921 investment units $1,000 per unit; minimum investment $5,000. Payable: $3,000 upon investing; $916.95 due October 15, 1970, and $1,083.05 due March 1, 1971.

Investors should have net worth of at least $20,000 (excluding home, auto, and furnishings) and a gross annual income of at least $20,000; or a total net worth of at least $50,000.

Eligible investors are cordially invited to attend a special presentation to obtain complete details on this investment; Thurs. July 2, at the Holiday Inn, 1010 Northgate Drive, San Rafael, California. Meeting begins 7:35 P.M.

For reservations call Consolidated Capital Corporation — 834-1715

Controller Sees State In A Bind

UPLAND (UPI) — California must use "only the most stringent economy measures" if it hopes to balance its budget without increasing taxes, Controller Houston I. Flournoy said Wednesday night.

"Frankly, the overall prospects for financing governmental services are bleak," Flournoy told an Upland Chamber of Commerce banquet.

The state official said cities, counties and school districts face 'a severe revenue crisis and must have more state and federal aid or increase their already very high property taxes. The state, obviously, cannot provide more relief to local jurisdiction without raising taxes."

Youth Arraigned On Pot, Theft Charges

David Ray Anderson, 18, of 19 Balboa Drive, Novato, has been arraigned in Marin Municipal Court on charges of possessing marijuana and petty theft.

The youth, who was arrested in Novato Monday, is to return to court next Tuesday to enter pleas to the charges.

Car Theft Case Awaits Report

The case of Stephen Allan Thomason, 18, of 945 Via Escondida, Novato, has been referred to probation officers for a report on whether he can be tried in Marin Juvenile Court.

He is accused of stealing a car belonging to a Novato man on June 14.

Thomason is to return to municipal court July 14.

TELEVISION IN REVIEW

Nixon Displays Mastery Of Medium—Keeps His Cool

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—President Nixon's impressive command of the television medium as a tool for advocacy was on display again Wednesday night in a one-hour interview he gave to three newsmen.

The conversation, about foreign policy—and principally Southeast Asia—was carried in prime time by all three commercial networks. The reporters were Howard K. Smith of ABC-TV, Eric Sevaried of CBS-TV and John Chancellor of NBC-TV.

Nixon, whose determined effort to improve his television know-how has swiftly reached a level of tremendous competence, was interviewed in Los Angeles, which is not far from the Western White House at San Clemente, Calif.

An indication of Nixon's video confidence and ability is that Wednesday night's discussion was carried live and unedited from coast to coast on all three networks. And his fluency and preparation were there for all to see, even for viewers who may not always agree with this policies.

Two other presidents, John Kennedy and Lyndon Johnson, also indulged in these informal one-hour prime time video conversations with a trio of reporters. Kennedy started the practice with one broadcast, and Johnson did two programs.

But Nixon's conversation was the first such broadcast to go out live across the nation. The interviews with the two past presidents were taped and then edited before being releaseed.

What makes Nixon's television accomplishments most impressive is the fact that the home medium once was considered a crucial problem for him—a liability he had to conquer. Many persons still feel Kennedy's video edge over Nixon was the difference in the 1960 presidential race—especially in their television debates.

Wednesday night's interview was a rather polite affair, as is usual for these conversations. The entire hour was low-key. And Nixon seemed well-briefed on the principle of communications theorist Marshall McLuhan that television is a cool medium, not a hot one. In short, that cool personalities register more favorably than intense ones in the intimacy of viewers' homes.

A sparse, office-type layout was the setting for the interview, with the President and the newsmen seated in separate chairs around a circular low table of the kind used for coffee and magazines. Nixon wore a medium blue suit and a full-looking blue tie.

Even when egged on a bit in the questions, the President managed to keep his cool. In fact, he even managed to pass out several compliments to his interviewers. At one point, he told Smith that he remembered his World War II broadcasts from Europe. At another he said to the three newsmen: "All of you are historians."

Fight Against Tam Lights Starts Over

The bright security lights on Mount Tamalpais are shining in Mill Valley's eyes again, and Jeffory Morshead is reopening his campaign to have them modified or removed.

For months the Mill Valley resident has been fighting the lights, which he says shine in his eyes at night and irritate him. Apparently 198 others agree.

— that's how many people signed a petition asking the lights to be slanted away from Mill Valley.

For a time it appeared that his pleas had been heeded. Maj. William R. Edwards, Commander of the U.S. Air Force radar station atop the mountain, promised that the lights would be pointed away from Mill Valley, and on May 8 they were. Morshead wrote a thank-you letter to Edwards and put his petitions away.

But on June 23 the lights reappeared and no one seems to know why. Capt. Donald C. Jordan, temporary commander of the radar unit while Edwards is on vacation, would only confirm that the lights were once again shining.

NO COMMENT

"I don't want to comment at this time," he said when asked why he thought he had been ordered to turn them on.

Morshead said that the modification he suggested — that the lights be placed on shorter poles and be pointed into the radar facility instead of toward Mill Valley — would not affect their performance as security lights.

They are part of a standard security package made available to Air Force facilities and fail to take into account features unique to various locales, such as Mount Tamalpais.

"The top of the mountain is closed at night," Morshead said. "I can't see why they need them at all." A simple solution, he suggested, would be to switch the lights on only when necessary for security reasons.

MONDAY DEADLINE

Morshead has given Capt. Jordan until Monday to answer his latest request for a shutdown. After that, he said, he will begin distributing his petitions again and solicit conservation and other groups to help him.

"I even have heard some people questioning the necessity of having a radar site there at all. They claim that the facility is improperly discharging its sewage and are ready to attack it on those grounds," Morshead said.

Cut Cables Hit 100,000 Phone Users

SAN DIEGO (UPI)—Service to an estimated 60,000 telephones was expected to be restored by noon today after six cables were accidentally cut Wednesday.

A Pacific Telephone Co. spokesman said a construction crew cut through the cables, blacking out phones for 100,000 people in the Linda Vista and Clairemont sections of the city.

Phone users were able to call each other within their local exchanges, but all long distance calls and calls to other parts of the city were halted

Emergency equipment was moved in immediately to aid the Miramar Naval Air Station. The station's radar is linked to Lindbergh Field, the city's major commercial airport, and without it neither could tell where the other's planes were.

The County Operations Center, several hospitals, and city fire stations were without service. Residents were also unable to call the central police telephone number.

In the afternoon, quail may be found in cover such as hedgerows, plum thickets and large weed stands.

Brown New Drake Athletic Head

Upon the recommendation of his doctors, George Corson is no longer athletic director at Sir Francis Drake High School. He held the position since the San Anselmo school was opened in 1951.

Corson, 59, will remain as a physical education instructor and commissioner of the Marin County Athletic League, according to vice principal Francis Shafer, who made the announcement yesterday.

The athletic directorship now goes to Carl "Red" Brown, who in turn will quit as varsity basketball coach, to be replaced by P. E. department head Bob Fitzhenry.

Shafer said the school is reluctantly complying with medical advice that pressure be removed from Corson's schedule. "He's done a tremendous job for us and we hate to lose him," Shafer said.

Corson has been somewhat incapacitated, having undergone surgery on a problem hip twice within the last year. "I'm very sorry to have to give up the responsibilities," he said at his home yesterday.

One of the elder statesmen of the Marin County sports scene, Corson has served in the Tamalpais High School district since 1942. That year he was hired at Tamalpais High in Mill Valley, where he coached baseball, except for three war years, before moving to Drake. There, in addition to being athletic director, he served for two years as head football coach, and coached the baseball team until 1957.

Corson took a leave of absence in 1960-61 and traveled to Paris, France, where he was athletic director and baseball, football and golf coach at Paris American High School.

The following school year, in the spring of 1962, he became commissioner of the then three-year-old MCAL, filling the vacancy created by the death of Victor Jones.

Regarding his tenure as athletic director, Corson said, "It has been very enjoyable and rewarding working with the fine coaches, administration and students that have gone through our program these 19 years."

Brown, who will assume the office of athletic director in the fall, is without a doubt qualified for the job. During his 13 years at Drake he has at one time or another coached football, basketball, baseball, swimming and tennis.

"I'm looking forward to it. I'll be working with the whole program," he said, "and I'm looking forward to working with all the coaches."

Asked if he were contemplating any changes, Brown stated that he would like to see wrestling added to the program. "That's one thing I'd like to install right away," he said.

New cage coach Fitzhenry is no stranger to the basketball court. Back in the '50s he twice led Drake teams to the Tournament of Champions in Berkeley, and is in fact the only man besides Brown who ever coached the Pirate varsity.

MANY CHEERS, FEW BOOS

Denny's Return To Baseball

DETROIT (UPI)—Denny McLain said he "didn't know what to expect" when he stepped out of the dugout at Tiger Stadium for his 1970 debut as a major league pitcher, but it didn't take him long to find out.

As soon as the No. 17 on his shirt became visible, the fans—not all 53,863 of them but most of them—were up on their feet cheering. There were a few boos, but not enough to be heard.

"I thought it was great," said a smiling McLain after it was all over Wednesday night. The New York Yankees had gotten to the two-time Cy Young Award winner for five runs in the 5⅓ innings pitched, before being lifted by manager Mayo Smith for reliever Daryl Patterson.

The Tigers went on to win 6-5 in 11 innings.

Smith was greeted by a smattering of boos when he went out to the mound. For McLain, as he walked leisurely off the field, there were yet more cheers.

McLain had drawn a larger audience than that which attended the 1968 World Series game. In fact, it was the largest crowd since June 27, 1961, when the Tigers hoster the Chicago White Sox for a twi-night doubleheader. But it also was the first time since then that Tiger Stadium has sold standing-room-only tickets.

The fans weren't interested in McLain's past problems. Bruce Bissett, a teenager from suburban Sterling Heights, said he didn't think McLain's suspension from baseball last March by Commissioner Bowie Kuhn "was very necessary."

"He can do what he wants off the field," said Norma Steck-who stood up for the entire game. "He didn't do anything against me."

McLain was punished for his alleged association with gamblers in 1967.

"We all make mistakes," said J. Martin, a middle-aged man from Pittsburgh here on vacation. "I hope he wins."

McLain's teammates and coaches didn't have much to say. Before the game, most of them appeared irked over all the attention paid to McLain by the 71 newsmen on hand for his heralded appearance.

The same was true in the Tigers' dressing room afterwards.

"I think he's going to be all right," said a reluctant Cesar Gutierrez, Detroit shortstop, when asked about McLain's future this season.

"It's not for me to say," said an even more reluctant Mickey Lolich when asked the same question. Lolich, (6-8), had been expected to fill in as No. 1 man on the pitching staff during McLain's absence but has so far had the worst season of his major league career.

"If (Earl) Wilson had pitched five innings and given up five runs, you wouldn't have come to me and asked how I thought he looked," he told the persistant newsman.

Detroit manager Mayo Smith said he thought McLain "pitched very well," considering the circumstances. "He did a fine job."

Lanier, McCormick Show Their Class

By JOE SARGIS

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—When you start listing "class" baseball players you have to find a place for Hal Lanier and Mike McCormick.

The two lesser members of the San Francisco Giants were involved Wednesday in one of those situations that drive official scorers crazy. And yet both deported themselves just fine. Had they acted otherwise no one really could have faulted them.

HIGH POPUP

McCormick, the former Cy Young Award winner who doesn't get too many starts these days, retired the first six San Diego Padres in order. Then, Steve Huntz, leading off the third, hoisted an extremely high popup near second.

Lanier flipped his sunglasses down, took a bead on the ball and then at the last second shied away. Clearly, he had lost it in the sun.

"I looked up and had it lined up just fine," said Lanier, who had moved over about five steps from his shortstop position to take the play. "Then, all of a sudden it wasn't there."

While Lanier covered his head, the ball plopped to earth a foot behind him.

'BASE HIT'

Quickly, the official scorer ruled "base hit."

The scorer had an option and could have called it an error. The rules give a definite way out. But inasmuch as Lanier didn't touch the ball he felt it should go down as a hit.

Sports

Independent-Journal, 29
Thursday, July 2, 1970

Ordinarily, no one would have cared much and they didn't at the time but as McCormick kept on retiring one Padre after another through the sixth, things became a little different.

Lanier, cognizant of what had transpired, and McCormick, too, said he made up his mind that "if Mike goes all the way I was going to call the official scorer and ask him to change it to an error."

'ACT OF GOD'

McCormick said it "would have been a shame to give Lanier an error on that play. It was an act of god and the scorer was right in calling it a hit."

The scorer, Lanier and McCormick all got off the hook, so to speak, in the seventh when after two out Al Ferrara bounced a single up the middle for as clean a hit as there could be. A walk and the first of two three-run homers by Ollie Brown followed, so it all became academic.

The Giants won the game, 12-7, but before it was over Brown hit another three-run homer to set a San Diego club record of six runs driven in in a single game.

Dick Dietz drove in four San Francisco runs with a double and single after the Padres elected to intentionally walk Willie McCovey ahead of him and Ron Hunt added three more with a homer and single. Alan Gallagher drove in two with a homer and Lanier finished the day with three hits.

DODGERS

In all, the Giants, who are idle today before starting a three-game weekend series with the Los Angeles Dodgers, touched four San Diego pitchers for 15 hits, 10 of them coming off starter and loser Al Santorini (1-7).

The Giants at one point led by 11-0 and after McCormick weakened, Frank Reberger and Rich Robertson, his immediate successors, proved no mystery to San Diego hitters. Don McMahon finally came on to lock things up. He gained credit for his seventh save and McCormick went home with his third victory in six decisions.

WIMBLEDON SEMIFINAL

Rosewall Ends Taylor's Upset String

WIMBLEDON, England (UPI)—Ken Rosewall of Australia ended Briton Roger Taylor's giant-killing run at the 84th All-England tennis championships Thursday by downing the Britisher 6-3, 4-6, 6-3, 6-3 in a men's singles semifinal match.

Rosewall, the 35-year-old fifth seed, beat the 16th seeded British lefty with a clinical display of shot-making as the veteran Aussie reached the final for the third time.

The match took one hour 50 minutes to complete on a windy and bitterly cold day that had 15,000 center court fans huddled in top coats.

Rosewall, before he turned professional in the late 1950s, was beaten by Joroslav Drobny in the 1954 final and two years later by fellow Aussie Lew Hoad.

Taylor was bidding to become the first Englishman to reach the Wimbledon finals since Fred Perry in 1936. He had reached the semifinals by eliminating Clark Graebner of New York on Wednesday, 6-3, 11-9, 12-10.

The other men's semifinal match Thursday sent 32-year-old Andres Gimeno of Spain against Australian John Newcombe.

In the other major action Wednesday, Australia's Margaret Court and Billie-Jean King of Long Beach, Calif., the top two seeds who won the title five times between them since 1963, qualified for the ladies singles final Friday.

Mrs. Court, the 1963-65 winner, overcame an ankle injury suffered in a quarter final Monday, to trounce Rosemary Casals of San Francisco, 6-4, 6-1 in 50 minutes. Mrs. King, bidding for her fourth Wimbledon crown, beat unseeded Francoise Durr of France, 6-3, 7-5.

Leaders 11 Miles Apart In Yacht Race

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Extra sails were hoisted as the leaders were less than 11 miles apart going into the final 500 miles of the Los Angeles-to-Tahiti yacht race with a landfall expected sometime Saturday.

The 78-foot ketch Mir held the short lead of 11 miles over the 73-foot Blackfin at the Wednesday rollcall. Mir, from British Columbia, was 597 miles out while Blackfin reported herself at 608 miles from Tahiti.

Trailing in order were Aries at 707 miles, Widgeon at 782, Jubilation at 836 and Vision at 870.

In the handicap competition, Widgeon a 54-foot sloop skippered by Norman Bacon of Santa Barbara, Calif., was the overall and Class A leader. Numse II, a 40-foot sloop, led Class B.

Other position reports Wednesday were Narragansett 936 miles, Simoon 943, Numsee II 955, Quasar 1,012, Spirit, 1,184, Misty 1,321 and Tangent 1,401. The French yacht Pen Duick III maintained radio silence as it has done since the race started.

New Golf Tourney Added To Slate

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Professional Golfers Association today added a new tournament, the $130,000 Bahama Islands Open, to the 1970 pro golf tour schedule.

Joseph C. Dey, commissioner of the PGA Tournament Players Division, said the Bahama Islands Open replaces the $25,000 West End Classic, a satellite event played on Grand Bahama Island since 1967.

The Bahama Open will be played Dec. 10-13 at King's Inn and Golf Club at Freeport. It will be co-sponsored by the Bahaman government and the PGA Tournament Players Division.

Clay To Don Boxing Garb In Exhibition

NEW YORK (UPI) —A familiar face will be in the ring July 9 at Charleston, S.C. for a charity exhibition fight.

Former heavyweight champion Cassius Clay will don his fighter's garb for the first time since June 15, 1967, when he fought an exhibition against Al "Blue" Lewis and Orville Qualls, to put on a charity exhibition against Jeff Merritt from Miami, Fla.

Clay, 28, who had his title taken away from him when he refused to report for induction in the U.S. Army, is expected to utilize the fight as a launching pad for a possible title fight against Joe Frazier in Detroit in September.

Promoter Reggie Barrett has announced that the fighters will wear heavily padded gloves and headgear and that, even though the fight is a charity affair, Clay will be paid his traveling expenses.

The exhibition, which will be staged in a 4,000-seat arena for $10, $6, and $4, will be televised by the American Broadcasting Company on a delayed basis for its "Wide World of Sports" program.

Terra Linda Wins DiMag League Tilt

Bob Barry's sixth inning double drove home two runs to give Terra Linda an 11-10 victory over host San Marin last night in the Marin County Joe DiMaggio Baseball League.

Terra Linda also had strong support from Jim Lazzarini who drove in three runs with three hits in four at-bats and Tom Sherbert who had two hits and two runs-batted-in.

Terry Ilehert and Larry Brown kept San Marin in the game, each with a double, single and two RBI.

Toby's Truckers rapped Healdsburg 8-2 on Steve Sherry's four hits in five at-bats and three RBI. Tom Olson had a triple and double and Scott Cozza and Kevin Keating each hit two singles for the winners.

And in another game last night, Italian Club nipped San Rafael, 2-1.

Drake Pirates defeated Mill Valley Chiefs 10-8.

Campaneris Bigger Slugger Than Reggie Jackson? Yep!

CHICAGO (UPI)—You would have called some guy a idiot if he had bet that halfway through the Oakland A's 1970 season, little Bert Campaneris would be leading Reggie Jackson in home runs and runs driven in.

But that was the case today as the A's sought a sweep of their three-game series in Chicago. Campaneris blasted his 11th homer of the season, a two-run shot in the final inning, to assure Rollie Fingers a 3-0 victory Wednesday night in the intense humidity of White Sox Park.

ONE AHEAD

The small but muscular shortstop now is one homer in front of Jackson and has 32 RBI to lead Reggie by four in that department. Last season Jackson belted 47 homers to Campy's two and had 118 RBI to 25 for Campaneris.

Fingers defied the 94-degree heat for 6⅓ innings by allowing just three hits and one base on balls. He fanned six batters and levelled his record at 5-5.

Oakland manager John McNamara feared the heat would take its toll, so Paul Lindblad came to the mound in the seventh. He pitched flawlessly for 1⅔ innings and Jim Grant set the White Sox down in the ninth to notch his 12th save.

IN SIXTH

Fingers, who seldom gets many runs to work with, needed only one Wednesday night. He got it in the sixth when Felipe Alou singled off loser Gerry Janeski, hustled to second on a groundout and came home on Sal Bando's base hit.

Campaneris ripped his homer three innings later after Frank Fernandez' pop fly was allowed to drop for a single.

Fingers' won-lost record is nothing to scream about. But his 3.13 earned run average proves he's been a reliable starter who just doesn't get the offensive support enjoyed by other Oakland hurlers.

0.92 ERA

Grant lowered his phenomenal earned run average to 0.92 to go with his 12 saves and three victories. He has allowed just one earned run in his last 40⅓ innings. Lindblad, meanwhile, has not been scored upon since June 16.

The A's have won four straight. But Minnesota also has been winning, so Oakland still trails the first place Twins by 5½ games in the AL West.

Recreation Softball

Cain's Tires edged Foust Chevron 2-1 and the Scrappers outslugged Saleme Construction 9-8 last night in San Rafael Softball League playoff games at Albert Field.

Courage In Action With The White Sox

(It was a hot night in Sherman, Texas. On the mound for the local team was a lanky, poker-faced pitcher who was to win 18 games that season and to win that night, 3-2, with a winning hit in the eighth inning. Which was remarkable. Because, nine years before, he had blown his right leg off eight inches above the knee in a hunting accident. "I shot the that day. In the stands that night at Sherman was the screenwriter, Douglas Morrow. And thus was the wrong rabbit," he told his wife as she came upon him Academy Award-winning picture, "The Monty Stratton Story," born.)

(THE ALLIED Army was toiling up the boot of Italy. The Germans were making the U.S. 88th Infantry pay heavily for every inch of real estate. On the night of December 7, 1944, a German shell wiped out all but one of a 12-man patrol. Corporal Lou Brissie was spared. If you can call having two shattered legs being spared. He lay for six hours half-in and half-out of a mountain creek. When they carried him to the evacuation hospital, the doctor briskly suggested amputation. Lou Brissie shook his head. "No," he said. "I'm a baseball player, a pitcher. Without my legs, I'm nothin'." Lou Brissie reported to the Philadelphia Athletics on crutches but he was to win 14 games for them in 1947 and 16 in 1948.)

(IT WAS August 11, 1969. The sun was searing the hot coastal plain of the firing range as the Marine reservists moved in for mortar practice. "Swab 'em out!" came the command. A young Marine dutifully reached in with a ramrod. There was an explosion. Swab, mortar round, ramrod — and Carlos May's right thumb — were all blown toward the Pacific Ocean. Carlos May had a stump of a right hand. What was left of his thumb was imbedded in his wrist and bones, blood, nerves and tendons leaked over his hand. Two days before, Carlos May had been batting .281 with 18 homers and 18 doubles for the Chicago White Sox and was well on his way to becoming rookie of the year. "Maybe you better forget baseball," the doctor said dubiously as he began a long series of skin grafts at the Long Beach Naval Hospital. "Get me a box of balls for when I get home," Carlos May instructed his wife.)

"COURAGE," someone once said, "is not divisible." It is an absolute word like "unique," or "perfect." You can't amputate it, graft it, bottle it, package it, buy it or sell it. Those who have it are stuck with it.

Carlos May sat in a locker room the other night and held out a right hand that looked like a badly-sewn mitten. Part of his stomach made a mound between his index finger and thumb knuckle.

IF YOU were born with that deformity, it would be a miracle to be able to grip a bat and throw a ball with it. To have had it only eight months and to be batting .291 against major league pitching — well, I guess, "incredible" is an absolute word, too.

"I went home and I got my wife to start rolling the ball on the ground," the 21-year-old outfielder recalle. "I wanted to get the feel of picking up a ball up. She rolled it to me by the hour. She's got a lot of guts. She's a great lady."

THAT NIGHT, in Anaheim Stadium, the Angels' fastest baserunner was on third with the bases loaded and one out in a scoreless tie when the batter hit a long fly to left. Sandy Alomar tagged up because it was a tough throw even for a guy with thumbs. Sandy Alomar was out at the plate on a throw on the fly from Carlos May and the inning — and the Angels — were finished. It was the second guy in a week Carlos May had thrown out at the plate.

It wasn't always that easy. When Carlos May reported to spring training, he ripped his thumb open with his first swing. Tough men with tobacco-chaws in their teeth turned away lest they get sick.

"I WAS not concerned. I knew it would heal," Carlos said.

"When I first went to the hospital, I felt sorry for myself. Then I looked around. I saw guys with no eyes, guys with no legs, guys with half a head, guys who couldn't talk, walk, hear, guys with no mind or half a mind. I began to think, 'What am I griping about?' "

SOME GUYS go through a 20-year big league career with two eyes, legs, 10 fingers, toes, all their teeth and ears and get 100 grand a year and complain through every inning of it. Carlos May is only 21 years old and has already learned the luckiest lesson any of us can learn; it doesn't have to be this good. He made a rookie-of-the-year in a much more major league than the American, in my book.

SOCCER SHOULD STAY

District May Have Cut Wrong Sport

By DAVID EINSTEIN

Feeling the financial squeeze that is resulting from the city's failure to pass a school tax hike in the last election, the Novato School District Trustees last week trimmed its 1970 - 71 budget, and in so doing got rid of four varsity sports at Novato and San Marin high schools.

Wrestling, cross country, water polo and soccer were given the ax, and the only hope for their return lies in a special election to be held July 28 in which the voters will again have a shot at the tax bill.

The sports in question are not, according to district Supt. James Bunker, classified as major sports, which he says are limited to football, basketball, baseball and track. Their vulnerability is further increased because they are the newest of the schools' sports. It would seem reasonable, then, that if some sports had to go, they would be the ones.

Yet since what matters here is money, the sports that are eliminated should be the ones that cost the most, do not pay for themselves and are played by the least number of students.

Basketball, which last year cost the district the most per player of any sport — $80.85 in coaches' salaries and transportation for 24 players on the San Marin and Novato varsities — pays for itself, through gate receipts, and in fact helps to pay for other sports.

Football, at $41.41 per player, likewise pulls its own weight, plus supplying most of the money for the student body funds.

Between basketball and football in cost is baseball, the sport that without a doubt is the biggest relative drain on the district budget. Consider, without taking into account the cost of equipment - bats, balls, uniforms and of course the field - it cost the district $60.35 per player last year to field varsity baseball teams at Novato and San Marin. Only 12 players were on each of those teams.

Fifty - six students went out for soccer at the schools, at a cost of $11.59 per player, the least of any sport. Only football and track had greater participation. But soccer is not a "major" sport, so it had to go.

If any sport can be played at no expense, soccer is it. All you need is a ball. The field can be, and in Marin county usually is, a modified football field with makeshift goals.

And if any players are worth putting into uniforms, soccer players are; their season parallels that of football, with which they fight a losing battle for publicity, fans and use of the field. They must play for the fun of it.

It will be noted that while the district chose to do away altogether with soccer and three other non-major sports, it decided to keep three junior varsity sports. The complete baseball program last year cost the district $1,725.35, again minus expensive equipment. The entire cost of soccer was $649.20. J.V. baseball was $144.80 more expensive than the non-major sport. And the varsity and J.V. baseball teams together had only eight more players than the varsity soccer teams.

The facts make clear that student participation, which is the only true measure of how major a sport is, was ignored by the board in its decision to drop soccer. But more unfortunate than that, the board made its decision without consulting the resident experts on the issue. That would be the students.

BASEBALL ROUNDUP

Cubs Break Slump, With Cards' Help

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Whatever is ailing the Chicago Cubs seems to be catching.

The Cubs have been playing baseball that has been almost beyond belief the last two weeks while losing 12 straight games. The Cubs have been making errors of commission and omission and haven't even been the reasonable facsimile of a major league club.

But when the Cubs snapped their losing streak Wednesday night, it was because the St. Louis Cardinals started throwing the ball around like little leaguers. Combined with a four-hitter by Ferguson Jenkins, the result was a 5-0 victory for the Cubs.

Jenkins and rookie Jerry Reuss were hooked up in a 0-0 duel in the seventh when the Cubs got runners to second and third with one out. Paul Popovich then grounded to second baseman Julian Javier and the fun started for the Cubs.

Javier threw to the plate in an attempt to choke off a run but his throw was wild. Catcher Joe Torre retrieved the ball and threw to Reuss, who was covering the plate. But his throw hit the runner for the second error on the play. Two runs scored on the two errors and Popovich wound up on third and the Cubs were on their way to a four-run inning that wrapped up the game.

The Cubs, who were 4 1-2 games ahead of the National League's East Division when their slump started, are now 3 1-2 back in a third place tie with the Cards. Pittsburgh is in second, a game behind the New York Mets and the division could feature the tightest race in the majors this year.

Jenkins is optimistic the Cubs can now make a comeback. "We were down before this game but this victory is going to help. We're going home to meet Pittsburgh. They beat us in their park last week but we're going to jump them," Jenkins said.

In other games, Pittsburgh edged New York 4-3, San Francisco drubbed San Diego 12-7, Montreal swept a doubleheader from Philadelphia 11-1 and 4-1, Cincinnati routed Atlanta 9-2, and Los Angeles beat Houston 6-3.

In the American League, Boston beat Washington 6-5, Baltimore blanked Cleveland 3-0, California nipped Milwaukee 4-3, Oakland blanked Chicago 3-0, Minnesota edged Kansas City 2-1 in 10 innings and Detroit beat New York 6-5 in 11 innings.

The Mets looked like they were going to take a three-game lead in the East and sweep a three-game series from the Pirates when Jim McAndrew had a 3-1 lead in the eighth. But pinch-hitter Gene Clines and Matty Alou hit two-out singles and Richie Hebner followed with his second homer of the year to win the game for the Pirates and tighten the race. Dock Ellis was tagged for 10 hits in seven innings but got the win.

The Reds proved they can hit in their new park the same way they used to hit in Crosley Field. After being held to two runs in the first game there Tuesday night, they bombarded the Braves as Tony Perez and Pete Rose drove in a total of seven runs and Tommy Helms added a two-run homer. Perez drove in four runs with two doubles while Rose drove in three runs with a triple and a sacrifice fly. Wayne Simpson pitched a six-hitter to boost his record to 12-1.

Bill Grabarkewiz hit a three-run homer in the fifth inning and scored the tie-breaking run, a three-run eighth on Willie Davis' single as the Dodgers beat the Astros. It was the 1,000th game played in Los Angeles since the club moved from Brooklyn. Claude Osteen got the win to boost his record to 11-7.

OAKLAND — Glenn McDonald of Jefferson High in Los Angeles led seven teammates in double figure scoring Wednesday night as the South completely outclassed the North 110-77 in the first All-State prep Basketball Classic.

McDonald wound up with 16 points as coach Howard Lyon of Millikan High in Long Beach turned loose an imaginative offense for a crushing 24-5 lead after the first quarter.

in the California Jr. Tennis

John Errecart of Lincoln High in Stockton dominated the North with 26 points, but his club committed 28 ball control errors.

Football

SAN JOSE — Cliftonn McNeil, leading receiver in the NFL two years ago but a flop last season, figures sprint star John Carlos will make it big in pro football.

Carlos, who holds the world record in the 100-yard dash at 9.1 seconds, signed Wednesday with the Philadelphia Eagles though his football experience goes only as far as the sandlot.

"John has tremendous potential and he has good hands," McNeil said. "I think he can make it."

McNeil, recently traded by San Francisco to the New York Giants, has been working out with "The World's Fastest Human" at San Jose State College, Carlos' alma mater.

Track And Field

Golf

LONDON, Ont. — Mike Hill, brother of U.S. Open runner-up Dave Hill, fired a course record six-under-par 66 to win the pro-am preliminary to today's start of the $125,000 Canadian Open golf tourney.

MUSKOGEE, Okla. — Shirley Englehorn, who won four straight tournaments earlier this year, was made the favorite for today's start of the U.S. Women's Open golf tournament.

Auto Racing

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. — Carl Yarborough set a Daytona International Speedway record of 191.640 miles per hour to earn the pole position for Saturday's Firecracker 400 stock car race.

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

New Owners Provide New Name, So, Now It's Mini Golf Of Marin

Now open about 10 days under new ownership and a new name is the miniature golf course at 55 Vivian Way, San Rafael, across from the Country Club Bowl.

Formerly known as the Arnold Palmer Miniature Golf Course, it's been changed to Mini Golf of Marin. New owners David McRee and Scott Palmer have cleaned out the weeds and are remodeling and repainting. They have also changed some of the greens and plan to keep changing the hazards to make the playing more interesting.

This is a side line for both owners. McRee is an interior decorator. Palmer is a dancing instructor. Both live in San Geromino Valley. Hours will be from noon to 10 p.m. through the week and from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. (or longer) Saturdays and Sundays. A special program is planned for this Fourth of July weekend.

EARNEST H. STONE of San Rafael has been promoted to assistant vice president in the San Francisco staff training department of United California Bank.

TWO SAN RAFAEL MEN, Ralph Lee) Hoy and Allen Firman, and Glenn O. Retke of San Anselmo have been registered as Certified Electronic Technicians by the National Electronic Associations, Inc., having completed all of the organizations requirements and passed written examinations.

DAVID B. HUDSON of San Rafael has been promoted to second vice president of Western Mortgage Corp. He was previously assistant vice president in the commercial loan department.

Roberts

E. DOUGLAS ROBERTS, who gave up his job as executive manager of the Marin Builders Exchange for the presidency of Construction Administration and Insurance, has pronounced the latter to be officially in business, though it was organized around the first of last year.

The company essentially provides members of builder's exchanges with service in the casualty, life, disability and workmen's compensation fields and is licensed as an agency by a number of group insurance carriers. Initial concentration is among the eight exchanges in the Bay Area. Future plans are to expand these operations to service the rest of the exchanges throughout the state.

Also being considered is computerized billing, group license and welfare bonds, group travel arrangements, management and consultant contracts for small exchanges and special projects.

A. Clyde Jones, president of Rafael Floor Covering and a director of Marin Builders Exchange is a director of Construction Administration. The office is at 110 Belvedere Street, San Rafael and is staffed by Lois McFarling, Doris Christensen and Sue Kutlik. Herbert O'Neil is in the field.

IT BECOMES increasingly clear why George Dexter gave up his Pontiac-GMC and American Motors dealerships without so much as a murmer of objection — he's been making hay on his foreign cars.

Last month his Annex Motors sold a total of 105 Volvos and Datsuns, and his Dexter Toyota agency sold 83 Toyotas. Salesmen were treated to a steak and beans dinner at Ranch Nicasio — with the big winners getting the steaks. At the top was William Robinson, who sold 33 Toyotas. As for Dexter himself, he and his wife will take a trip to Sweden in September, with the tab paid by Volvo Motors.

Work has begun on preparing Dexter's property on Francisco Boulevard, San Rafael, for construction of the new Dexter Toyota showrooms, which will be moved from Larkspur in three or four months.

K. L. RICE JR. of Tiburon, vice president of Hoefer, Dieterich and Brown, has been named President of the Year by the American Advertising Federation. He has been president of the San Francisco Advertising Club, which recently presented him with a life membership.

MARK II RESTYLED

Toyota's Mark II, introduced in this country just one year ago, will sport a newly designed front grille and restyled rear deck during its second year. All three models, two-door hardtop, four-door sedan and four-door station wagon, will feature four-speed synchromesh transmission with three-speed automatic optional. Cars will be shown in Marin through Dexter Toyota, Larkspur, and Novato Toyota, Novato.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Zurn Industries Good For Long-Term Gain

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I bought Zurn Industries at 35. Should I buy more now or add to my shares of the Mutual Fund for Investing in Government Securities? — T.B.

A. Pollution stocks, in general, continue to sport high price/earnings multiples and as a result are speculative and highly vulnerable. Now down about 20 points from its 1970 high of 38, Zurn is characteristic of this. Despite a 30 per cent sales gain for the fiscal year ended March 31, 1970, per share net declined from 73 cents to 51 cents. A continuing cost-price squeeze, unfavorable weather conditions which delayed shipments and unusually large, nonrecurring relocation and start-up costs dragged down results. (Zurn has made a number of acquisitions to broaden its line of equipment and controls in the air, water and solid pollution areas.)

As of March, backlog was up 55 per cent year-to-year; however, 1970-71's results may be little improved in view of the economic situation. Retain shares for long-term gains. Although I would avoid additional purchases of Zurn at this juncture, I see no reason not to add to the Mutual Fund for Investing in Government Securities.

Q. I have shares of Life Insurance Investors, Inc., bought at 17. What has happened to it beside the market downturn? Should I hold or sell? — S.B.

A. Life Insurance Investors Fund's portfolio dropped only 7 per cent in net asset value in 1969 — less than half of the loss reported for the average of all funds. Until the severe market decline in mid-May, your fund was again performing above-average with only an 8.7 per cent loss. While such losses are discouraging, your shares should be held. The insurance industry is one of the fastest-growing segments of the economy. And expansions into other areas such as mutual funds and group policies further enhance prospects. Under more favorable economic conditions and an improved market climate, shares should recover.

Stocks Close Mixed On Dull Market

NEW YORK (UPI)—Preholiday dullness characterized trading on Wall Street Thursday as major market averages finished mixed.

Shortly before the bell, the UPI Marketwide Indicator was off 0.33 per cent on 1,529 issues crossing the tape. Of these, 642 declined and 567 gained.

Turnover of around 8 1-4-million shares compared with 8,610,000 shares Wednesday.

Analysts noted that in the absence of dramatic news and with a three-day holiday coming up, most traders were not too anxious to make additional commitments.

News expected to be of interest to traders was to be announced after the close. The labor department will release unemployment figures for June.

Helping to provide early support of the market was a statement by Federal Reserve Board Chairman Arthur F. Burns in Tokyo. He said he expected the growth of the U. S. economy to resume in the near future.

Earlier in the week Harold Passer, assistant commerce secretary, predicted the nation's total output of goods and services would show an increase in the second quarter of the year after back-to-back quarterly declines.

Prices were mixed in quiet trading on the American Stock Exchange.

CHAMBER GUARDS NAME

Tabloid Must Fly Some Other Flag

Shakespeare asked "What's in a name?" and the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce yesterday decided quite a bit.

The chamber's board of directors voted against lending its name to an advertising tabloid proposed for distribution to about 30,000 San Rafael area homes.

The tabloid was proposed by Richard Mittelman of San Rafael, president of Customer Attraction Co., who suggested it be called the "San Rafael Chamber of Commerce Merchandiser."

The chamber board stressed that denying the use of its name was not implying a denial of its support. It then passed a motion forbidding use of the name San Rafael Chamber of Commerce with any business any time.

Steve Leonesio, manager of Macy's in San Rafael and chairman of the chamber's downtown merchants association, said that endorsing this business could start a trend which might lead to a San Rafael Chamber of Commerce Boutique or a San Rafael Chamber of Commerce Hamburger Stand.

Endorsement was also criticized on the grounds that it would be unfair to other advertising media in the city.

Eric Colby, editor and publisher of the Terra Linda News, said he wasn't sure if the tabloid would be in competition with his paper, but felt giving it the chamber's name would be an "unwise precedent."

Jack Weese, advertising director of the Independent-Journal, said the I-J already had plenty of competition, beginning with telephone books and including San Francisco newspapers, Marin County weeklies and direct mail advertising.

As the thrust of the discussion appeared to be moving toward rejection of the use of the chamber's name, Mittelman said he was amazed.

He said the idea had received support from the chamber's merchants committee and from a merchants meeting last week, and now it was being rejected by the board.

Leonesio again said that it was the use of the name, not the idea of the tabloid, that was being rejected.

The board yesterday also voted to support the Marin Shakespeare Festival.

Two More Cocaine Sale Indictments

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Two Marin County residents were indicted by a federal grand jury yesterday on charges of conspiracy to sell cocaine and were ordered to appear in U.S. District Court next Thursday.

Robert Bernar Ford, 21, and Mark Robert Shanahan, 21, both of 1106 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Kentfield, were arrested May 22 at San Francisco Airport in connection with sales of cocaine worth more than $250,000 on the drug market.

Five other Marinites arrested the same day were indicted June 24 on the same charges.

Arrested at the airport were Sharon Ann Needleman, 21, of 18 Crest Road, San Anselmo; Maureen Booth, 23, of 54 Bulkley Drive, Sausalito, and Marcia Marie Freet, 27, of 107 Marion Street, Sausalito.

Mitchell Junior Howard, 22, of 9235 Drake Avenue, Marin City, and Steve Howard, 24, of Gate 2, Sausalito, were arrested in Sausalito for a separate transaction.

Bench Warrant Issued In Burglary Case

A bench warrant with bail set at $1,000 was issued yesterday for Arthur George Metzger III, 19, when he failed to appear in Marin Superior Court for a hearing on motions to suppress evidence and to dismiss charges in his case.

The youth, who has admitted to being a heroin addict, is charged along with Stephen John Pappas, 19, of San Rafael, of burglary and possessing stolen property.

They were arrested with a third 19-year-old, Reade Collins Backer, of Ross, on April 1 when a deputy sheriff noticed their car being driven erratically.

Backer has testified at a preliminary hearing that Pappas and Metzger stole various articles from a Tiburon residence. He pleaded guilty to possessing stolen roperty and is serving a four-month jail sentence.

Judge E. Warren McGuire yesterday denied both motions in the case.

Cold Cuts Crime

HELSINKI (UPI) — Cold weather is the cop's best friend, according to Helsinki police officials. They say crimes, particularly holdups, burglaries and car thefts, are cut as much as one-half in extreme cold.

Pay Low In Japan

TOKYO (UPI)—The average Japanese wage earner received 64,333 yen ($179) per month in 1969, the Labor Ministry reports. The average pay figure includes both base salary and special allowances which Japanese firms traditionally pay their workers.

$400 Million In Property Loss In First Last Year

BOSTON (UPI)—Property destroyed in the United States by major fires in 1969 amounted to nearly $400 million, an increase of 25 per cent over 1968, the National Fire Protection Association said today.

Property loss in fires causing damage of more than $250,000 was up $85 million in 1969 in a total of 491 major blazes.

The report, prepared by the international fire safety organization based here, said in almost all cases major fires "began small but grew to destructive size because of failure to use adequate protection measures."

According to previously released estimates, there were about 2.42 million fires in the country in 1969 with losses totaling $2.4 billion. Of that number, the 491 major fires caused $399,691,000 in damage to industrial facilities, transportation equipment, forests and other property.

In Canada, 69 major fires in 1969 caused $44 million in damage, a 24 per cent increase over 1968.

The worst fire in the United States in 1969 in terms of dollar loss was the $45 million disaster May 11 at the Rocky Flats plant of the Atomic Energy Commission in Golden, Colo.

The year's second largest property damage fire occured Aug. 5 in Boston. It destroyed all but one small section of an 11-acre grocery storage warehouse, causing $15 million damage.

Four other building fires exceeded the $5 million mark during 1969, the association said, including losses of about $10 million at five industrial buildings in Webster, Mass., Jan. 1.

Other major losses were $5.5 million to a five-story shopping center in Omaha, Neb., Oct. 17; $5 million in an explosion and fire at the Union Carbide Corp. complex at Texas City, Texas, Oct. 23; and $5 million to a 15-building complex at Warwick, R.I., Sept. 6.

The most serious transportation fire of last year occurred Oct. 16 at Stockton, Calif., resulting in the destruction of an $11 million DC8 at Metropolitan airport.

The principal factors allowing small building fires to develop into major fire losses, the association said, were construction weaknesses, absence of protective sprinkler and alarm systems and fire hazards inherent in the contents of the buildings.

Structural weaknesses, such as the lack of division walls, allow a fire to sweep throughout a building instead of being confined near the spot were it broke out, the report said.

A dictionary prepared by the National Bureau of Standards lists 7,500 colors by name. The book specifies hundreds of variations of blue, green, pink, yellow and red.

Finns Frolic Freely

HELSINKI (UPI) — Police called to quiet a party on a ship in Helsinki's harbor found a naked man hanging over the ship's side trying to drag a large net aboard. In the net were a struggling man and woman, both nudes. The three were charged with being drunk and disorderly.
